Building.

the City.

NEGOTIATIONS NOW PENDING

For the Purchase of 50 Acres of Land in the East End for a Site for a Cotton Factory—Massachusetts
Firm May Locate Here.

E. J. Brooks, representing a large cotton industry at Fall River, Mass., was in the city yesterday on a very important business mission, which may eventually result in another industry for East Liverpool. Although
Mr. Brooks did not close any deal while in the city, it is understood he will make a return visit in the near future.

While here Mr. Brooks entered into negotiations with a number of East End parties for the purchase of 50 acres of land. It is the intention of the company he represents to establish a branch factory in this state, and after having visited Columbus, Cincinnati and several other Ohio cities, Mr.
Brooks came here. It was learned from one of the gentlemen whom he met here that he was more favorably impressed with East Liverpool than any city he had visited.

For reasons that are not made known the real consequence of Mr.
Brooks' visit to this city is being kept secret. It is known, however, that he did not close any deal for the land he is negotiating for, but it is positively asserted that there are good reasons to believe the purchase will be made.
From an officer of the board of trade it was learned that Mr. Brooks asked no bonus from the city for a site for the contemplated factory. His company expects to not only pay for the land, but to bear the expense of erecting the necessary buildings.

Secretary Travis, of the board of trade, was asked whether or not there was a proposition from Mr. Brooks to be submitted at the meeting of the board tonight, but he declined to say.
He did state, however, that there would be two Pittsburg capitalists at the meeting who had a proposition to bring before the board which was of greater importance than anything Mr.
Brooks had to offer. When asked to state the nature of the proposition, Mr. Travis said he had not been authorized to do so.

The meeting of the board, which will be held at the city hall, is set for 8 o'clock, and it depends solely on the attendance whether or not any further effort will be made by the board officials to promote the city's interests in the way of inducing the institution of new industries. It is a matter of great importance, and all enterprising citizens should be present.

MISSING FROM HOME

ROCHESTER MAN HAS BEEN AB-SENT FOR SEVEN WEEKS.

Chief Thompson Asked to Assist in Locating Him—Doings at Police Headquarters.

Once again the city jail is vacant.
Lou Hutton, who was fined $25 and costs for keeping a disorderly house, succeeded in raising the amount and was released last evening. Cora Hutton, who was fined $2 and costs for loitering in a disorderly house, also paid up and was given her liberty.
William Wagner, arrested for drunkenness, also paid his fine of $1 and costs.

Frank Ward, Frank Johnston, Ollie Jackson, Joseph Deacon, Earl Pinkerton and Columbus Brannon, the boys who were arrested yesterday by Officer John Spence for playing ball in the streets in the East End, appearing before Mayor Davidson last evening. They were given a thorough lecturing and fined 95 cents each. They promised to quit using the streets for play grounds.

A communication was received by Chief Thompson this morning from
A. N. Denny, a grocery man of New Brighton, asking the chief to assist him in locating Frank Fisher, who is thought to have come to this city.

seven weeks ago, stating that he was going to East Liverpool to look for work.

Since his departure from home nothing has been heard of him. His wife and several children were left behind with no means of support, and Denny claims that Fisher owes him $80.
Chief Thompson is looking for the man. He was employed at the Rochester tumbler works until it burned.

John S. Ritz, chief of police of Wheeling, has offered a reward of $50
to the person who informs him of the present whereabouts of Mrs. Mary Grogan, who is missing from her home at Wheeling. Chief Thompson is in receipt of a card giving a description of the woman. She is 48 years of age.
She left home on April 23 and no trace of her has since been found.

ROBBED OF EARNINGS

CHAUNCEY HARPER, A MINER, RE-LIEVED OF $93.40.

A Companion Is Suspected And a Warrant Is Issued for His Arrest.

While on his way from Darlington to Cannelton in company with Robert and David Pierce, Tuesday evening, Chauncey Harper was robbed of $93.40.

Harper is a coal digger and is employed in a mine near Cannelton where he has worked for a long time.
He is an industrious fellow and saved his money. Tuesday he took a holiday and made the trip to Darlington with the Pierces, taking his money with him in the hope that he might be able to purchase a house.

In Darlington he had occasion to use some of the money, which he carried in his hip pocket, and it was all right at that time. When he reached home the cash was missing.

From the actions of Bob Pierce during the return trip Harper was inclined to the belief that he had taken the money, but concluded to wait until he had more conclusive proof. Pierce remained at home Tuesday night and yesterday morning set out on foot for this city. Harper at once informed his uncle, William McCoy, of Pierce's absence and they secured a rig and followed, arriving here at 10 o'clock this morning.
The men had an interview with Mayor Davidson, who informed them he could do nothing since the offense was committed in Pennsylvania.

Soon after leaving city hall the two men saw Pierce and a man named Craven on the street, and without losing any time arranged with several parties to keep them in sight while they went to Smith's Ferry and secured a warrant.

They boarded an East Liverpool car
at the city hall, intending to walk the remainder of the distance.

Young Harper told a News Review
reporter that the money represented the earnings of several months, and he could ill afford to lose it.

His money consisted of four $20
bills, two $5 notes and three $1 bills and the remainder in small change.
McCoy and Harper are expected to return from Pennsylvania this evening, and it is likely that Pierce will be taken, as he is aware that he is suspected.

SERIOUS SMASH OF FREIGHT CARS

Sudden Application of Brakes Threw Two From the Track and Wrecked Others.

ACCIDENT NEAR CROSSING

In the East End Resulted in Damage
to a Dozen Cars—Morning Passenger Trains Delayed Two Hours, Causing Much Inconvenience.

A serious wreck occurred near Ral-ston's crossing at about 5 o'clock this morning.

Freight train No. 89, west bound,
was slowing up for the stop at East Liverpool. The engineer applied the air brake with the result that the two box cars next to the eight cars affected by the air brakes were thrown clear of the track and dumped into the hollow below, and about 10 other cars were stove in, one steel car telescoping a coal car a distance of about six feet.

The box cars will be entirely useless, having been smashed almost into kindling wood and the other cars damaged will require considerable repairing before they can be used again.

The two box cars thrown off the track were empty and were evidently very old cars. All the other cars damaged were coal flats, except one new steel car. The train carried about 90 cars and when the wreck occurred was moving very slowly.

No one was hurt in the accident, and it is not thought that any fault can be found with the action of the engineer, as wrecks frequently occur as a result of the application of air brakes when the train is unusually large, as was the case here, and especially when going down grade.

The 8 o'clock passenger train, west bound, was delayed about two hours at the East End, causing a great deal of inconvenience to the passengers, especially the traveling salesmen who were scheduled to cover a certain amount of territory every week. Some inconvenience was also caused also on account of delaying the mails. The east bound passenger train was also delayed until about 10 o'clock this morning, by which time the last vestige of the wreck had been removed and traffic resumed in full.

A large crowd gathered at the scene of the wreck and watched the crew remove the damaged cars.

A $900 DAMAGE VERDICT

Awarded to Frank Ross, Who Sued a Coal Company for $10,000—Lisbon
Merchant Assigns—Other Matters
Before the County Courts.

Lisbon, June 6.—(Special.)—Drunkenness and neglect were the charges made by two wives against their husbands in court today. Both want divorces. Mrs. Maggie Deakin, of East Liverpool, filed a petition against James Deakin, of that city. They were married in Ancher in May, 1894, and have one daughter. Mrs. Deakin says her husband's drunkenness and general misconduct have become unendurable and that she has been compelled to leave him and to rely upon the charity of friends and her own exertions to gain a living for herself and child. She says Deakin owns lot
paid $200 of her own earnings toward paying for it. She wants reasonable alimony. She also asks the custody of her child and the restoration of her maiden name. Attorney G. Y. Travis filed the action.

Mrs. Catherine Seker, of Salineville, filed a petition against Henry C. Se-ker, of Pittsburg. They were married in Pittsburg in February, 1895,
and the wife says she has been neglected almost ever since. She has been compelled to rely upon friends for her support and she asks to be divorced and have her maiden name restored.

Joseph Hughes, of Salem, claims that his wife, Kittie, has been leading an immoral life and he wants the court to rid him of her. Hughes is a clerk of the American Steel and Wire company, and states that he found her hugging and kissing another man. Kittie denies the charge.

Frank Ross, of Wellsville, got a verdict against the Ohio & Pennsylvania Coal company for $900 for personal injuries received at the company's mines at Salineville. He sued for $10,- 000.

The will of the late John Fronk, of Unity township, was admitted to probate today. Mrs. Melissa Fronk is named as executor.

Clement L. Vallandigham, of Lisbon, and Miss Mattie A. Longbottom, of Washington, have been granted a license and will be married here today by Rev. George Fowler, of the Christian church. Licenses have also been issued to Elmer Stanyard, of Westville, and Laura Weaver, of Salem; Geo. L. Welsh and Martha Det-chon, of East Fairfield; George Thomas McNish and Ida Myrtle Fox, of East Liverpool.

Stephen Keith, who runs a general store in Lisbon, has filed a deed of assignment in probate court, naming Judge J. G. Moore and W. H. Hepburn as assignees. The property assigned consists of the entire stock in his store, two lots in Canton and 15 acres of land in Stark county. No estimate has yet been made of assets and liabilities. It is thought the latter will reach $2,000.

The following assignment of cases has been made by Clerk McNutt for

PARTNERS DISPUTE

ALBERT W. CORNS WANTS $3,000
FROM W. T. BURTON.

Claims He Was Deceived And Damaged in a Business Venture.

Lisbon, June 6.—(Special.)—The
case of Albert W. Corns vs. Wm. T.
Burton, of East Liverpool, is being tried today. The action is most complicated. It involves the adjustment of business difficulties existing between the two since January, 1895.
At that time Corns claims Burton induced him to give up a $1,000 position and buy out his one-half interest in the firm of Burton & Williams, manufacturers of door knobs.

Corns agreed to pay $800 and to assume, as part consideration, Burton's share of the indebtedness, which he said was $528.66. By the agreement he was to receive Burton's interest in $145, in the bank. Corns says he relied on Burton's statements, but found later that the defendant had falsely and fraudulently deceived him, as the firm was $1,432.61 in debt and Burton owned only a one third interest in the firm. Burton, he claims, also represented that the knobs manufactured by the firm commanded a higher price than they really did and that the firm had an established trade. He also claims that Burton drew from the bank $72 of the deposit. Corns wants $3,000 damages.

MONAGHAN'S FUNERAL

The Veteran's Remains Laid to Rest With Military And Masonic Honors.

The remains of the late Major William Monaghan arrived at Wellsville this morning from Cleveland. They were accompanied by Mrs. Monaghan; William, a son, and three daughters, all of Cleveland. Captain T. H. Dowling, an old comrade, together with J.
B. Parsons, W. T. Robbins, H. E. Morrison and A. B. Foster, the latter being the Ohio grand commander of the Knights Templar, also accompanied the body.

At the depot the funeral party was met by Pilgrim commandery, Knights Templar, of East Liverpool, about 30
in number, who led the cortege to the cemetery, the following members of the order acting as pall-bearers: W.
H. Deitrick, H. J. Windram, Frank Alabaugh, J. H. Simms, John Stam and John Vodrey. Ritualistic services were held at the grave, after which the remains were laid to rest.

General J. W. Riley, of Wellsville, who was commander of the regiment in the Civil war in which Major Monaghan served, was present at the grave to do homage to his departed comrade.

THOROUGHLY ENJOYED

Odd Fellow's Picnic at Rock Springs Was a Success in Every Detail.

The Odd Fellows' picnic at Rock Springs yesterday was largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed by every one present. A large delegation from Smith's Ferry turned out, and many others from a distance were also in attendance. The day was spent in a manner that was productive of genuine recreation and enjoyment,
and the picnickers left the grounds hoping that they would soon again have an opportunity of meeting under the same conditions.

OLD CEMETERY SITE REVIVED

Council Will Be Asked to Donate
the Ground to the Association.

WORK TO COMMENCE AT ONCE

If the Site Is Secured—One Citizen
Will Give $1,000 if the Institution
Is Built There—Association to Meet Tonight.

In all probability the work of erecting a new hospital for East Liverpool will be commenced within the next few weeks. However, the original plans have been materially changed, and it is likely that institution will be erected on the old cemetery site instead of the location purchased for the purpose on Calcutta road.

For several months, in fact ever since the present council took their seats, the old agitation in favor of the cemetery site has been gradually growing in proportions until it has now reached a point where there seems little doubt that the project will go through in that way.

It has been learned that the Calcutta road site can be sold at a good profit—no less than $6,000—and with this money and the $2,000 which has been pledged and will fall due this fall, the association would have something vastly more influential than enthusiasm with which to work. In addition to this $8,000 a prominent business man has assured those in charge that he will give $1,000 to the cause provided the hospital is located at the old cemetery. So strongly does he favor this site that he refuses to contribute to the fund
if the building is located on Calcutta road. There are doubtless many others who would swell the fund if it was decided to make the change.

Some opposition developed among the members of the association to disposing of the property recently purchased, the argument being used that if it was worth $6,000 to the parties who propose to buy it, it was worth that amount to association.

It was also stated that Mr. Croxall, from whom the land was purchased,
and who donated liberally, would not approve of the sale. The gentleman was interviewed and stated it would not make a particle of difference to him, as he was sufficiently interested in the cause to approve of any plans that were deemed best by the association.

The matter is now in the hands of the board of directors, who will push the project with all possible haste. A committee consisting of Messrs. H. A. Keffer and A. S. Young will confer with council at its next meeting with reference to securing the old cemetery, and it is thought their efforts will be successful.

A meeting of the hospital association will be held tonight.

Sudden Application of Brakes
and Wrecked Others.

In the East End Resulted in Damage
to a Dozen Cars—Morning Passenger Trains Delayed Two Hours, Causing Much Inconvenience.

A serious wreck occurred near Ral-ston's crossing at about 5 o'clock this morning.

Freight train No. 89, west bound,
was slowing up for the stop at East Liverpool. The engineer applied the
air brake with the result that the two box cars next to the eight cars
affected by the air brakes were
into the hollow below, and about 10
other cars were stove in, one steel
car telescoping a coal car a distance
of about six feet.

The box cars will be entirely useless, having been smashed almost in-
to kindling wood and the other cars
damaged will require considerable repairing before they can be used again.

The two box cars thrown off the track were empty and were evidently
very old cars. All the other cars damaged were coal flats, except one new steel car. The train carried about 90 cars and when the wreck occurred
was moving very slowly.

No one was hurt in the accident, and
it is not thought that any fault can
be found with the action of the engineer, as wrecks frequently occur as
brakes when the train is unusually
large, as was the case here, and especially when going down grade.

The 8 o'clock passenger train, west
bound, was delayed about two hours
at the East End, causing a great deal
of inconvenience to the passengers,
especially the traveling salesmen who
amount of territory every week. Some inconvenience was also caused also
on account of delaying the mails. The east bound passenger train was also delayed until about 10 o'clock this morning, by which time the last vestige of the wreck had been removed and traffic resumed in full.

scene of the wreck and watched the
crew remove the damaged cars.

Awarded to Frank Ross, Who Sued a Coal Company for $10,000—Lisbon
Merchant Assigns—Other Matters
Before the County Courts.

Lisbon, June 6.—(Special.)—Drunkenness and neglect were the charges
made by two wives against their husbands in court today. Both want di-
Liverpool, filed a petition against James Deakin, of that city. They were married in Ancher in May, 1894,
and have one daughter. Mrs. Deakin says her husband's drunkenness and
general misconduct have become un-
endurable and that she has been com-
the charity of friends and her own
exertions to gain a living for herself
and child. She says Deakin owns lot
paid $200 of her own earnings toward
paying for it. She wants reasonable alimony. She also asks the custody
of her child and the restoration of her
maiden name. Attorney G. Y. Travis
filed the action.

Mrs. Catherine Seker, of Salineville,
filed a petition against Henry C. Se-ker, of Pittsburg. They were married in Pittsburg in February, 1895,
and the wife says she has been neglected almost ever since. She has
for her support and she asks to be divorced and have her maiden name
restored.

Joseph Hughes, of Salem, claims
that his wife, Kittie, has been leading
an immoral life and he wants the court
to rid him of her. Hughes is a clerk
of the American Steel and Wire company, and states that he found her hugging and kissing another man. Kittie
denies the charge.

Frank Ross, of Wellsville, got a verdict against the Ohio & Pennsylvania Coal company for $900 for personal
injuries received at the company's mines at Salineville. He sued for $10,- 000.

The will of the late John Fronk, of Unity township, was admitted to probate today. Mrs. Melissa Fronk is named as executrix.

Clement L. Vallandigham, of Lisbon,
and Miss Mattie A. Longbottom, of Washington, have been granted a license and will be married here today by Rev. George Fowler, of the Christian church. Licenses have also been issued to Elmer Stanyard, of Westville, and Laura Weaver, of Salem; Geo. L. Welsh and Martha Det-
chon, of East Fairfield; George Thomas McNish and Ida Myrtle Fox, of East Liverpool.

Stephen Keith, who runs a general store in Lisbon, has filed a deed of
assignment in probate court, naming
Judge J. G. Moore and W. H. Hepburn as assignees. The property assigned consists of the entire stock in
his store, two lots in Canton and 15 acres of land in Stark county. No estimate has yet been made of assets
and liabilities. It is thought the latter will reach $2,000.

PARTNERS DISPUTE

ALBERT W. CORNS WANTS $3,000
FROM W. T. BURTON.

Claims He Was Deceived And Damaged in a Business Venture.

Lisbon, June 6.—(Special.)—The
case of Albert W. Corns vs. Wm. T.
Burton, of East Liverpool, is being tried today. The action is most complicated. It involves the adjustment
of business difficulties existing between the two since January, 1895.
At that time Corns claims Burton
induced him to give up a $1,000 position and buy out his one-half interest in the firm of Burton & Williams, manufacturers of door knobs.

Corns agreed to pay $800 and to assume, as part consideration, Burton's share of the indebtedness, which he said was $528.66. By the agreement
he was to receive Burton's interest in $145, in the bank. Corns says he relied on Burton's statements, but
found later that the defendant had
falsely and fraudulently deceived him,
as the firm was $1,432.61 in debt and Burton owned only a one third interest in the firm. Burton, he claims, also represented that the knobs manufactured by the firm commanded a higher price than they really did and that the firm had an established trade. He also claims that Burton drew from the bank $72 of the deposit. Corns
wants $3,000 damages.

MONACHAN'S FUNERAL

The Veteran's Remains Laid to Rest With Military And Masonic Honors.

The remains of the late Major William Monaghan arrived at Wellsville this morning from Cleveland. They were accompanied by Mrs. Monaghan; William, a son, and three daughters,
all of Cleveland, Captain T. H. Dowling, an old comrade, together with J.
B. Parsons, W. T. Robbins, H. E. Morrison and A. B. Foster, the latter being the Ohio grand commander of the Knights Templar, also accompanied
the body.

At the depot the funeral party was
met by Pilgrim commandery, Knights Templar, of East Liverpool, about 30
in number, who led the cortege to the
cemetery, the following members of
the order acting as pall-bearers: W.
H. Deitrick, H. J. Windram, Frank
Alabaugh, J. H. Simms, John Stam and John Vodey. Ritualistic services were held at the grave, after which the remains were laid to rest.

General J. W. Riley, of Wellsville,
who was commander of the regiment
in the Civil war in which Major Monaghan served, was present at the grave
to do homage to his departed comrade.

THOROUGHLY ENJOYED

Odd Fellow's Picnic at Rock Springs Was a Success in Every Detail.

The Odd Fellows' picnic at Rock Springs yesterday was largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed by every one present. A large delegation from Smith's Ferry turned out, and
many others from a distance were
in a manner that was productive of
genuine recreation and enjoyment,
and the picnickers left the grounds
hoping that they would soon again
have an opportunity of meeting under
the same conditions.

OLD CEMETERY SITE REVIVED

Council Will Be Asked to Donate
the Ground to the Association.

WORK TO COMMENCE AT ONCE

If the Site Is Secured—One Citizen
Will Give $1,000 if the Institution
Is Built There—Association to Meet Tonight.

In all probability the work of erecting a new hospital for East Liverpool
will be commenced within the next few weeks. However, the original plans have been materially changed,
and it is likely that institution will be erected on the old cemetery site instead of the location purchased for
the purpose on Calcutta road.

For several months, in fact ever
seats, the old agitation in favor of the cemetery site has been gradually
growing in proportions until it has now reached a point where there
seems little doubt that the project
will go through in that way.

It has been learned that the Calcutta road site can be sold at a good
fall, the association would have something vastly more influential than enthusiasm with which to work. In addition to this $8,000 a prominent
business man has assured those in
the cause provided the hospital is located at the old cemetery. So strongly does he favor this site that
he refuses to contribute to the fund
if the building is located on Calcutta
road. There are doubtless many others who would swell the fund if it was decided to make the change.

the members of the association to
disposing of the property recently
parties who propose to buy it, it was worth that amount to association.

It was also stated that Mr. Croxall,
from whom the land was purchased,
and who donated liberally, would not approve of the sale. The gentleman
in the cause to approve of any plans that were deemed best by the association.

The matter is now in the hands of the board of directors, who will
haste. A committee consisting of
will confer with council at its next meeting with reference to securing
the old cemetery, and it is thought
their efforts will be successful.

A meeting of the hospital association
will be held tonight.

TWO CONSTABLES

WITH WAGONS AND ATTACHMENTS AFTER GOODS.

They Did Not Belong to the Delaneys And Two Parties Claimed Them.

Excitement was caused near Columbian park last evening when a furniture dealer, a pawn broker and two constables appeared at the house formerly occupied by James Delaney and family at about the same time. The situation when explained became rather ludicrous. The furniture dealer had learned that Mrs. Delaney had left for the east and had come after his goods.

Before going Mrs. Delaney had turned the furniture over to the pawn broker as security for $25 which she had borrowed from him and he had just come after the goods. Other creditors had learned that the Delaneys had departed, and as a result each constable carried attachment papers and thus claimed the goods. It is stated by the nearby residents that the whole affair resulted in a game of grab, each one taking what he could get his hands on first. The pawn broker and furniture dealer each had wagons and consequently got most of the goods. It was not learned what Constable Powell procured, but it is stated that Constable Miller got hold of a folding chair which he doubled up, and, putting it under his arm, leisurely strolled away, leaving the other claimants to fight the matter out among themselves.

It is thought that Mrs. Delaney has found her husband in New Jersey by this time and that the happy family circle, so recently broken up, will be reunited in the east.

FELL FROM A LADDER

And Cut Her Wrist Breaking Glass. An Artery Severed.

Mrs. Jacob Slaughter fell from a step ladder through a window and sustained a severe injury yesterday afternoon. Her right wrist came in contact with the broken glass, inflicting a wound about three inches long and bone deep. One of the arteries of the wrist was severed and before a doctor arrived Mrs. Slaughter was somewhat weak from the loss of blood.

Dr. W. E. Mowen, who dressed the wound, found it necessary to take five stitches in order to draw the ragged cut together. Mrs. Slaughter is getting along nicely today.

SEVERELY SHOCKED

Smith Got an Overdose of Electricity From an Incandescent Lamp.

George Smith, the gatekeeper at Columbian park, was severely shocked by electricity yesterday afternoon. Something was wrong with one of the lights, and when he tried to turn it on he only twisted the button about half way when he received the shock and the incandescent light burned out, almost setting fire to the shop.

Considerable excitement was caused by the occurrence, but nothing serious resulted.

Entertained Classmates.

Miss Viola Smith entertained her Sunday school classmates in a delightful manner at her home on Pennsylvania avenue yesterday afternoon. The afternoon was passed at various games which were greatly enjoyed by the children, and to add to the pleasures of the occasion a sumptuous repast was served.

UP TO DATE PALESTINE

How Yankee Ingenuity Is Modernizing the Holy Land.

BIG CALL FOR AMERICAN GOODS.

Railways, Trolley Cars, Telephones, Phonographs and Electric Lights Found in the Valley of the Jordan. Plan to Lessen Hardships of the Pilgrimages to Mecca.

Yankee ingenuity and commercial vigor are doing wonderful things in the Holy Land, according to a special dispatch from Washington to the New York Post. Until a few years ago it was said that if one of the prophets had returned to the scenes of his earthly activities he would have had little difficulty in recognizing them except for the change in the character of the population. The hills and valleys of old Judaea had otherwise taken little note of the flight of the centuries. But our consuls write to the department of state that times are changing even in Palestine and Syria. The railway from Joppa to Jerusalem, at first an experiment, has been put upon a paying basis, and other lines which will connect it with points of interest up and down the valley of the Jordan have been projected or are actually in course of building. In Jerusalem there are now electric lights, telephones, phonographs, sanitary plumbing, modern stores, houses built with "all modern improvements" and, in short, most of the comforts of civilized life. Trolley lines are talked of to connect Jerusalem with Bethany, Bethlehem, the lake of Galilee, Samaria, Jericho, Nazareth and other places made familiar through Bible history. With the introduction of these insignia of modern activity the Palestine of the past will vanish.

It is related that an American traveling salesman recently went to Jerusalem and Beirut and in one day sold merchandise of an up to date type to the amount of $3,800. Commission houses for the handling of American goods have been opened in nearly every city and town of importance in Palestine and Syria, and in many instances they are conducted by wide awake American business men. In a single month this year one of the houses imported American leather to the value of $700. Another has established a market for American flour and predicts that in a few years the people of the Holy Land will be good consumers of this staple. Cheap American watches are in demand and have been sold to scores of the natives, who regard them with increasing favor.

More than 200 phonographs were recently sent there, one-half going to Damascus and the rest to Jerusalem and nearby places. The best customers for talking machines, it is said, are the Moslems of Beirut, Jerusalem and Damascus, who buy them for their harems. One commission house at Beirut has bought, according to G. Bie Rayndal, the American consul, a $350 windmill from an Illinois firm and will erect it on the Bakaa plain. This firm is confident that there is to be an important market for windmills in Palestine and Syria and for irrigation machinery of all sorts. Rich foreigners are figuring to secure control of some of the once fertile valleys of the country, and should they succeed there will be an attempt to make them again a "land flowing with milk and honey."

Speaking once more of windmills, a 17 horsepower machine has been installed in the interior west of the Jordan, for flour grinding purposes, and another large one, bought in Chicago, is just going up at Yafa. Even American beer has found its way into the country. One firm has sold to date 519 cases of 48 bottles each, and another has recently received 150 cases direct from Milwaukee. The municipality of Beirut has added a $3,300 steam street roller to its public equipment, and this is the only steam roller now in Turkey in Asia, although the way is opening for others.

It would be a long story to tell of all the articles of American make which are now selling in the land of promise, but the latest, according to consular advices, are cotton fabrics, rope, shoes, clocks, paper, carriage leather, bicycles, coal, wire nails, paints, hardware, electrical novelties of all sorts, iron bars, steel beams, well drilling machinery, garden tools, a fine line of agricultural machinery, canned meat, cornmeal, oatmeal, mechanics' tools, etc. Wire nails to the value of almost $5,000 were sold in Syria last year, all coming from the United States.

Thus is ancient Syria giving place to modern Syria, and the work is going forward with a will. Important commercial concessions have been secured from the sultan, who appears to be favorably disposed to the modernizing of this part of his dominions and is watching the experiment with interest. The Turkish authorities have themselves been buyers of American wares. Within the last year they have arranged for the sinking of a large number of wells along the historic pilgrimage route to Mecca and are providing them with windmills. In this way it is believed that the hardships of the annual pilgrimage can be lessened and the pilgrims kept in reasonably good health. The sickness of former years, it is asserted, has been almost entirely due to the impure water along the route.

Long Tour to Test an Auto.

Albert R. Shattuck, president, and J. Dunbar Wright, second vice president, of the Automobile Club of America, recently sailed for Paris. They are to make a tour of 4,000 miles in a French automobile to test the endurance of the foreign machine for the purpose of contesting at the Pan-American exposition.

WELLSVILLE

CONTRACTOR LAID A BRICK

Three men named Murray, Connor and Rooney caused the strike which is holding work on the storm water sewer at a standstill. There seems to be little cause for the strike. The men claim they had an agreement with Irwin Bros. to the effect that the contractors should not work; and when Felix Irwin started to lay brick yesterday they exclaimed in chorus: "If you lay that brick we will go out."

The contractor knew nothing about the agreement, so they say, and so Irwin laid the brick and the men quit. Another complaint was that Irwin Bros. hired too many apprentices. Irwin stated today that he only hired the apprentices until he could get competent men. According to his statement some of the men are drunk all the time while working on the sewer. Efforts are making to settle the trouble today. Fifteen men are reported coming from Steubenville today.

Refused to Leave Jail.

Felix Rooney, a bricklayer, who was arrested yesterday for drunkenness, refused to come out of jail this morning. He said he was not ready to come out yet.

"Nosed Him Out."

In "The Argonauts of California" Mr. C. W. Haskins tells a good story of sauerkraut. In one of the mining districts near Sacramento a storekeeper received a barrel of provisions which seemed to be spoiled, to judge by the smell. Instead of throwing it away, he thrust it into one corner of a shed, where waste and rubbish were piled upon it.

One day a burly, dust covered Dutchman entered the store.

"I wants me some dot," pointing toward the shed.

"What is dot?" inquired the storekeeper.

"I shows you," said the miner. "You shust come mit me." And to the shed they went, where, pointing to the rubbish heap, the Dutchman explained, "Some of dot in dere vas vat I wants." Boxes and barrels were removed, and the condemned barrel was exposed. But when the miner eagerly pointed to it the trader told him it was spoiled meat, not fit to eat.

"I knows better as dot," said the Dutchman. "You bust him in und I shows you."

An ax was brought and the barrel "busted in," when, instead of spoiled meat, there was revealed some good, old fashioned sauerkraut, made in Holland and shipped around Cape Horn.

"I knows it," said the delighted miner. "I nose him out!"

The sauerkraut sold readily at a dollar a pound and was in great demand. The Dutch miners heard of it and walked 10 and 15 miles to get a taste of the dainty.

A Country Lass.

Health in her beaming eyes, health in her glowing cheek, health in her merry laugh. Yet country air and country hours can't save her from the common experience of women—an experience which dulls the eye, pales the cheek, and turns the laugh to a sigh. Womanly ills come to almost all. But for these ills there is help and healing in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the periods, stops unhealthy drains, cures inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"Miss Ella Sapp, of Jamestown, Guilford Co., N. C. writes: 'I had suffered three years or more at monthly periods. It seemed as though I would die with pain in my back and stomach. I could not stand without fainting; had given up all hope of ever being cured, when one of my friends insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. With but little faith I tried it, and before I had taken half a bottle I felt better—had better appetite and slept better. Now I am happy to say I am entirely cured, and all done in two months' time, when all other medicines had failed to do any good at all.'"

Biliousness is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

HUMBERT'S ASSASSIN.

Gaetano Bresci's Last Words Told of Tortures.

The first and last words of Gaetano Bresci, the assassin of King Humbert, who committed suicide the other day, to reach the outside world were spoken as he was confined on the Italian cruiser Menaggers at Spezia but a few weeks ago, says the New York Evening Journal. A naval officer had a chance to speak to and question the man, who was loaded with chains, the most miserable and abject human being his eyes had ever looked upon.

Bresci told of his torture, how his jailers had done all in their power to drive him to insanity and death.

"You don't want me to complain, do you?" he said.

"No. I decline to give my torturers in the old prison occasion to boast of their job. They did everything they could to drive me insane.

"I understand a private would obtain a corporalship, a corporal a lieutenant, by proving that it was their confounded cruelty that unbinged my mind. Knowing these intentions, I did my utmost to foil them.

"I didn't go crazy, because I refused to lose hope. Hope kept me up—hope of the coming revolution that will sweep over the kingdom like a tornado in the west of America. That revolution will set me free. I am sure that I will be the first prisoner released.

"Torture me all you will now. Let the galley slave boss do his worst. Neither you nor he can escape the movement I represent. I will escape your clutches and maybe will have opportunity for revenge."

Hazardous Expedition of a Boundary Commission Party.

Representatives of the United States and Mexican boundary commissions have just embarked on a voyage down the Rio Grande in three boats to make observations and a more complete survey of the river. P. D. Cunningham, chief engineer of the United States commission, is at the head of the expedition.

The party proposes to follow the course of the river from El Paso to the gulf of Mexico, a distance of nearly 1,300 miles, says the New York Post. It will require three months to make the trip, and for a distance of 600 miles all communication with the outside world will be cut off. The voyage is considered an extremely hazardous one, as in many places the river contains dangerous rapids and but little is known of its windings where it traverses the Grand canyon.

WITH WAGONS AND ATTACHMENTS AFTER GOODS.

They Did Not Belong to the Delaneys And Two Parties Claimed Them.

Excitement was caused near Columbian park last evening when a furniture dealer, a pawn broker and two constables appeared at the house formerly occupied by James Delaney and family at about the same time. The situation when explained became rather ludicrous. The furniture dealer had learned that Mrs. Delaney had left for the east and had come after his goods.

Before going Mrs. Delaney had turned the furniture over to the pawn broker as security for $25 which she had borrowed from him and he had just come after the goods. Other creditors had learned that the Delaneys had departed, and as a result each constable carried attachment papers and thus claimed the goods. It is stated by the nearby residents that the whole affair resulted in a game of grab, each one taking what he could get his hands on first. The pawn broker and furniture dealer each had wagons and consequently got most of the goods. It was not learned what Constable Powell procured, but it is stated that Constable Miller got hold of a folding chair which he doubled up, and, putting it under his arm, leisurely strolled away, leaving the other claimants to fight the matter out among themselves.

It is thought that Mrs. Delaney has found her husband in New Jersey by this time and that the happy family circle, so recently broken up, will be reunited in the east.

FELL FROM A LADDER

And Cut Her Wrist Breaking Glass. An Artery Severed.

Mrs. Jacob Slaughter fell from a step ladder through a window and sustained a severe injury yesterday afternoon. Her right wrist came in contact with the broken glass, inflicting a wound about three inches long and bone deep. One of the arteries of the wrist was severed and before a doctor arrived Mrs. Slaughter was somewhat weak from the loss of blood.

Dr. W. E. Mowen, who dressed the wound, found it necessary to take five stitches in order to draw the ragged cut together. Mrs. Slaughter is getting along nicely today.

SEVERELY SHOCKED

Smith Got an Overdose of Electricity From an Incandescent Lamp.

George Smith, the gatekeeper at Columbian park, was severely shocked by electricity yesterday afternoon. Something was wrong with one of the lights, and when he tried to turn it on he only twisted the button about half way when he received the shock and the incandescent light burned out, almost setting fire to the shop.

Considerable excitement was caused by the occurrence, but nothing serious resulted.

How Yankee Ingenuity Is Modernizing the Holy Land.

BIG CALL FOR AMERICAN GOODS.

Yankee ingenuity and commercial vigor are doing wonderful things in the Holy Land, according to a special dispatch from Washington to the New York Post. Until a few years ago it was said that if one of the prophets had returned to the scenes of his earthly activities he would have had little difficulty in recognizing them except for the change in the character of the population. The hills and valleys of old Judaea had otherwise taken little note of the flight of the centuries. But our consuls write to the department of state that times are changing even in Palestine and Syria. The railway from Joppa to Jerusalem, at first an experiment, has been put upon a paying basis, and other lines which will connect it with points of interest up and down the valley of the Jordan have been projected or are actually in course of building. In Jerusalem there are now electric lights, telephones, phonographs, sanitary plumbing, modern stores, houses built with "all modern improvements" and, in short, most of the comforts of civilized life. Trolley lines are talked of to connect Jerusalem with Bethany, Bethlehem, the lake of Galilee, Samaria, Jericho, Nazareth and other places made familiar through Bible history. With the introduction of these insignia of modern activity the Palestine of the past will vanish.

It is related that an American traveling salesman recently went to Jerusalem and Beirut and in one day sold merchandise of an up to date type to the amount of $3,800. Commission houses for the handling of American goods have been opened in nearly every city and town of importance in Palestine and Syria, and in many instances they are conducted by wide awake American business men. In a single month this year one of the houses imported American leather to the value of $700. Another has established a market for American flour and predicts that in a few years the people of the Holy Land will be good consumers of this staple. Cheap American watches are in demand and have been sold to scores of the natives, who regard them with increasing favor.

More than 200 phonographs were recently sent there, one-half going to Damascus and the rest to Jerusalem and nearby places. The best customers for talking machines, it is said, are the Moslems of Beirut, Jerusalem and Damascus, who buy them for their harems. One commission house at Beirut has bought, according to G. Bie Ravndal, the American consul, a $350 windmill from an Illinois firm and will erect it on the Bakaa plain. This firm is confident that there is to be an important market for windmills in Palestine and Syria and for irrigation machinery of all sorts. Rich foreigners are figuring to secure control of some of the once fertile valleys of the country, and should they succeed there will be an attempt to make them again a "land flowing with milk and honey."

Speaking once more of windmills, a 17 horsepower machine has been installed in the interior west of the Jordan, for flour grinding purposes, and another large one, bought in Chicago, is just going up at Yafa. Even American beer has found its way into the country. One firm has sold to date 519 cases of 48 bottles each, and another has recently received 150 cases direct from Milwaukee. The municipality of Beirut has added a $3,300 steam street roller to its public equipment, and this is the only steam roller now in Turkey in Asia, although the way is opening for others.

It would be a long story to tell of all the articles of American make which are now selling in the land of promise, but the latest, according to consular advices, are cotton fabrics, rope, shoes, clocks, paper, carriage leather, bicycles, coal, wire nails, paints, hardware, electrical novelties of all sorts, iron bars, steel beams, well drilling machinery, garden tools, a fine line of agricultural machinery, canned meat, cornmeal, oatmeal, mechanics' tools, etc. Wire nails to the value of almost $5,000 were sold in Syria last year, all coming from the United States.

Thus is ancient Syria giving place to modern Syria, and the work is going forward with a will. Important commercial concessions have been secured from the sultan, who appears to be favorably disposed to the modernizing of this part of his dominions and is watching the experiment with interest. The Turkish authorities have themselves been buyers of American wares. Within the last year they have arranged for the sinking of a large number of wells along the historic pilgrimage route to Mecca and are providing them with windmills. In this way it is believed that the hardships of the annual pilgrimage can be lessened and the pilgrims kept in reasonably good health. The sickness of former years, it is asserted, has been almost entirely due to the impure water along the route.

Three men named Murray, Connor and Rooney caused the strike which is holding work on the storm water sewer at a standstill. There seems to be little cause for the strike. The men claim they had an agreement with Irwin Bros. to the effect that the contractors should not work; and when Felix Irwin started to lay brick yesterday they exclaimed in chorus: "If you lay that brick we will go out."

The contractor knew nothing about the agreement, so they say, and so Irwin laid the brick and the men quit. Another complaint was that Irwin Bros. hired too many apprentices. Irwin stated today that he only hired the apprentices until he could get competent men. According to his statement some of the men are drunk all the time while working on the sewer. Efforts are making to settle the trouble today. Fifteen men are reported coming from Steubenville today.

Felix Rooney, a bricklayer, who was arrested yesterday for drunkenness, refused to come out of jail this morning. He said he was not ready to come out yet.

"Nosed Him Out."

In "The Argonauts of California" Mr. C. W. Haskins tells a good story of sauerkraut. In one of the mining districts near Sacramento a storekeeper received a barrel of provisions which seemed to be spoiled, to judge by the smell. Instead of throwing it away, he thrust it into one corner of a shed, where waste and rubbish were piled upon it.

One day a burly, dust covered Dutchman entered the store.

"I want some dot," pointing toward the shed.

"What is dot?" inquired the storekeeper.

"I shows you," said the miner. "You shust come mit me." And to the shed they went, where, pointing to the rubbish heap, the Dutchman explained, "Some of dot in dere was vat I wants."

Boxes and barrels were removed, and the condemned barrel was exposed. But when the miner eagerly pointed to it the trader told him it was spoiled meat, not fit to eat.

An ax was brought and the barrel "busted in," when, instead of spoiled meat, there was revealed some good, old fashioned sauerkraut, made in Holland and shipped around Cape Horn.

The sauerkraut sold readily at a dollar a pound and was in great demand. The Dutch miners heard of it and walked 10 and 15 miles to get a taste of the dainty.

A Country Lass.

Health in her beaming eyes, health in her glowing cheek, health in her merry laugh. Yet country air and country hours can't save her from the common experience of women—an experience which dulls the eye, pales the cheek, and turns the laugh to a sigh. Womanly ills come to almost all. But for these ills there is help and healing in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the periods, stops unhealthy drains, cures inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"Miss Ella Sapp, of Jamestown, Guilford Co., N. C., writes: 'I had suffered three years of more at monthly periods. It seemed as though I would die with pain in my back and stomach. I could not stand without fainting; had given up all hope of ever being cured, when one of my friends insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. With but little faith I tried it, and before I had taken half a bottle I felt better—had better appetite and slept better. Now I am happy to say I am entirely cured, and all done in two months' time, when all other medicines had failed to do any good at all.'"

Biliousness is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

HUMBERT'S ASSASSIN.

Gaetano Bresci's Last Words Told of Tortures.

The first and last words of Gaetano Bresci, the assassin of King Humbert, who committed suicide the other day, to reach the outside world were spoken as he was confined on the Italian cruiser Menagiero at Spezia but a few weeks ago, says the New York Evening Journal. A naval officer had a chance to speak to and question the man, who was loaded with chains, the most miserable and abject human being his eyes had ever looked upon.

Bresci told of his torture, how his jailers had done all in their power to drive him to insanity and death.

"You don't want me to complain, do you?" he said.

"No. I decline to give my torturers in the old prison occasion to boast of their job. They did everything they could to drive me insane.

"I understand a private would obtain a corporalship, a corporal a lieutenant, by proving that it was their confounded cruelty that unhinged my mind. Knowing these intentions, I did my utmost to foil them.

BANQUET TO NEW YORKERS.

Delegates of Chamber of Commerce Entertained by London Chamber.
Lansdowne Touchingly Referred to Illness of Mrs. McKinley.

London, June 6.—The banquet tendered by the London chamber of commerce to the delegates of the New York chamber at Grosvenor hall last night was one of the most successful of the kind ever given in a city famed for lavish hospitality. No effort was spared to honor the American guests, but it must be confessed that the latter did not sustain the reputation America has for brilliant after-dinner speaking. Nor did the British speakers do much to relieve the tedium of four hours' speaking.

All the speeches, however, teemed with extreme friendliness and faith in the establishment of permanent friendly relations. All the speakers expressed the belief that Great Britain and the United States would rule the destinies of the world and that their unwritten alliance would always work for peace and the benefit of mankind.

Lady Spectators Present.
Around the hall is a gallery, which, as the evening advanced, was filled with ladies, who attended to hear the speeches.

Lord Brassey made a speech, in which he welcomed the delegates.

Lord Lansdowne, the foreign secretary, toasted President McKinley, and said in part:

"I imagine," he said, "that this honorable duty has been assigned to me because I am connected with the department of foreign affairs, and because it may be that a toast coming from my lips may seem to denote something more than a mere private expression of admiration and good will. I think I may say that to all the subjects of his majesty it requires an effort to think of our relations with the United States as foreign relations. (Prolonged cheers.)"

"All those who, like myself, are servants of the public feel that they hold an unwritten commission that no pains shall be spared to maintain the most friendly relations."

"With regard to President McKinley, we think of the great office he has, and, in addition to his public career, we remember the burden of private anxiety he has to bear, and it is the prayer of our whole country that his wife may be restored to health and that he may continue to be to the whole world a potent influence for the good of the human race."

Mr. Jessup, president of the New York chamber of commerce, replied to the address of welcome.

Not Talking Tariff, Said Hepburn.

Mr. Hepburn aroused interest by an intimation that the United States were entering upon the stage of tariff relaxation. "Over two years ago," observed Mr. Hepburn, "President McKinley, in a speech in Boston, said: 'We are not talking about tariff now,' and in his recent trip across the continent he made no allusion to the tariff, but greatly emphasized the necessity of cultivating outside markets, and the chairman of the Republican campaign committee has announced that the tariff will be taken off all so-called trust commodities, and our ability to produce has so largely outgrown our capacity to consume that the 'open door' is rapidly becoming the shibboleth of America."

The right Hon. William James Pirrie, who followed, admitted the supremacy of the United States in many directions, but asserted Great Britain's supremacy in the matter of shipbuilding.

Lord Alverstone paid an eloquent tribute to the United States.

Mr. Carnegie, who had the best reception of the evening, then rose. He dwelt upon the importance of the growing friendly relations between the two countries, and continued as follows:

"The horoscope of the future shows that common dangers are likely to draw us closer together, and, if ever the banners here entwined together have to be unfurled side by side in self-defense against any foe or combination of foes who may attack and disturb the peace, I pity that enemy. Peace and Good Will Among Men."

"The chambers of commerce of the world carry for their motto, 'Peace and good will among men.' If cabinets should ever fail to preserve best as a tribunal of last resort the New York, and not until we fail to creditable to both disputants."

Mr. Griscom, whose arrival in time for the banquet created much interest, dwelt upon the expansion of operation of our government. "We said, 'we trust that on the great ocean trade routes the flag of the United States will soon fly side by side with the flags of Great Britain and continental powers.'"

NOT BURIED AT SEA.

The Humane French Boatman and the Dead Englishman.

A long expected French lugger was seen making for the roadstead, and the Lowestoft free traders were on the alert, anxiously seeking an opportunity for communicating with her crew.

While they waited for a lapse of vigilance on the part of the excisemen, a boat was lowered from the lugger and rowed toward the shore. A curious crowd of beach men and excisemen assembled to meet her, and as she came in on the crest of a roller it was observed that she contained a coffin.

The French boatmen had a mournful tale to tell. On board the lugger had been an Englishman suffering from an illness which soon proved fatal. In his last moments of consciousness he had begged the captain not to bury him at sea, but to keep his body until a resting place could be found for it under the green turf of a churchyard in his native land. Sympathy with his sad fate and the knowledge that the lugger was not far from the English coast had induced the captain to consent, and now he had sent the body ashore for burial. In spite of his broken English, the Frenchmen's spokesman told his tale well.

Both excisemen and beach men—especially the latter—loudly expressed their admiration of the captain's conduct. A parson was summoned, and in a little while a mournful procession made its way from the beach to the churchyard. Even the chief officer of the excisemen was present and is said to have shed tears.

That night the local "resurrectionists" were busy, and at dawn the churchyard contained a desecrated grave. A little way inland, however, in the midst of the marshes, a smugglers' store received the addition of a coffin filled with silks and lace—"Highways and Byways in East Anglia," W. A. Dutt.

ANTIQUE FIENDS.

Women Who Spend Their Time and Money Unearthing Old Relics.

The antique craze is like a malignant fever—when it seizes a woman, she rarely gets over it. There are three stages—the first when she simply admires the collections of her friends, the second when she begins to haunt auctions and "read up," the third when she spares neither time nor money to obtain some broken down treasure and when if fair means fail she will not hesitate even at foul ones. This sounds dreadful, I know, but I have in mind a perfectly respectable woman of my acquaintance who was so fascinated by a brass knocker on the door of an unoccupied farmhouse that she crept there in the dead of night and—well, there is no other word for it—stole it.

Women in the second stage fall easy victims to the so-called antique dealers. The profits of these people must be enormous, for certainly the expenses of the trade are not great. It does not cost much to bury modern colonial furniture until the worms and the mold have done their artistic work; neither are ovens or acids particularly expensive when you can sell a plate which cost you a quarter for $7 or $8. Nowadays I hear the path of the antique dealer is made even more easy. There are factories which turn out real fourteenth century Nuremberg chests (with the wormholes in them) and real colonial spinning wheels (with histories attached to them, if desired). But, of course, the woman relic hunter knows nothing of these things.

She goes on paying her good money for rusty and rickety furniture, broken plates and hangings falling to pieces. She bids against herself at auctions and makes up by cheating unsuspecting country people. When she visits at some old house, she goes about slyly nicking the paint off the furniture in search of possible inlaying or rummaging in the attic for forgotten treasures. She is a pest and a bore, and people are afraid to let her into their houses, but what would you? It's her way of enjoying life, and just now it's a way very much in style.

CHILDISH GOSSIP.

The Dreaded Scandal Monger Begins Her Career in the Nursery.

The child is the father of the man, so the proverb runs, but altered to "the girl is the mother of the woman" it would be even more true. The other day I came home from an afternoon tea thoroughly disgusted. The entire conversation had been gossip and fault finding—servants, neighbors, husbands, it was all the same thing. I could not bring away one single improving thought, one wise or witty saying.

Just as I was about to enter the nursery I heard my small daughter's voice raised in an eager whisper, "It's a secret, Margie, and you must promise you won't tell." I could hear Margery gasp with excitement. "Hope I'll die if I do!" she muttered in the same stage whisper. "Well, then," cried the small informer "what d'you think? Judy cheated this morning! I saw her!"

At this moment I entered the room. The whole episode reminded me unpleasantly of Mrs. Binks' confidences at the house I had just left. These confidences involved the reputation of a neighbor. "But of course this is strictly confidential, my dear," she whispered, and of course she had told the same thing to 20 others, and before nightfall every one in town would know.

I took one of the small sinners on each knee and spoke long and earnestly on the subject of talking about people behind their backs. "It is like stabbing them in the back!" I explained, and I think they both understood.

Oh, these secrets, these confidences, these "don't tells!" What misery they make in the world—from the small tot whose dearest chum "goes back on her" to the grown woman whose trust is betrayed and whose life is ruined by one careless word! Isn't it better never to say anything about our friends than we wouldn't repeat to their faces? Isn't it better not to have that sort of secret at all?

Miss Kimball's paintings are said to rival those of Whistler, the most famous of American painters in France. Her pen and ink sketches are also remarkably good. A FITTING TRIBUTE

A Citizen of East Liverpool Pays a Well Earned Tribute.

The following public statement of a respectable citizen adds one more emphatic endorsement of merit to the scores that have appeared before:

Mr. H. Thompson, of 306 Fourth street, presser at the D. E. McNeil pottery, and resident of East Liverpool for the past 45 years, says: "During my campaign experiences between the years of '61 and '64 I contracted a weakness of the kidneys, and at intervals I had an aching pain across the small of my back and was subject to attacks of muscular rheumatism, especially in damp weather. I was frequently so bad that I could scarcely get up when down, and, in fact, could hardly get around at all. I tried many remedies endeavoring to get rid of the trouble, but found nothing until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy. They filled the bill exactly, giving me almost immediate relief and warded off the last attack."

Why They Were Selected.

It has been recorded that General Henry Knox, in 1783, was the "greatest" of 11 distinguished officers of the army, weighing 280 pounds. Noah Brooks, in his book entitled "Henry Knox," gives the following incident relating to the general's full habit:

With a Captain Sargent, he was selected to present the hard case of the starving and naked men at Valley Forge to the attention of a committee of congress. One of the congressmen, wishing to show his wit and sarcasm, said that he had never seen a fatter man than General Knox nor a better dressed man than his associate.

Knox managed to keep his temper and remained silent, but his subordinate retorted, "The corps, out of respect to congress and themselves, have sent as their representatives the only man who had an ounce of superfluous flesh on his body and the only other man who possessed a complete suit of clothes."

USEFUL CLUBS FOR WOMEN

HE members of the clubs I have in mind never quarrel, so far as they have been heard from, and they are almost the only clubwomen of whom this can be said. The reason is they are working for the helping of their fellow citizens and the beautifying and improving of the localities in which they live and not to get themselves elected presidents.

The clubs I mean are the rural improvement societies among women. The old style rustic village and railway station were blisters on the face of the earth. The horror of them comes over me now as I sit and write this. I see still the piles of ashes, the foul remnants of the tobacco habit, the desolate, weed grown grounds, the vacant lots covered with things unspeakable. It was a credit to the young women and men of such a town that they got away from it as soon as they could. In that old style town children ran riot, and brutal drivers beat horses at will.

These are the things the women's village improvement societies are changing. Let us take one, as an example, in an eastern state. Here are some of the things that club has done:

It has brought about that vacant lots are no longer to be used as dumping grounds for rubbish and disease breeding debris. It has made the railway station in particular as clean and pretty as a private house with a flower and shade tree lawn about it. It has attended to the beautifying of public parks and walks, to the cleaning and paving of the streets and the drainage and general sanitation of the whole place. Wherever in the vicinity there was natural scenery of an attractive character those women had it preserved and cared for. They divided themselves into committees, each one taking a particular work to itself and attending to that. The farms about the village have caught the impetus and are cutting away the weeds from their fence lines and removing the pigsties from their front door vistas. The earth is becoming a thing of beauty for miles around where these blessed women live. They have created a public sentiment for better things.

There is a women's improvement club in the far south, at Lake Charles, near New Orleans. Here 18 ladies took on themselves the task of redeeming the rural aspects. They planted splendid live oak trees along driveways; they placed flowering shrubs along park walks. Attached to their village, as there is to most country places, was an abandoned cemetery, with its rank weeds, sunken graves and broken tombstones, a dank, nightmare spot, suggestive of suicide and ghost riding. The women had a hard task with that—one which tried all their powers—but they reconstructed the frightful old place, and they see that it is kept in order.

They turned their attention to the schoolhouses. They cleared up the grounds about them, planted trees and made the grass grow and taught the young ones to take pride in having a beautiful lawn around the building outside and artistic wall and other decorations inside. Besides that they obtained by subscriptions some valuable books for the public school libraries.

It is well usually to have men as members of these village improvement societies, to assist with their experience and money. But the business work of the organizations must in nearly every case be done by women, because men cannot spare the time for it.

Whether farm life and village life shall be made attractive depends on the country women. If they do what is in their power, they can so improve and beautify the landscape as to raise the price of real estate in their neighborhoods. What is more, they can prevent to some extent the deplorable exodus of young people from the country to the cities.

BANQUET TO NEW YORKERS.

Delegates of Chamber of Commerce Entertained by London Chamber. Lansdowne Touchingly Referred to Illness of Mrs. McKinley.

London, June 6.—The banquet tendered by the London chamber of commerce to the delegates of the New York chamber at Grocers' hall last night was one of the hardest of the kind ever given in a city famed for lavish hospitality. No effort was spared to honor the American guests, but it must be confessed that the latter did not sustain the reputation America has for brilliant after-dinner speaking. Nor did the British speakers do much to relieve the tedium of four hours' speaking. All the speeches, however, teemed with extreme friendliness and faith in the establishment of permanent friendly relations. All the speakers expressed the belief that Great Britain and the United States would rule the destinies of the world and that their unwritten alliance would always work for peace and the benefit of mankind.

Lady Spectators Present.

Around the hall is a gallery, which, as the evening advanced, was filled with ladies, who attended to hear the speeches.

Lord Lansdowne, the foreign secretary, toasted President McKinley, and said in part:

"I imagine," he said, "that this honorable duty has been assigned to me because I am connected with the department of foreign affairs, and because it may be that a toast coming from my lips may seem to denote something more than a mere private expression of admiration and good will. I think I may say that to all the subjects of his majesty it requires an effort to think of our relations with the United States as foreign relations. (Prolonged cheers.)

"All those who, like myself, are servants of the public feel that they hold an unwritten commission that no pains shall be spared to maintain the most friendly relations.

"With regard to President McKinley, we think of the great office he fills, and, in addition to his public cares, we remember the burden of private anxiety he has to bear, and it is the prayer of our whole country that his wife may be restored to health and that he may continue to be to the whole world a potent influence for the good of the human race."

Mr. Jessup, president of the New York chamber of commerce, replied to the address of welcome.

Mr. Jessup was followed by Lord Avebury, A. Foster Higgins and A. Barton Hepburn.

Not Talking Tariff, Said Hepburn.

Mr. Hepburn aroused interest by an intimation that the United States were entering upon the stage of tariff relaxation. "Over two years ago," observed Mr. Hepburn, "President McKinley, in a speech in Boston, said: 'We are not talking about tariff now,' and in his recent trip across the continent he made no allusion to the tariff, but greatly emphasized the necessity of cultivating outside markets, and the chairman of the Republican campaign committee has announced that the tariff will be taken off all so-called trust commodities, and our grown up capacity to consume the 'open door' is rapidly becoming the shibboleth of America."

The right Hon. William James Pirrie, who followed, admitted the suzerainty of the United States in many directions, but asserted Great Britain's suzerainty in the matter of ship-building.

Lord Alverstone paid an eloquent tribute to the United States.

Mr. Carnegie, who had the best recollection of the evening, then rose. He dwelt upon the importance of the growing friendly relations between the two countries, and continued as follows:

"The horoscope of the future shows that common dangers are likely to draw us closer together, and, if ever we have to be unfurled side by side in a battle against any foe or against the peace, I pity that enemy."

Peace and Good Will Among Men.

"The chambers of commerce of the world carry for their motto, 'Peace and good will among men.' If cabinets should ever fail to preserve peace as a tribunal of last resort, I suggest that a tribunal of last resort should be a tribunal of commerce in New York, and not until we fail to merit credit to both disputants."

Mr. Grismom, whose arrival in time for the banquet created much interest, dwelt upon the expansion of American shipping. "With the co-operation of our government," he said, "we trust that on the great ocean trade routes the flag of the United States will soon fly side by side with the flags of Great Britain and continental powers."

Monroe S. Apple, of Newark, has sued for divorce, alleging that his wife frequently beats him and refuses to share with him the profits from a grocery in which they are jointly interested.

Derr Snyder, the 13-year-old son of James Snyder, a prosperous farmer near Newton Falls, was drowned. The boy was swimming when he became seized with cramps and sank out of sight. The body was recovered.

Detective J. Alton Allison, of Zanesville, while securing evidence to prosecute the disorderly houses, permitted by Mayor Holden, was arrested on a charge of frequenting those places.

The family of Albert Fogg, of Garfield, are sorely afflicted with diphtheria in a virulent form. Three members are down with the malady and are in a very precarious condition.

NOT BURIED AT SEA.

The Humane French Boatman and the Dead Englishman.

A long expected French lugger was seen making for the roadstead, and the Lowestoft free traders were on the alert, anxiously seeking an opportunity for communicating with her crew. While they waited for a lapse of vigilance on the part of the excisemen, a boat was lowered from the lugger and rowed toward the shore. A curious crowd of beach men and excisemen assembled to meet her, and as she came in on the crest of a roller it was observed that she contained a coffin.

The French boatman had a mournful tale to tell. On board the lugger had been an Englishman suffering from an illness which soon proved fatal. In his last moments of consciousness he had begged the captain not to bury him at sea, but to keep his body until a resting place could be found for it under the green turf of a churchyard in his native land. Sympathy with his sad fate and the knowledge that the lugger was not far from the English coast had induced the captain to consent, and now he had sent the body ashore for burial. In spite of his broken English, the Frenchmen's spokesman told his tale well.

Both excisemen and beach men—especially the latter—loudly expressed their admiration of the captain's conduct. A parson was summoned, and in a little while a mournful procession made its way from the beach to the churchyard. Even the chief officer of the excisemen was present and is said to have shed tears.

That night the local "resurrectionists" were busy, and at dawn the churchyard contained a desecrated grave. A little way inland, however, in the midst of the marshes, a smuggler's store received the addition of a coffin filled with silks and lace!—"Highways and Byways in East Anglia," W. A. Dutt.

ANTIQUE FIENDS.

Women Who Spend Their Time and Money Unearthing Old Relics.

The antique craze is like a malignant fever—when it seizes a woman, she rarely gets over it. There are three stages—the first when she simply admires the collections of her friends, the second when she begins to haunt auctions and "read up," the third when she spares neither time nor money to obtain some broken down treasure and when if fair means fail she will not hesitate even at foul ones. This sounds dreadful, I know, but I have in mind a perfectly respectable woman of my acquaintance who was so fascinated by a brass knocker on the door of an unoccupied farmhouse that she crept there in the dead of night and—well, there is no other word for it—stole it.

Women in the second stage fall easy victims to the so-called antique dealers. The profits of these people must be enormous, for certainly the expenses of the trade are not great. It does not cost much to bury modern colonial furniture until the worms and the mold have done their artistic work; neither are ovens or acids particularly expensive when you can sell a plate which cost you a quarter for $7 or $8. Nowadays I hear the path of the antique dealer is made even more easy. There are factories which turn out real fourteenth century Nuremberg chests (with

She goes on paying her good money for rusty and rickety furniture, broken plates and hangings falling to pieces. She bids against herself at auctions and makes up by cheating unsuspecting country people. When she visits at some old house, she goes about slyly nicking the paint off the furniture in search of possible inlaying or rummaging in the attic for forgotten treasures. She is a pest and a bore, and people are afraid to let her into their houses, but what would you? It's her way of enjoying life, and just now it's a very way much in style.

CHILDISH GOSSIPS.

The Dreaded Scandal Monger Begins Her Career in the Nursery.

The child is the father of the man, so the proverb runs, but altered to "the girl is the mother of the woman" it would be even more true. The other day I came home from an afternoon tea thoroughly disgusted. The entire conversation had been gossip and fault finding—servants, neighbors, husbands, it was all the same thing. I could not bring away one single improving thought, one wise or witty saying.

Just as I was about to enter the nursery I heard my small daughter's voice raised in an eager whisper, "It's a secret, Margie, and you must promise you won't tell." I could hear Margery gasp with excitement. "Hope I'll die if I do!" she muttered in the same stage whisper. "Well, then," cried the small informer "what d'you ask? Judy cheated dis morning! I sawed her!"

At this moment I entered the room. The whole episode reminded me unpleasantly of Mrs. Binks' confidences at the house I had just left. These confidences involved the reputation of a neighbor. "But of course this is strictly confidential, my dear," she whispered, and of course she had told the same thing to 20 others, and before nightfall every one in town would know.

They cleared up the grounds about them, planted trees and made the grass grow and taught the young ones to take pride in having a beautiful lawn around the building outside and artistic wall and other decorations inside. Besides that they obtained by subscriptions some valuable books for the public school libraries.

It is well usually to have men as members of these village improvement societies, to assist with their experience and money. But the business work of the organizations must in nearly every case be done by women, because men cannot spare the time for it.

Whether farm life and village life shall be made attractive depends on the country women. If they do what is in their power, they can so improve and beautify the landscape as to raise the price of real estate in their neighborhoods. What is more, they can prevent to some extent the deplorable exodus of young people from the country to the cities.

JANE STORY.

"I like women," said a clear headed man of the world, "they are so finished." They finish society, manners, language. Form and ceremony are their realm. They embellish trifles.—Emerson.

SHOW YOUR INTEREST.

The announcements that a number of propositions from representatives of industrial establishments seeking a location for new plants are to be submitted to the board of trade tonight should have the effect of making the meeting big and business-like. As the News Review has pointed out repeatedly, the city has no greater need than that an earnest, active and energetic board of trade be established and maintained, for just such occasions
 as the present.

There is already a board of trade which is well adapted to serve as a nucleus for the greater organization which we hope to see launched upon a career of usefulness. But we cannot have a board of trade that can accomplish anything for the good of the city if citizens show supreme indifference toward it and remain away from its meetings, careless whether new industries which are knocking at our doors are rejected or turned away.

The board of trade must have the co-operation, assistance and support of the public. Well-known business men are interested in it, and men of excellent ability are its officers. It needs only the approval and encouragement of business men generally to make it an institution of the highest value to the city. Other towns are all the time looking out for new manufacturing establishments and encouraging them to locate with them. Even one manufactory, employing a few hundred persons regularly, will add materially to the prosperity of the town, and every sort of business will be benefited in some measure. We can get not only one but several if we will work for them. But others will surely get them away if we wait idly while vigilant neighbors put forth strenuous efforts.

East Liverpool has the reputation of being a live, hustling city. It can and should maintain that reputation.
 We trust that every citizen with the interests of the city at heart will prove by his presence at the board of trade meeting tonight that he wants the city to go ahead and not to stand still. Let us get together and work for a greater East Liverpool.

MONEY IN APPLES.

A fact that will be surprising to many is that the apple crop of the United States is worth nearly 50 per cent more than the wheat crop. The value of the apple crop in 1900 was $430,000,000, while that of the wheat crop was little more than $300,000,000.
 The country about East Liverpool is especially adapted to orchards, and from the days when "Johnny Appleseed" scattered seed along the Ohio valley, perpetuating his name and the memory of his good deeds, up to the present time, apples have been produced in increasing abundance each year.

The outlook for orchardists is improving all the time. American apples as an article of export are recognized as of superior excellence.
 They bring $2 to $4 per barrel abroad,
 and the demand for them is increasing. The present export is about 3-000,000 barrels a year, but, as is pointed out by an authority on the subject, there is no reason why the export of the fruit should not be 100,000,000 barrels annually in the course of a very few years. There is money in orcharding, but the business is one that requires brains and attention.
 Fruit trees, after they are planted, need to be cared for, just like other things that grow on the farm.
 The trees may produce apples, if left to themselves, but they will not produce the best, unless they are nurtured and fed and cultivated. Thousands of acres of land are lying uncultivated which, if planted to apple trees, would in a few years repay the expense of fencing and cultivation many times over.

THE MILK QUESTION.

The report that adulterated milk is being sold in the city is one that the health authorities should investigate thoroughly. If they find that the people who are paying a good round price for what is supposed to be pure milk are being supplied with chalk and water or milk containing chemicals or other deleterious matter, there is ample law to punish the offenders, and the more vigorously the law is enforced the more satisfactory it will be to the public.

It is stated that the local health board is not in a position to make proper tests of milk, owing to not being supplied with the necessary instruments. If this be the case, council should take an early opportunity of seeing that the board gets what it needs. It is absurd to expect the health officer to make tests and to look after the public health as he should without tools to work with.
 Milk cannot be tested by looking at
 it. The instruments needed are few in number and of small cost, and they should be furnished at once. Every dairyman who does a fair and honest business will welcome tests of the milk he furnishes. Those who do not furnish a pure article should either be compelled to do so or be driven out of the business. Bad milk is one of the most prolific causes of disease.
 Give the health authorities means to deal with the evil and see that they do their duty.

In New York, a movement which
 was based on philanthropy and charity at the start has proved a paying business investment. Under its sway hundreds of dreary, ramshackle tenements, that were breeding places of disease and immorality have disappeared and been replaced by up-to-date tenements, which are clean, well-lighted, and provided with abundant water and improved sanitary appliances. The model tenements, as they are called, are paying a fair rate of interest on a $2,000,000 investment.
 The people who live in tenements appreciate improved surroundings and
 the districts once famed for disorder are becoming models of good behavior.

Keeping everlasting at it is the secret of success. We want a board of trade that will keep at it, and we can have it if business men generally will enroll themselves in its ranks. Tonight's meeting should be a rouser.
 Don't stay away, whether you have much or little influence. It will all count, and it is all needed.

The board of trade can and will help the town if citizens give their aid and co-operation.

INCENSED CITIZENS

Caused the Arrest of Alliance Saloon-keepers—Hired "Spotters"
 to Do the Work.

Alliance, June 6.—The Alliance salookkeepers who were arrested Monday for selling liquor on Sunday, have been informed by the city solicitor, D. E. Rogers, that the work of securing the necessary evidence was done by Cincinnati detectives. Their services were secured by citizens who felt outraged by the flagrant violations of the law practiced by so many Alliance saloonists. A fund had been contributed entirely by these citizens to pay for the prosecutions.

It is rumored that some of the law-abiding saloon men furnished at least a part of the money used to prosecute the violators of the Sunday laws.

Athens, June 6.—The deadlock in the Republican senatorial convention here was broken and D. H. Moore, of hundred and sixteen votes were required to nominate. Washington and Morgan voted solidly for Rose on the last ballot. The other candidate was Bright.

GLEANINGS OF A DAY

In and About

THE LOCAL POTTERIES

Rev. J. M. Huston, of Pasadena, Cal., formerly pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in East Liverpool, made a request of East Liverpool friends that they send him dishes sufficient to serve 200 persons. In reply he received a letter from F. A. Sebring, acceding to the request, and saying that he (Mr. Sebring), would furnish half of the ware and Mr. Patterson the rest. Mr. Huston publishes a card in the Pasadena Daily Star, in which he speaks of the two gentlemen as proprietors of large establishments and personal friends, who with others did magnificently in helping the First church of this city while he was pastor.

A number of improvements will be made at the Steubenville pottery during the next few weeks. A new first kiln is now in course of erection, and it is the intention of the company to replace the engine now in use at the pottery with a more modern one. This will cause an expenditure of much money and will add greatly to the value of the plant. The purpose of the new kiln is to burn the fref before it is placed in the glaze in the glost kiln.

The old Burdy & Baird pottery on Depot street, Salem, which has been idle for nearly two years, was started in operation on Monday by its present owner, Charles Walters. Mr. Walters said yesterday that drain tile would probably be made. The pottery starts up with four employes, among whom are C. Ross Boone and Emanuel Weiss.
 Mr. Weiss has been an employe of the pottery for the past 15 years, and is quite an experienced hand.

All the minor details necessary to begin work at the plant of the Louthan Supply works have been completed, and it was intended to start the plant in operation yesterday, but the engineer did not arrive and it will not be started until tomorrow. A full force will not be put on for some time as it will be necessary to handle the new machinery slowly for a time in order to avoid accidents and get things in best working shape.

At a recent meeting of local union
 No. 20, Brotherhood of Operative Potters, of Steubenville, John Wilkinson and William Button were elected delegates to the national convention of operative potters at East Liverpool July 8. W. N. Fleming and H. J. Goodman were elected alternates.

It is probable the workmen at the Steubenville pottery will stop work July 8 to attend the annual picnic and outing of the National Brotherhood of

SYMPATHY FOR LABOR.

Reformed Presbyterian Synod Tabled Report Denouncing Labor Organizations and Secret Societies.

Pittsburg, June 6.—The Reformed Presbyterian synod yesterday adjourned to meet in Syracuse, N. Y., May 28, 1902. The report of the committee on secret societies was tabled.
 It dealt especially with labor and trade organizations, condemning their secret society features and denouncing their habits of holding meetings on Sunday. Regarding other secret societies the report declared them
 "ensnaring in their nature, pernicious in their tendency and perilous to the liberties of both church and state." The resolutions expressed the sympathy of the synod for the laborer in his struggle for the betterment of his condition, but said that some of the rulings of labor organizations are arbitrary and a violation of the rights of labor, and declared their Sunday meetings destructive of spiritual life.

MRS. EDDY WON.

Verdict For Defense Ordered in Mrs.
 Woodbury's Case.

Boston, June 6.—In the superior court Judge Charles U. Bell brought to a sudden and unexpected end the famous $150,000 libel suit brought by Mrs. Josephine Curtis Woodbury, of Boston, against the Rev. Mary Baker Eddy, of Concord, N. H., the founder and present head of the Christian Science church, by ordering the jury to find for the defendant, which it accordingly did in the usual form.
 The judge said the libel was not absolutely clear enough to apply to the plaintiff.

Counsel for Mrs. Woodbury filed exceptions on all the questions passed upon. They have not yet decided upon a definite course of action, but authorized it to be stated that they expect to carry the case to the supreme court.

Inopportune.

"I just saw the young Widow Weeds.
 She looked just charming in her mourning," said the pretty woman.
 "I suppose," remarked her crotchety husband, "that you wouldn't mind being a widow yourself."
 "Oh, it's hateful of you to talk that way, when you know I've got a blue silk waist that I haven't worn yet."—

Operative Potters, which will be held special train will be run from that city to the park.

The girls employed in the decorating shop of the Sevres China company tendered a farewell reception to the Misses Annie and Maude Fortune yesterday afternoon. The ladies will leave tonight for a visit with friends at Detroit, Mich.

Plans for the reception and entertainment of the visiting delegates to the coming convention were discussed and an especial effort will be made to have this feature of the meeting taken care of in an acceptable manner.

Ray Young, a printer at the Steubenville pottery, who has been ill for several months, has left for Asheville, S. C. He expects to return to Steubenville within the next six weeks.

Otto Dike, employed in the warehouse at Burford's, is off duty owing to a broken finger. The accident occurred while he was playing ball a few days ago.

Ed Greene returned to work at the National plant this morning after laying off two weeks on account of two broken ribs received in a fall some time ago.

George Cox, employed as a kiln-hand at the Sevres China company, has resigned his position and accepted a similar one at Knowles, Taylor & Knowles.

Ed Fitzgerald, employed in the warehouse at Laughlin No. 2, will quit Saturday, and will take a similar position at the Sevres pottery on Monday.

The entertainment committee composed of two members from each of the Brotherhood locals in the city held a meeting last evening.

John Bowers, so the Burford pottery employes say, is tired of single blessedness. His friends are looking for wedding cards any day.

R. Rutledge, employed in the warehouse at the Sevres plant, will leave the employ of the company Saturday.

Joseph Winters, a biscuit kilnhand at the Sevres pottery, has resigned his position and has gone to Knowles'.

Bricklaying at the new pottery at Lisbon has commenced.

RAISED A DISTURBANCE

Caused Trouble on a Street Car And
 the Conductor Had Them Arrested.

Two young men were arrested by Constable Powell yesterday afternoon at Wellsville. One was charged with using profane language and the other with the same offense, together with that of assault.

The arrest of the young men was brought about by D. W. Brown, a conductor employed by the East Liverpool Street Railway company. Tuesday evening the fellows boarded Brown's car in this city and started for Wellsville. Both had been drinking and were somewhat inclined to be boisterous. When the car reached Walker's one of the young men produced a bottle of beer from his pocket and insisted on taking a drink in the car. The conductor expostulated, but in spite of his efforts to induce the fellows to put the bottle away they ignored his authority and drained
 the contents of the bottle.

Brown stopped his car and ordered the men off. They refused to go and swore at the conductor, who with the assistance of the motorman succeeded in ejecting the fellows. Just as he was being dragged down over the steps, one man struck Brown, but did not injure him to any extent.

They admitted they had done wrong,
 but said they had not intended to harm anyone. Justice McCarron was inclined to believe them, but reprimanded them in caustic terms. He imposed small fines saying he felt disposed to make the fines light, as it was the first case of the kind that had been brought before him, but he warned the offenders if they ever repeated the conduct they would be given the heaviest sentence possible.

My Captive

Will Be Published in This Paper

It is a story of Revolutionary times and recounts the thrilling adventures of a brave
 young American cavalryman who took as his prisoner a venturesome
 and handsome English
 girl, the daughter of a British officer.

Their enforced association as prisoner and captor under trying circumstances showed to each the worth of the other, and in the end
 both became prisoners
 each to the other. The tale is most cleverly told
 and is full of life.

DO NOT FAIL TO READ IT

THE CLOSING WAS WEAK.

Sensational Upward Movement In Rock Island—Some Other Features.

New York, June 6.—The strength of the stock market, which was quite marked at one time during the day, diminished decidedly after a while Wednesday. When the check was first decisively established there was a notable falling away in the volume of dealings, but there was a resumption of activity before the close, this time on the selling side, and the closing was decidedly weak, with some wide breeches effected in prices.

The most sensational upward movement was in Rock Island. The late spurt in that stock to 175 1/4 had a momentary influence in stiffening
 the list after it had touched the low points of the day to that time, but as soon as it was perceived that the Rock Island movement was without effect the selling was renewed with redoubled force. The admission of new interests to the directory of Rock Island was pretty clearly foreshadowed, but the extra stock issue was an entire surprise to the street. The movement in Atchison was more gradual and on larger dealings. Rumors of a lease to Union Pacific persisted and the admission to the directory of a member of the banking firm which represented the northern lines of Pacific railroads was regarded as significant of the progress being made toward community of interest in that territory as a result of adjustment of the Northern Pacific quarrel. Atchison's extreme rise was 4 1/4. The story of Missouri Pacific's control of Southern Pacific and a rumor of the exchange of Missouri Pacific stock for the Denver and Rio Grande stock were an influence in the group of railroads. Pennsylvania was affected by the published opinion of an executive officer lately returned from Europe of good prospects for the coal export trade. Executive changes in the Erie were taken as foreshadowing improvements in operation. The strength of Illinois Central was based on comparison of its low price with other railroad stocks in the same category. Amalgamated Copper suffered from the granting of a new injunction against its proposed absorptions. Advances of from 1 to 4 points in a number of low priced railroads and industrials were unexplained by any news. The advance in Canadian Pacific and its affiliated lines was designed to lift the stock in proportion to the advances of other stocks of Northwestern Pacific lines.
 The bond market was irregular in sympathy with stocks. Total sales, par value, $3,515,000.
 United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

 that an earnest, active and energetic
 board of trade be established and
 maintained, for just such occasions
 as the present.

There is already a board of trade
 which is well adapted to serve as a nucleus for the greater organization
 which we hope to see launched upon
 a career of usefulness. But we cannot have a board of trade that can accomplish anything for the good of the city if citizens show supreme indifference toward it and remain away
 from its meetings, careless whether
 new industries which are knocking
 at our doors are rejected or turned away.

The board of trade must have the co-operation, assistance and support of the public. Well-known business men are interested in it, and men of excellent ability are its officers. It needs only the approval and encouragement of business men generally to
 value to the city. Other towns are all the time looking out for new manufacturing establishments and encouraging them to locate with them. Even one manufactory, employing a few hundred persons regularly, will add materially to the prosperity of the town, and every sort of business will be benefited in some measure. We can get not only one but several if
 we will work for them. But others will surely get them away if we wait idly while vigilant neighbors put forth strenuous efforts.

East Liverpool has the reputation of being a live, hustling city. It can
 and should maintain that reputation.
 We trust that every citizen with the interests of the city at heart will prove
 by his presence at the board of trade
 meeting tonight that he wants the city
 to go ahead and not to stand still. Let us get together and work for a greater East Liverpool.

MONEY IN APPLES.

A fact that will be surprising to many is that the apple crop of the United States is worth nearly 50 per cent more than the wheat crop. The value of the apple crop in 1900 was $430,000,000, while that of the wheat crop was little more than $300,000,000.
 The country about East Liverpool is especially adapted to orchards, and
 from the days when "Johnny Apple-
 seed" scattered seed along the Ohio valley, perpetuating his name and the memory of his good deeds, up to the present time, apples have been produced in increasing abundance each
 year.

The outlook for orchardists is improving all the time. American apples as an article of export are recognized as of superior excellence.
 They bring $2 to $4 per barrel abroad,
 and the demand for them is increasing. The present export is about 3-000,000 barrels a year, but, as is pointed out by an authority on the subject, there is no reason why the export
 of the fruit should not be 100,000,000
 barrels annually in the course of a very few years. There is money in orcharding, but the business is one that requires brains and attention.
 Fruit trees, after they are planted, need to be cared for, just like
 other things that grow on the farm.
 The trees may produce apples, if
 left to themselves, but they will not produce the best, unless they are nurtured and fed and cultivated. Thousands of acres of land are lying uncultivated which, if planted to apple trees, would in a few years repay the expense of fencing and cultivation

 many times over.

THE MILK QUESTION.

The report that adulterated milk is being sold in the city is one that the health authorities should investigate
 thoroughly. If they find that the people who are paying a good round price
 for what is supposed to be pure milk
 are being supplied with chalk and
 other deleterious matter, there is ample law to punish the offenders, and the more vigorously the law is enforced the more satisfactory it will be
 to the public.

It is stated that the local health board is not in a position to make proper tests of milk, owing to not being supplied with the necessary instruments. If this be the case, council should take an early opportunity
 of seeing that the board gets what it
 needs. It is absurd to expect the health officer to make tests and to look after the public health as he should without tools to work with.
 Milk cannot be tested by looking at
 it. The instruments needed are few in number and of small cost, and they should be furnished at once. Every dairyman who does a fair and honest
 business will welcome tests of the milk he furnishes. Those who do not furnish a pure article should either
 be compelled to do so or be driven
 out of the business. Bad milk is one of the most prolific causes of disease.
 Give the health authorities means to deal with the evil and see that they do their duty.

In New York, a movement which
 was based on philanthropy and charity at the start has proved a paying business investment. Under its sway hundreds of dreary, ramshackle tenements, that were breeding places of disease and immorality have disappeared and been replaced by up-to-date tenements, which are clean, well-
 lighted, and provided with abundant
 water and improved sanitary appliances. The model tenements, as they are called, are paying a fair rate of
 interest on a $2,000,000 investment.
 The people who live in tenements appreciate improved surroundings and
 the districts once famed for disorder are becoming models of good behavior.

Keeping everlasting at it is the secret of success. We want a board of
 have it if business men generally will enroll themselves in its ranks. Tonight's meeting should be a rouser.
 Don't stay away, whether you have much or little influence. It will all count, and it is all needed.

The board of trade can and will help the town if citizens give their
 aid and co-operation.

 man of sterling character and habits and had overseen the large farm owned by his father, Isaac Holloway.

INCENSED CITIZENS

Caused the Arrest of Alliance Saloon-keepers—Hired "Spotters"
 to Do the Work.

Alliance, June 6.—The Alliance saloonkeepers who were arrested Monday for selling liquor on Sunday, have been informed by the city solicitor, D. E. Rogers, that the work of securing the necessary evidence was done
 by Cincinnati detectives. Their services were secured by citizens who felt outraged by the flagrant violations of the law practiced by so many Alliance saloonists. A fund had been contributed entirely by these citizens
 to pay for the prosecutions.

It is rumored that some of the la-biding saloon men furnished at least a part of the money used to prosecute the violators of the Sunday
 laws.

TOOK 363 BALLOTS

The Senatorial Convention at Athens Finally Made a Nomination.

Athens, June 6.—The deadlock in the Republican senatorial convention here was broken and D. H. Moore, of Athens, was nominated on the three hundred and sixty-third ballot. One hundred and sixteen votes were required to nominate. Washington and Morgan voted solidly for Rose on the last ballot. The other candidate was Bright.

GLEANINGS OF A DAY

In and About

Rev. J. M. Huston, of Pasadena, Cal., formerly pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in East Liverpool, made a request of East Liverpool friends
 that they send him dishes sufficient
 to serve 200 persons. In reply he received a letter from F. A. Sebring, acceding to the request, and saying that he (Mr. Sebring), would furnish half of the ware and Mr. Patterson the rest. Mr. Huston publishes a card in the Pasadena Daily Star, in which he speaks of the two gentlemen as proprietors of large establishments and personal friends, who with others did magnificently in helping the First church of this city while he was pastor.

A number of improvements will be made at the Steubenville pottery during the next few weeks. A new first kiln is now in course of erection, and
 it is the intention of the company to replace the engine now in use at the pottery with a more modern one. This will cause an expenditure of much money and will add greatly to the value of the plant. The purpose of the new kiln is to burn the fret before it is placed in the glaze in the glost kiln.

The old Burdy & Baird pottery on Depot street, Salem, which has been
 in operation on Monday by its present
 owner, Charles Walters. Mr. Walters said yesterday that drain tile would probably be made. The pottery starts up with four employees, among whom are C. Ross Boone and Emanuel Weiss.
 Mr. Weiss has been an employee of the pottery for the past 15 years, and is quite an experienced hand.

All the minor details necessary to
 begin work at the plant of the Louthan Supply works have been completed,
 and it was intended to start the plant in operation yesterday, but the engineer did not arrive and it will not be started until tomorrow. A full force will not be put on for some time as
 it will be necessary to handle the new machinery slowly for a time in order to avoid accidents and get things in
 best working shape.

At a recent meeting of local union
 No. 20, Brotherhood of Operative Pottery, of Steubenville, John Wilkinson and William Button were elected delegates to the national convention of operative potters at East Liverpool July 8. W. N. Fleming and H. J. Goodman were elected alternates.

It is probable the workmen at the Steubenville pottery will stop work July 8 to attend the annual picnic and outing of the National Brotherhood of

SYMPATHY FOR LABOR.

Reformed Presbyterian Synod Tabled Report Denouncing Labor Organizations and Secret Societies.

Pittsburg, June 6.—The Reformed
 Presbyterian synod yesterday adjourned
 to meet in Syracuse, N. Y., May 28, 1902. The report of the committee on secret societies was tabled.
 It dealt especially with labor and trade organizations, condemning their
 secret society features and denouncing their habits of holding meetings
 on Sunday. Regarding other secret societies the report declared them
 "ensnaring in their nature, pernicious
 in their tendency and perilous to the liberties of both church and state." The resolutions expressed the sympathy of the synod for the laborer in his struggle for the betterment of his
 condition, but said that some of the rulings of labor organizations are arbitrary and a violation of the rights
 of labor, and declared their Sunday
 meetings destructive of spiritual life.

MRS. EDDY WON.

Verdict For Defense Ordered In Mrs.
 Woodbury's Case.

Boston, June 6.—In the superior court Judge Charles U. Bell brought
 to a sudden and unexpected end the
 famous $150,000 libel suit brought by
 Mrs. Josephine Curtis Woodbury, of Boston, against the Rev. Mary Baker
 Eddy, of Concord, N. H., the founder and present head of the Christian Science church, by ordering the jury
 to find for the defendant, which it accordingly did in the usual form.

The judge said the libel was not absolutely clear enough to apply to the plaintiff.
 Counsel for Mrs. Woodbury filed exceptions on all the questions passed upon. They have not yet decided upon a definite course of action, but
 authorized it to be stated that they expect to carry the case to the supreme court.

Inopportune.

"I just saw the young Widow Weeds.
 She looked just charming in her mourning," said the pretty woman.

"I suppose," remarked her crotchety husband, "that you wouldn't mind being a widow yourself."

"Oh, it's hateful of you to talk that way, when you know I've got a blue silk waist that I haven't worn yet,"—

Operative Potters, which will be held

 special train will be run from that city
 to the park.

The girls employed in the decorating shop of the Severs China company tendered a farewell reception to the Misses Annie and Maude Fortune yesterday afternoon. The ladies will leave tonight for a visit with friends at Detroit, Mich.

Plans for the reception and entertainment of the visiting delegates to the coming convention were discussed and an especial effort will be made
 to have this feature of the meeting
 taken care of in an acceptable manner.

Ray Young, a printer at the Steubenville pottery, who has been ill for several months, has left for Asheville, S. C. He expects to return to Steubenville within the next six weeks.

Otto Dike, employed in the warehouse at Burford's, is off duty owing to a broken finger. The accident occurred while he was playing ball a few days ago.

Ed Greene returned to work at the National plant this morning after laying off two weeks on account of two broken ribs received in a fall some time ago.

George Cox, employed as a kiln-hand at the Severs China company, has resigned his position and accepted a similar one at Knowles, Taylor & Knowles.

Ed Fitzgerald, employed in the warehouse at Laughlin No. 2, will quit Saturday, and will take a similar position at the Severs pottery on Monday.

The entertainment committee composed of two members from each of the Brotherhood locals in the city
 held a meeting last evening.

John Bowers, so the Burford pottery employees say, is tired of single blessedness. His friends are looking for wedding cards any day.

R. Rutledge, employed in the warehouse at the Severs plant, will leave the employ of the company Saturday.

Joseph Winters, a biscuit kilnhand at the Severs pottery, has resigned his position and has gone to Knowles'.

Bricklaying at the new pottery at Lisbon has commenced.

Caused Trouble on a Street Car And
 the Conductor Had Them
 Arrested.

Two young men were arrested by Constable Powell yesterday afternoon
 at Wellsville. One was charged with using profane language and the other
 with the same offense, together with
 that of assault.

The arrest of the young men was brought about by D. W. Brown, a conductor employed by the East Liverpool Street Railway company. Tuesday evening the fellows boarded Brown's car in this city and started for Wellsville. Both had been drinking and were somewhat inclined to be boisterous. When the car reached Walker's one of the young men produced a bottle of beer from his pocket
 and insisted on taking a drink in the car. The conductor expostulated, but in spite of his efforts to induce
 the fellows to put the bottle away
 they ignored his authority and drained
 the contents of the bottle.

Brown stopped his car and ordered
 the men off. They refused to go and swore at the conductor, who with the assistance of the motorman succeeded in ejecting the fellows. Just as he was being dragged down over the
 steps, one man struck Brown, but
 did not injure him to any extent.

They admitted they had done wrong,
 but said they had not intended to harm
 anyone. Justice McCarron was inclined to believe them, but reprimanded
 them in caustic terms. He imposed small fines saying he felt disposed to make the fines light, as it was the first case of the kind that had been brought before him, but he
 warned the offenders if they ever repeated the conduct they would be giving the heaviest sentence possible.

Will Be Published in This Paper

It is a story of Revolutionary times and re-
 counts the thrilling adventures of a brave
 young American cavalrymen who took as his prisoner a venturesome
 and handsome English
 girl, the daughter of a British officer.

Their enforced association as prisoner and
 captor under trying circumstances showed to
 each the worth of the other, and in the end
 both became prisoners
 each to the other. The tale is most cleverly told
 and is full of life.

DO NOT FAIL TO READ IT

THE CLOSING WAS WEAK.

Sensational Upward Movement in Rock Island—Some Other
 Features.

New York, June 6.—The strength of the stock market, which was quite
 marked at one time during the day,
 diminished decidedly after a while Wednesday. When the check was first decisively established there was
 a notable falling away in the volume of dealings, but there was a resumption of activity before the close, this
 time on the selling side, and the closing was decidedly weak, with some
 wide breeches effected in prices.

The most sensational upward movement was in Rock Island. The late spurt in that stock to 175 1/4 had
 a momentary influence in stiffening
 the list after it had touched the low
 points of the day to that time, but as soon as it was perceived that the Rock Island movement was without
 effect the selling was renewed with redoubled force. The admission of new interests to the directory of Rock Island was pretty clearly foreshadowed, but the extra stock issue was
 an entire surprise to the street. The movement in Atchison was more gradual and on larger dealings. Rumors of a lease to Union Pacific persisted and the admission to the directory of a member of the banking firm which represented the northern lines
 of Pacific railroads was regarded as significant of the progress being made toward community of interest in that territory as a result of adjustment of
 the Northern Pacific quarrel. Atchson's extreme rise was 4 1/4. The story of Missouri Pacific's control of Southern Pacific and a rumor of the exchange of Missouri Pacific stock for
 the Denver and Rio Grande stock
 were an influence in the group of railroads. Pennsylvania was affected by the published opinion of an executive officer lately returned from Europe of good prospects for the coal export trade. Executive changes in the Erie were taken as foreshadowing improvements in operation. The strength of Illinois Central was based on comparison of its low price with
 other railroad stocks in the same category. Amalgamated Copper suffered from the granting of a new injunction against its proposed absorptions. Advances of from 1 to 4 points in a number of low priced railroads
 and industrials were unexplained by any news. The advance in Canadian Pacific and its affiliated lines was designed to lift the stock in proportion to the advances of other stocks of Northwestern Pacific lines.
 The bond market was irregular in sympathy with stocks. Total sales, par value, $3,515,000.
 United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

LIBERAL PROPOSITION
An Enterprising House to Give Patrons a Vacation Trip
Free.

It is not often noted that a business concern displays energy and push sufficient to cause them to enter into a proposition benefiting and entertaining their patrons to the extent of a sacrifice on the part of the firm.
Nevertheless that is precisely what is proposed by the Surprise Clothing house, the foremost and by far the most enterprising establishment of its kind in East Liverpool.
In order to maintain their already brilliant record as an up-to-date concern they have hit upon a novel and very liberal proposition which, when carried out, will enable at least two patrons of the establishment to take a trip to either Atlantic City or the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo.
The transportation will be furnished absolutely free, and the holders of the lucky numbers are permitted to go either by rail or by the lake route, as they may elect.

This is certainly the most liberal and praiseworthy enterprise ever engaged in by any firm in this section, and places the Surprise Clothing house head and shoulders over the rest of them in the matter of enterprise.

The tickets will be issued any day in July after the 15th, and will entitle the holder to spend 10 days at one or the other of the popular resorts.
The plan is this: Beginning at once,
every purchaser will be given a coupon containing a number, any one of which may be the lucky one. Two numbers will be advertised in the daily papers of July 16, and the par-

the Woman's Missionary convention at the United Presbyterian church last evening, left this morning for Knoxville, Tenn.

very interesting fishing experience yesterday. He didn't come back with any gigantic stories of big catches like Cap Swaney or the famous Wellsville anglers, but simply said he had had several bites during the day.

A GREAT SUCCESS
The Big Lot Sale at Newell Which
Is in Progress
Today.

The lot sale advertised to take place today at Newell was a complete success, the result being most gratifying to the owners of the new plat.

All day long the new steam ferry conveyed large crowds of prospective lot buyers to the West Virginia side of the river, the boat leaving the Market street wharf every 30 minutes.

No distinction was made between sightseers and those who were bent upon investing in the new territory, and all were treated the same. This plan of lots is destined to become very popular among East Liverpool people, mainly on account of the pleasant location and surroundings. The lots have all been numbered and staked off, so that no time is lost in displaying their advantages.

arm is so badly fractured and broken that it will have to be amputated.

Miss Vina Seavey, the "veiled lady" whose constant attendance at the trial has excited all sorts of speculation, was arrested as the first step in an attempt to unravel the conspiracy which led to the murder of Constable Boyd. She refused to say a word.
She is believed to have come from Chicago. The trial of Rutledge and Rice was concluded and the case given to the jury.

you ever saw, 2500 yards in the lot at only 5c a yard.

Embroideries at 5c, 10c, 12½c, 15c and 25c a yard.

We have a much larger range of prices in embroidery than the 5 prices mentioned here, Swiss, cambric, nainsook embroideries, all widths and prices, but special attention is called to these 5 special lots of cambric embroideries, because they are very much under priced. See them.

NO MARKED CHANGE.

MRS. M'KINLEY WAS REPORTED SLIGHTLY BETTER.

Even Though Gain Was Slight the President Expressed His Pleasure Last Night.

Washington, June 6.—Dr. Rixey made his usual nightly visit to the white house shortly after 9 o'clock last night and remained about an hour and a half. On leaving he said:
"Mrs. McKinley is resting very comfortably now. She has gained a little this evening, but there is no marked change. She is doing very well."

While the improvement in Mrs.
McKinley's condition is slight, the fact that there had been no setback during the day, but on the contrary very little gain, was very gratifying to the white house household and the president expressed his pleasure several times during the evening. In view, however, of the gravity of the condition of the stricken mistress of the white house, too much significance is not attached to the slight improvement shown.

President McKinley is spending a large part of his time at his wife's bedside. He was out driving for about an hour, however, just before supper, with Mr. L. L. Miller, of Canton, O., and returned refreshed. With the exception of the time spent in the early evening with a few callers and a short time in the cabinet room about 11 o'clock, most of the evening was spent within call of his wife.

Washington, June 6.—President Mcpresident of that institution:

"William L. Wilson was devoted to lofty ideas. Although a man of great learning and of pronounced literary tastes, he actively participated in public affairs and gave to his coun-advocacy of measures of legislation

B. & O. Officers on Tour.

Pittsburg, June 6.—New officers of the Baltimore and Ohio and a number of the old officers arrived in this city last evening in a train of three private cars, which the party are using in their tour of inspection just started. The party consists of L. F. Lor-

Killed His Little Daughter, Fatally Shot His Wife and Wounded Other Relatives.

Coleman, Mich., June 6.—Will Arnell, proprietor of a hotel and saloon in Beaverton, who had been drinking for several days, entered the house and went upstairs to where his daughter was hiding from him under a bed and killed her. He then came down and fatally shot his wife, and fired at his invalid mother, who was sitting in a chair, shooting her through the hand. Mrs. Samuel Dopp and Arnell's sister were attracted by the shooting, and as they approached Arnell walked out to the street and opened fire on them, wounding his sister slightly.

At this juncture Arnell's brother and Mrs. Dopp's husband came on the scene and Arnell shot his brother through the arm. Dopp was armed with a shotgun and opened fire, wounding Arnell, who was then captured and taken to the county jail.
His wound is not fatal.

READY FOR GOVERNOR.

Railway Bills Passed Pennsylvania Senate and Signed by President Pro Tem and Speaker.

Harrisburg, June 6.—The senate chamber was crowded with spectators last night to witness the final legislative move of the Focht and Emery bills, which had passed the house during the day with amendments. The bills came before the senate for its concurrence in the amendments inserted by the house.

Both measures were taken up shortly after the senate was convened and the amendments were concurred in without discussion. The vote on each bill was 31 yeas to 5 nays.

The bills having already been transcribed, they were immediately signed by President Pro Tem Snyder and were sent to the house for Speaker Marshall's signature. They then were to go to the governor.

CORBETT'S LICENSE REVOKED.

Accusations by a Minister and Excise Agent.

New York, June 6.—The liquor tax certificate held by James J. Corbett, the pugilist, was revoked by Justice Freedman, of the supreme court, on considering the report of Alfred Page as referee in a proceeding brought for the revocation of the license by the Rev. J. Q. A. Henry, superintendent of the New York Anti-Saloon league.

The testimony showed that Charles P. Sanford, a special agent of the excise commissioner, and others visited Corbett's saloon in Broadway on Sunday, May 6, 1900, and were served with whisky and cigars. There were other men drinking in the place. The Rev. Norman Plass, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league for Greater New York, with two companions, called at Corbett's place early in the morning of May 2, 1900, and bought whisky. These allegations were denied by Corbett, who contended that his premises were closed at the proper hour.

It was also contended by Rev. Mr.
Henry that Corbett violated the law in not having his screens down, so that the inside of his premises could be seen from the street.
Suit will now be brought by the excise commissioner to recover double the amount of the bond given by Corbett for the proper conduct of his business.

An Entertaining House to Give Patrons a Vacation Trip
Free.

It is not often offered that a business man displays energy and push sufficient to cause them to enter into a proposition benefiting and entertaining
their patrons to the extent of a sacrifice on the part of the firm.

Nevertheless that is precisely what proposed by the Surprise Clothing house, the foremost and by far the most enterprising establishment of its kind in East Liverpool.

In order to maintain their already
brilliant record as an up-to-date concern they have hit upon a novel and
very liberal proposition which, when
carried out, will enable at least two patrons of the establishment to take a trip to either Atlantic City or the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo.
The transportation will be furnished absolutely free, and the holders of the tickets numbers are permitted to go either by rail or by the lake route, as they may elect.

This is certainly the most liberal
and praiseworthy enterprise ever entered into by any firm in this section, and places the Surprise Clothing
house head and shoulders over the rest of them in the matter of enterprise.

The tickets will be issued any day
in July after the 15th, and will entitle
the holder to spend 10 days at one or
the other of the popular resorts.

The plan is this: Beginning at once,
every purchaser will be given a coupon containing a number, any one of which may be the lucky one. Two numbers will be advertised in the daily papers of July 16, and the par-

The Big Lot Sale at Newell Which
Is in Progress
Today.

The lot sale advertised to take place
today at Newell was a complete success, the result being most gratifying to the owners of the new plat.

All day long the new steam ferry
conveyed large crowds of prospective
lot buyers to the West Virginia side of the river, the boat leaving the Market street wharf every 30 minutes.

No distinction was made between
sightseers and those who were bent
upon investing in the new territory,
and all were treated the same. This plan of lots is destined to become
very popular among East Liverpool
people, mainly on account of the pleasant location and surroundings. The lots have all been numbered and staked off, so that no time is lost in displaying their advantages.

DEATH WIND ROARED.

Caught Up a Crowded Circus Tent During Performance at Zanesville, Ohio.

FATAL LIGHTNING FLASHED.

Flying Pole Killed a Woman and Lightning Struck a House, Killing a Man—Two of the Injured During Storm Fatally Hurt.

Zanesville, June 6.—As the result of a terrific storm which passed over this section two persons are dead, two fatally injured and a dozen others more or less seriously hurt.

The performance of Buckskin Bill's Wild West show had just got under way when a heavy wind and electrical storm broke over the city. The show tents were lifted from the ground and carried many yards away. The show tent was crowded at the time the storm arose, and when the people saw the tent lifted a wild scramble followed. Men, women and children were knocked off their feet and trampled.

Mrs. Henry Butler and William Case were running for a place of safety when a large pole, which had been released by the flight of the tent, fell on their heads. Mrs. Butler died several hours. James Cann was caught by a flying rope and suspended in the air in such a manner that he was choked into insensibility before he could be rescued. The performers made a desperate effort to quiet the people, but did not succeed until a dozen or more were injured.

Near the circus grounds stood the handsome residence of George H. Fox. It was struck by lightning and damaged to the extent of $1,000. At Rose Farm, a new house on which five men were at work was struck by lightning and the building was completely wrecked. Daniel Giles was killed outright and Jacob Ross fatally injured. The other three men were rendered unconscious by the shock, but it is thought that they will recover. The Crooksville Baptist church was also struck by lightning and badly damaged.

MORGAN AND THE PENNSY.

Believed They Will Pool Issues in the Atchison.

New York, June 6.—The Mail and Express yesterday afternoon said of Mr. Steele's election to the Atchison directorate:

"The election of Mr. Steele means that in the future Mr. Morgan is to be one of the ruling factors in that company. It also brings to light some exceedingly interesting facts in regard to the western railroad situation, which thus far has been kept secret. Nobody supposed that Mr. Morgan wanted to get a foothold in the Atchison, but it has been known for some time that the Pennsylvania railroad had bought a large block of the stock and would in due time be given a representation in the board of directors. Representative of the Pennsylvania will be chosen shortly. "Most of the Pennsylvania purchases of Atchison were made months ago at materially lower prices than prevail today. The Burlington incident and Northern Pacific 'corner,' however, brought great financial power into opposition and changed the program which had been outlined only a short time before.

"With the possibility that the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific might be used to the great disadvantage of some of the eastern railroads, such as the Pennsylvania, Vanderbilt and Southern railway systems, it became essential that sufficient interest in the Atchison should be acquired to enable Messrs. Morgan, Cassatt and their associates to reach far western points which are not accessible by the Northern transcontinental lines.

"According to a man identified with Atchison interests, Mr. Morgan and those whom he represents, including perhaps the Pennsylvania, now hold a majority of the common stock, of which $192,000,000 is outstanding. It is believed that Mr. Morgan is acting in harmony with the Pennsylvania interests and that they will pool their stock."

JUSTICE BREWER MARRIED.

United to Miss Emma Mott, at Burlington, Vt.

Burlington, Vt., June 6.—The Hon. David J. Brewer, associate justice of the United States supreme court, was married to Miss Emma Minor Mott, of Washington, D. C. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. G. Atkins, of the First Congregational church at the home of Mrs. J. L. Hall, who is a niece of Mrs. Brewer.

No announcements or invitations had been given out and only members of the family were present.

Naval Cadet Dismissed For Hazing.

Washington, June 6.—Following the example set at West Point, the superintendent of the naval academy has caused a cadet to be dismissed for hazing. In this case, however, that of Calvin Joy Cressey, of the fourth class, of California, the accused was tried by court martial and regularly convicted.

New Pastor Is Called.

Pittsburg, June 6.—The Bellevue Presbyterian church last night extended a call to Rev. William R. Roulston, of the Wharton Street church, Philadelphia, to become its pastor.

The perfumers of Rome lived in a special quarter set apart for their use, and whole streets were filled with their shops, which were lounging places for wealthy young nobles.

A Convenient Kitchen

"AND the kitchen?" I asked. My friend had been showing me all over her house. "The kitchen? Oh, well, it's just like all other kitchens—uninteresting," she answered. And that is where she made a great mistake. The kitchen should not be uninteresting. It is not so to the good housekeeper. She takes more pride in its perfect appointments than she does in those of any other room in the house. Two results are inevitable—one, well cooked meals; the other, a contented servant, and, as a contented servant stays years in the same family, this is a result worth striving for. No servant likes to work in a place where nothing is convenient. "Deed I's done hustle from mawning till night, and dis ole place, hit jes' won't stay fixed!" my old colored servant complained after we had moved into our new house. I was astonished because the new kitchen is much larger than the old. Upon investigating, however, I found that no definite place had been provided for anything and that the cupboard and chest of drawers had been placed where they were most inconvenient to reach.

I first turned my attention to the sink. The space under it had been utilized for a closet, which was filled with a motley collection of old rags, blacking bottles, etc. I had the entire wooden structure torn away, leaving an open space where the sunlight and air could penetrate freely. The pipes were then

IN A CITY HOME.

Painted the same color as the walls—a serviceable and cool shade of grayish green. Next I sent for a carpenter, and he built four cupboards. One he placed over the sink. Its shelves held ammonia, soap, washing soda, rubbing cloths, etc. The next two were over the stove. One contained pepper, salt, sugar, herbs, soup flavorings, etc., and the other the smaller utensils used in the actual cooking, such as basting fork and spoon, skewers and strainers. The fourth cupboard held the finer cooking dishes—the porcelain ware, for instance. Of course the commoner kitchen pots and pans found room in the lower half of the general closet, and the kitchen china, which was of the heavy blue and white kind, was placed in the upper half of the original cupboard, which had been fitted with a glass door. The lower half held the kitchen linen.

As it happened, the sink was placed right in the corner next to the pantry. I had a small window made in the partition so that the maid could pass the dishes through as soon as they were washed. This saves her many weary steps. A draining board was also fitted between the sink and this window. The pantry had been generously treated in the matter of closets, so there was little which could be improved. However, I placed there a duplicate of many of the commoner baking utensils, which was again a saving of time and steps. These little things count greatly in the long end. Right under the kitchen window, where the sun fell upon it, I placed a rack for wet cloths. Fresh air and sunshine are the two best disinfectants. It is a rule in my kitchen that the sink cloths shall never be allowed to hang over the faucets or to dry in dark corners.

In conclusion I want to say that my kitchen is considered a joy to the eye as well as a model of convenience. The sunlight streams through the blue and white sash curtains and dances over the spotless hard wood floor. A pot of red geraniums lends color to the smaller window, and a plump white cat dozes comfortably on the little blue and white rug in front of the table. In one corner stands a comfortable wicker rocker, where Debby can rest while she watches her baking.

Why shouldn't we consider the comfort of our servants when they work hard for us all day long?

AMERICAN SILK COCOONS.

Women Can Produce Them Profitably All Over This Country.

Why is it that women in country homes in the United States have never followed up the silkworm industry that began so promisingly among us at the time of the World's fair in 1893? The mulberry and mock orange, on which the worms thrive, grow all over the Union. A Japanese expert who examined some of the raw silk reeled from American grown cocoons pronounced it superior to much of that raised abroad. The rearing of the cocoons costs practically nothing but a moderate amount of time on the part of women and girls at home, yet here are still American silk manufacturers paying annually a million of money to foreign countries when it could be and ought to be paid to American women and girls. During our World's fair

SILK CULTURIST.

Miss Ellen A. Ford of the Irish World, New York, who was one of the women commissioners, investigated this matter of silk culture thoroughly, and there was exhibited from Utah a rare collection of home grown raw silk and cocoons, so that all who saw marveled and were convinced that the industry here would be a magnificent success. Yet it lapsed. Women went on just as before. Absolutely silk culture will pay well. Cannot some woman who has a little time and can afford to spend a few dollars take this matter in hand for the benefit of herself and woman's home industry?

ORGANIZED FARM WOMEN.

Agricultural Union Among Colored Women of the South.

The saying that in union is strength is as old as the world, but the world has been a long time finding out how true it is. Among those in whom the genius of co-operation and united effort at length begins to move and thrill are the colored women of the south. This for them is the brightest sign of the future.

Some time ago negro farmers of Texas founded an improvement society, designed to foster thrift and scientific agriculture among their own people. Immediately the women of their race organized what is called the "Barnyard Auxiliary" of the Farmers' Improvement society. The object of the Barnyarders is distinctly and definitely to develop the live stock industry among colored women of the south. These earnest, brainy negro women finally understand and know that industrial training in the things they are doing, the business immediately under their noses, is what they need even more than literary and professional education.

Accordingly they will devote themselves to bee culture and to the rearing for market of poultry and domestic animals. Swine breeding will be included in their list, likewise dairying. First of all, they will make these industries pay—industries of which every one can be conducted at home. There the women will stay, not fooling after things they cannot reach, but cleaning up their barnyards, studying the science and art of poultry and pig raising, of beekeeping and dairying. They will bring the best products in these lines to market and then shrewdly claim the best price. The negro men will attend to the mules and crops. The homekeeping women will rear and improve the small live stock and put on sale choice butter and milk. Already this noble union of women has a membership of 2,500. They have bought 50,000 acres of land in different places and possess a united capital of $700,000.

Grilled haddock is a very tasty dish, but spoiled unless the fire is perfectly clear. First split a haddock open so that it will lie flat, wipe it thoroughly dry, smooth the flesh with a broad bladed knife, brush it over with oil and dredge dry flour over it. Broil upon a well greased gridiron, putting the skin side first to the fire; broil both sides, dish on a napkin.

COW IS A NUISANCE

Residents of Calcutta Road Complaining—Animal Will Be Disposed Of.

A cow owned by Mrs. Gothman, who resides on Calcutta road, a short distance above the Horn switch, has been causing much complaint on the part of the residents of the neighborhood, who insist that the animal is not properly cared for.

Humane Officer Miller made an investigation a few days ago, but was unable to find any cause for complaint. The cow is continually bawling, much to the annoyance of everybody in the community, and the mayor has been appealed to. Mrs. Gothman states that she proposes to dispose of the animal, and thus abate the nuisance.

A Kindly Joke.

Judge Braxfield, famous in England for his love for hanging criminals, when on circuit always put up near Perth with a crony who was devoted to chess. The laird had rather the better of his lordship at the game. In the revolution of the circuits Braxfield found himself trying his hospitable friend, who had got awkwardly mixed up in some abduction of cattle. The evidence was clear, the panel was convicted and the judge passed the solemn sentence of death. Then, bending down, he chuckled to the unfortunate prisoner—the accommodation in the provincial courts was cramped—"And now, Donald, my friend, I think I've checkmated you for once." But Braxfield delighted in a kindly joke.

"A"ND the kitchen?" I asked. My friend had been showing me all over her house.

"The kitchen? Oh, well, it's just like all other kitchens—uninteresting," she answered. And that is where she made a great mistake. The kitchen should not be uninteresting. It is not so to the good housekeeper. She takes more pride in its perfect appointments than she does in those of any other room in the house. Two results are inevitable—one, well cooked meals; the other, a contented servant, and, as a contented servant stays years in the same family, this is a result worth striving for. No servant likes to work in a place where nothing is convenient. "Deed I's done hustle from mawning till night, and dis ole place, hit jes' won't stay fixed!" my old colored servant complained after we had moved into our new house. I was astonished because the new kitchen is much larger than the old. Upon investigating, however, I found that no definite place had been provided for anything and that the cupboard and chest of drawers had been placed where they were most inconvenient to reach.

I first turned my attention to the sink. The space under it had been utilized for a closet, which was filled with a motley collection of old rags, blacking bottles, etc. I had the entire wooden structure torn away, leaving an open space where the sunlight and air could penetrate freely. The pipes were then painted the same color as the walls—a serviceable and cool shade of grayish green. Next I sent for a carpenter, and he built four cupboards. One he placed over the sink. Its shelves held ammonia, soap, washing soda, rubbing cloths, etc. The next two were over the stove. One contained pepper, salt, sugar, herbs, soup flavorings, etc., and the other the smaller utensils used in the actual cooking, such as basting fork and spoon, skewers and strainers. The fourth cupboard held the finer cooking dishes—the porcelain ware, for instance. Of course the commoner kitchen pots and pans found room in the lower half of the general closet, and the kitchen china, which was of the heavy blue and white kind, was placed in the upper half of the original cupboard, which had been fitted with a glass door. The lower half held the kitchen linen.

As it happened, the sink was placed right in the corner next to the pantry. I had a small window made in the partition so that the maid could pass the dishes through as soon as they were washed. This saves her many weary steps. A draining board was also fitted between the sink and this window. The pantry had been generously treated in the matter of closets, so there was little which could be improved. However, I placed there a duplicate of many of the commoner baking utensils, which was again a saving of time and steps. These little things count greatly in the long end. Right under the kitchen window, where the sun fell upon it, I placed a rack for wet cloths. Fresh air and sunshine are the two best disinfectants. It is a rule in my kitchen that the sink cloths shall never be allowed to hang over the faucets or to dry in dark corners.

In conclusion I want to say that my kitchen is considered a joy to the eye as well as a model of convenience. The sunlight streams through the blue and white sash curtains and dances over the spotless hard wood floor. A pot of red geraniums lends color to the smaller window, and a plump white cat dozes comfortably on the little blue and white rug in front of the table. In one corner stands a comfortable wicker rocker, where Debby can rest while she watches her baking.

Why shouldn't we consider the comfort of our servants when they work hard for us all day long?

AMERICAN SILK COCOONS.

Women Can Produce Them Profitably All Over This Country.

Why is it that women in country homes in the United States have never followed up the silkworm industry that began so promisingly among us at the time of the World's fair in 1893? The mulberry and mock orange, on which the worms thrive, grow all over the Union. A Japanese expert who examined some of the raw silk reeled from American grown cocoons pronounced it superior to much of that raised abroad. The rearing of the cocoons costs practically nothing but a moderate amount of time on the part of women and girls at home, yet there are still American silk manufacturers paying annually a million of money to foreign countries when it could be and ought to be paid to American women and girls. During our World's fair

SILK CULTURIST.

Miss Ellen A. Ford of The Irish World, New York, who was one of the women commissioners, investigated this matter of silk culture thoroughly, and there was exhibited from Utah a rare collection of home grown raw silk and cocoons, so that all who saw were convinced that the industry here would be a magnificent success. Yet it lapsed. Women went on just as before. Absolutely silk culture will pay well. Cannot some woman who has a little time and can afford to spend a few dollars take this matter in hand for the benefit of herself and woman's home industry?

ORGANIZED FARM WOMEN.

Agricultural Union Among Colored Women of the South.

The saying that in union is strength is as old as the world, but the world has been a long time finding out how true it is. Among those in whom the genius of co-operation and united effort at length begins to move and thrill are the colored women of the south. This for them is the brightest sign of the future.

Some time ago negro farmers of Texas founded an improvement society, designed to foster thrift and scientific agriculture among their own people. Immediately the women of their race organized what is called the "Barnyard Auxiliary" of the Farmers' Improvement society. The object of the Barnyarders is distinctly and definitely to develop the live stock industry among colored women of the south. These earnest, brainy negro women finally understand and know that industrial training in the things they are doing, the business immediately under their noses, is what they need even more than literary and professional education.

Accordingly they will devote themselves to bee culture and to the rearing for market of poultry and domestic animals. Swine breeding will be included in their list, likewise dairying. First of all, they will make these industries pay—industries of which every one can be conducted at home. There the women will stay, not fooling after things they cannot reach, but cleaning up their barnyards, studying the science and art of poultry and pig raising, of beekeeping and dairying. They will bring the best products in these lines to market and then shrewdly claim the best price. The negro men will attend to the mules and crops. The homekeeping women will rear and improve the small live stock and put on sale choice butter and milk. Already this noble union of women has a membership of 2,500. They have bought 50,000 acres of land in different places and possess a united capital of $700,000.

COW IS A NUISANCE

A cow owned by Mrs. Gothman, who resides on Calcutta road, a short distance above the Horn switch, has been causing much complaint on the part of the residents of the neighborhood, who insist that the animal is not properly cared for.

Humane Officer Miller made an investigation a few days ago, but was unable to find any cause for complaint. The cow is continually bawling, much to the annoyance of everybody in the community, and the mayor has been appealed to. Mrs. Gothman states that she proposes to dispose of the animal, and thus abate the nuisance.

A Kindly Joke.

Judge Braxfield, famous in England for his love for hanging criminals, when on circuit always put up near Perth with a crony who was devoted to chess. The laird had rather the better of his lordship at the game. In the revolution of the circuits Braxfield found himself trying his hospitable friend, who had got awkwardly mixed up in some abduction of cattle. The evidence was clear, the panel was convicted and the judge passed the solemn sentence of death. Then, bending down, he chuckled to the unfortunate prisoner—the accommodation in the provincial courts was cramped—"And now, Donald, my friend, I think I've checkmated you for once." But Braxfield delighted in a kindly joke.

Comencement Exercises of Catholic University Held
at Washington.
$900,000 TRUST FUNDS.

Washington, June 6.—The com-encement exercises of the Catholic University of America were held, with Cardinal Martinelli, the German and Mexican ambassadors and the Japanese minister among the large and distinguished gathering present.
In his address the rector of the university, Rt. Rev. Monsignor Conaty, announced that the trust funds of the institution amounted to $900,000 and were safely invested. One of the gifts of the year was $50,000 from Michael Cudahy, of Chicago, who placed this sum in the hands of the university for general university purposes. Deeds given by the late Monsignor McMahon will yield the university from $25,000 to $30,000. Besides these amounts, three scholarships of $5,000 each were established.
Cardinal Martinelli presented the diplomas to the large class of graduates and later the Cardinal and other notables held a reception.

AMERICAN GIRL RECEIVED.
Baroness Von Ketteler Responded to Emperor William's Invitation—Accompanied by Mother-in-Law.

Berlin, June 6.—The correspondent of the Associated Press learns that Emperor William's reception of Baroness von Ketteler, who was accompanied by her mother-in-law, was kind. His majesty listened with interest to the recital of the widow's orowful experiences during the siege of Pekin, also to her account of Baron von Ketteler's death. The empress, who was present at the audience, often interrupted with questions, evincing the highest regard for the widow's courage and subsequent nursing of the sick and wounded. Her majesty, at the emperor's request, named the insignia of the highest class of the Louise order to the widow's breast.

In the evening the two baronesses dined with the emperor and empress.
The baronesses are the guests of Emperor William. They will dine tomorrow with the Duchess of Albany and may return to the Ketteler states near Munster, Westphalia, tomorrow, whence, soon afterwards, they will go to a watering place. The widow has not yet recovered from the attack of nervous prostration from which she has been suffering.
Both ladies arrived at Potsdam without anybody, even the officials of the United States embassy, being informed of their visit. They will leave the new palace direct for home without stopping in Berlin. Emperor William's invitation to the two baronesses was contained in a letter reached in the most sympathetic language.

The widow was formerly Miss Maud Ledyard, of Detroit, Mich.

Birmingham Chamber of Commerce
Said Government Should Look Into Matter.

Birmingham, June 6.—The chamber of commerce devoted a special meeting to a discussion of American trusts and adopted, after a long debate, a resolution declaring that the earnest attention of the government should be given without delay to the best means of guarding British trade and commerce against injury from American trusts, both from a national and commercial aspect.
R. P. Yates, in proposing the resolution, emphasized the menace to Great Britain in the efforts of the United States to command the carrying trade of the world.
Imperial protection was advocated by some of those present as a remedy.

CHANCE FOR TILLMAN.
McLaurin Offers to Resign If Tillman
Will Unconditionally.

Columbia, S. C., June 6.—With the governor's last "word" at Senator Tillman and the withdrawal of the senator's resignation all would seem to be over, but last night Senator McLaurin, after speaking very bitterly of the senator, made the declaration that if Tillman will now tender to the governor the unconditional surrender of his office he (Mc-Laurin) would consider this a direct challenge to him and would likewise resign and enter into the contest for Tillman's place.
Senator Tillman, protesting against the governor's right to reject the senator's resignation, last night withdrew his resignation. Governor McLaurin, in his letter, told Tillman if he would resign unconditionally he would accept it.

A FIRE AT PEKIN.
Three Buildings Burned—Providential
Rain Saved Forbidden City.

Pekin, June 6.—Lightning struck a building inside the gate of the American legation. Three buildings were burned.
The American and Japanese guards did all possible to prevent a spread of the flames.
A heavy rain saved the forbidden city. One of the buildings burned was a library, containing many valuable manuscripts and numerous historical records of the dynasty.

The NEW WOMAN

By Eliza Archard Conner.

JUST now Mrs. Ann Hamilton is struggling to fathom the meaning, if not the meanness, of life.
She was a widow when she married Hamilton, he a bachelor. She was keeping boarders and laying up money, Hamilton being one of her lodgers. He had scarcely enough to pay his board and was laying up not a cent. He was a good sort of man, however, and so soon as she was his wife and he had her to plan for him and furnish capital for him to do business on he became successful. They were quite happy and harmonious. She was ambitious that they should be well to do in their old age. So she generously told Hamilton he need not even pay her any more board after they were married, but should put his money into "the business," she supporting him and herself and giving him more capital from her lodging house enterprise. So it went on 17 years. By that time Hamilton was worth $25,000, all made from capital his wife had earned and furnished to him. But he put it into his own name, take notice, with that chivalrous generosity characteristic of the masculine sex. Then, having finished things, he lay down and died. He left no will, only a scrap of paper saying he owed his wife a 17 years' board bill.
That was not worth a spring poem in the court. When Mrs. Hamilton went to claim her money, some relatives whom she had never seen came and took it from her, and the court decided it was theirs. Next time she marries she will know what not to do.

It is for the development of the individual soul that we are born into this world. If the individual character is not developed in a woman, she is no better off than a horse or a cow. Consider carefully and earnestly what are your own particular talents, your own convictions of right and justice, and do what you think best. If you are wrong, you will suffer for it and learn thereby. If you are right, you will have grown and cultivated a new flower for eternity. Do not take up a fad merely for the sake of posing or seeming different from others or of attracting attention to yourself, for that is despicable. But consider in all seriousness what you yourself would rather do and be; then go and do and be it.

Women, don't live in your affections and don't live in the past. There never was a past so good that there was not a still better future.

There is in London an actresses' fencing club which is exceedingly well patronized and which is doing wonders for its members in the way of adding to their strength and gracefulness.

When a miserly old curmudgeon who never lets his wife have a cent of her own falls into a well and the wife lets down the bucket to him and draws him up in safety, she deserves great credit, does she not?

Fashionable ladies burn sandalwood in their rooms to drive away mosquitoes. The pennyroyal our great-grandmothers burned for the same purpose is quite as effective, smells nearly as good and costs next to nothing.

A certain woman in Fayette, Mo., is 100 years old, and she has never been on a railway car, though trains pass her town daily. She is afraid of them.
Is it worth while to live a century if one does not know any more than that at the end?

In all the years women have had suffrage in Colorado only one fraudulent voter has ever been found among them.
Probably opponents would say women have not sense enough to cheat in voting.

Mrs. Lillian R. Pardee, formerly active in politics in Utah, is now in New York city in charge of a woman's life insurance department connected with one of the leading companies of the country. Mrs. Pardee is an able, conscientious woman, and her prospects for success are bright, even though she has left a state where she could vote for an old fogey one where a wife's earnings still belong to her husband.

In the towns and villages of New York state women taxpayers may now vote on all questions for raising money by a tax levy. They have the same right in Louisiana.

Mrs. Hetty Green believes it is the duty of every woman to manage her own business affairs. She says: "What man has done woman can do. If I had let other people manage my business for me, I most likely wouldn't have any business to do now."

Mrs. Cyrus J. McCormick has given $20,000 to build a girls' dormitory for a Tennessee college. Miss Louise Loeb won the oratorical contest among the students of Wisconsin university, which entitled her to represent that university at the intercollegiate oratorical contest. Society women of Boston are training in athletics. Let the good work go on.

Before the Pennsylvania Railroad used Walker's Soap, newly varnished cars were found to be shabby and need re-varnishing. The cause was a mystery till the company's chemist investigated and found it was the alkali in common soaps that was destroying property. A standard of soap purity was then set up, and now the cars are washed with

THE THEATER
It is a foregone conclusion nowadays that any novel which attains extraordinary popularity will find its way to the stage. When "David Harum" was the sensation of the hour, it was announced that the stage rights of the story had been secured by Charles Frohman and that that manager had engaged William H. Crane to star in the piece. There were many misgivings as to the possibility of making a successful play from a story which was so thoroughly a character sketch. Then, too, many there were who, while admiring Mr. Crane as a comedian of the ordinary type, felt convinced that he would make a failure of the role of the bucolic David Harum. But neither thing came to pass. Mr. Crane was generally voted excellent in the part, and the book had made so many friends that "David Harum" was nearly always attended by large crowds who went to the theater determined to be pleased.
Now Irving Bacheller's "Eben Holden," which by many persons has been condemned as a steal from "David Harum," despite the fact that the greater portion of the story was written before Mr. Westcott had ever determined to attempt to create a new fiction character in David Harum, has been dramatized and will be presented next season with E. M. Holland as the star. Mr. Holland is the actor whom nearly every one thought would be selected for David Harum, and there was universal surprise when the choice fell upon Mr. Crane. "Eben Holden" is said to have had a larger sale than "David Harum," and, assuming that the dramatization is even measurably good, there would seem to be no reason why it should not succeed with Mr.
Holland in the title role.

Julia Marlowe bids fair to make the season's record at the Criterion theater

JULIA MARLOWE.
with Paul Kester's dramatization of Charles Major's novel, "When Knighthood Was In Flower."

Opinions vary as to the precise quality of Miss Marlowe's ability. While for many years she was closely identified with tragedy and won for herself an enviable position in that branch of theatrical effort, there are those who aver that she is even more at home in high comedy. Some of her admirers even go to the length of saying that she is at her best in the light comedy roles of romantic melodrama, of which Mary Tudor in "When Knighthood Was In Flower" is a fair type.

As a fact, Miss Marlowe seems to be equally good in every style of work which she has essayed, and if we eliminate a single name—that of Minnie Madden Fiske—the statement that Julia Marlowe is the greatest actress in America may be made with no fear of contradiction—not a bad position, when one comes to think of it, to be occupied by a young woman who, starting as a member of a child's "Pinafore" company, has successfully invaded and conquered nearly every field of theatrical effort.

The copartnership or syndicate or whatever you may call it, which is generally spoken of by its enemies as the "trust," is popularly supposed to be composed of exceptionally shrewd individuals. Certain it is that these men have managed to make it next to impossible for an aspiring star to succeed unless he be willing to play those towns which the syndicate considers beneath its contempt. But it is possible that the syndicate does not realize the extent or appreciate the import of the present development of the "summer stock." If it did, it would reflect that to transform a summer stock into a permanent stock nothing more is necessary than the making of new arrangements with the players. Then, too, it should be borne in mind that a company giving a new play each week in broiling weather, when it is simply impossible for the people to put their best into their work, must be a pretty good organization if it succeeds in making a favorable impression upon the townspeople. And when an actor becomes a "local favorite" his or her popularity in that particular "burgh" goes a long way toward making the success of the company.

If the syndicate is ever to be destroyed, it must be through the effect upon its business of these selfsame local stock companies. The efforts, too, of independent people of ability like Mr. and Mrs. Fiske are certain to hasten the disintegration of this dimsy structure, built upon sand, which needs but a touch from a brave hand to send it tumbling to the gutter.

Trifling With Charon.
Just as Charon was about to make him in the ribs.

"If it isn't too much trouble," said the latter, "I wish you would put me "But you are from St. Louis," protested Charon. "Wouldn't you feel out

"No, indeed. I always feel at home

Thereupon the ancient ferryman toss-

City, Mich., by overwork and too assiduous attention to his business, brought on an attack of

"On the recommendation of Mr. Geo. Leyer, thanks to the use of Dr. A. W.

Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

SCHOOL FLOURISHES.
Comencement Exercises of Catholic University Held
at Washington.
$900,000 TRUST FOUNDS.

Washington, June 6.—The commencement exercises of the Catholic University of America were held, with Cardinal Martinelli, the German and Mexican ambassadors and the Japanese minister among the large and distinguished gathering present.
In his address the rector of the university, Rt. Rev. Monsignor Conaty, announced that the trust funds of the institution amounted to $900,000 and were safely invested. One of the gifts of the year was $50,000 from Michael Cudahy, who placed this sum in the hands of the rector for general university purposes. Deeds given by the late Monsignor McMahon will yield the university from $25,000 to $30,000. Besides these amounts, three scholarships of $5,000 each were established. Cardinal Martinelli presented the diplomas to the large class of graduates and later the Cardinal and other notables held a reception.

AMERICAN GIRL RECEIVED.
Baroness Von Ketteler Responded to Emperor William's Invitation—Accompanied by Mother-in-Law.

Berlin, June 6.—The correspondent of the Associated Press learns that Baroness von Ketteler's reception of Emperor William's reception of Baroness von Ketteler, who was accompanied by her mother-in-law, was grand. His majesty listened with interest to the recital of the widow's sorrowful experiences during the siege of Peking, also to her account of Baron von Ketteler's death. The empress, who was present at the audience, often interrupted with questions, evincing the highest regard for the widow's courage and subsequent nursing of the sick and wounded. Her majesty, at the emperor's request, signed the insignia of the highest class of the Louise order to the widow's breast.
In the evening the two baronesses dined with the emperor and empress. The baronesses are the guests of Emperor William. They will dine today probably with the Duchess of Albany and may return to the Ketteler states near Munster, Westphalia, tomorrow, whence soon afterwards they will go to a watering place. The widow has not yet recovered from the attack of nervous prostration from which she has been suffering. Both ladies arrived at Potsdam without anybody, even the officials of the United States embassy, being informed of their visit. They will leave by a new palace direct for home without stopping in Berlin. Emperor William's invitation to the two baronesses was contained in a letter couched in the most sympathetic language.

The widow was formerly Miss Maud Edyard, of Detroit, Mich.

Birmingham Chamber of Commerce
Said Government Should Look Into Matter.

Birmingham, June 6.—The chamber of commerce devoted a special meeting to a discussion of American trusts adopted, after a long debate, a resolution declaring that the earnest attention of the government should be given without delay to the best means of guarding British trade and commerce against injury from American trusts, both from a national and commercial aspect.
R. P. Yates, in proposing the resolution, emphasized the menace to Great Britain in the efforts of the United States to command the carrying trade of the world.
Imperial protection was advocated by some of those present as a remedy.

CHANCE FOR TILLMAN.
Laurin Offers to Resign if Tillman Will Unconditionally.

Columbia, S. C., June 6.—With the venerable last "word" at Senator Laurin and the withdrawal of the senator's resignation all would seem to be over, but last night Senator Laurin, after speaking very bitterly of the senator's resignation, made the declaration that if Tillman will now order to the governor the unconditional surrender of his office he (Laurin) would consider this a direct alliance to him and would likewise sign and enter into the contest for Senator Tillman, protesting against the governor's right to reject the senator's resignation, last night Sweeney, in his letter, told Tillman if he would resign unconditionally he would accept it.

A FIRE AT PEKIN.
Three Buildings Burned—Provisional Rain Saved Forbidden City.

Peking, June 6.—Lightning struck a building inside the gate of the Forbidden City. Three buildings were burned. American and Japanese guards tried to prevent a spread of the flames.
A heavy rain saved the forbidden city. One of the buildings burned is a library, containing many valuable manuscripts and numerous historical records of the dynasty.

The NEW WOMAN

By Eliza Archard Conner.

UST now Mrs. Ann Hamilton is struggling to fathom the meaning, if not the meanness, of life. She was a widow when she married Hamilton, he a bachelor. She was keeping boarders and laying up money, Hamilton being one of her lodgers. He had scarcely enough to pay his board and was laying up not a cent. He was a good sort of man, however, and so soon as she was his wife and he had her to plan for him and furnish capital for him to do business on he became successful. They were quite happy and harmonious. She was ambitious that they should be well to do in their old age. So she generously told Hamilton he need not even pay her any more board after they were married, but should put his money into "the business," she supporting him and herself and giving him more capital from her lodging house enterprise. So it went on 17 years. By that time Hamilton was worth $25,000, all made from capital his wife had earned and furnished to him. But he put it into his own name, take notice, with that chivalrous generosity characteristic of the masculine sex. Then, having finished things, he lay down and died. He left no will, only a scrap of paper saying he owed his wife a 17 years' board bill. That was not worth a spring poem in the court. When Mrs. Hamilton went to claim her money, some relatives whom she had never seen came and took it from her, and the court decided it was theirs. Next time she marries she will know what not to do.

It is for the development of the individual soul that we are born into this world. If the individual character is not developed in a woman, she is no better off than a horse or a cow. Consider carefully and earnestly what are your own particular talents, your own convictions of right and justice, and do what you think best. If you are wrong, you will suffer for it and learn thereby. If you are right, you will have grown and cultivated a new flower for eternity. Do not take up a fad merely for the sake of posing or seeming different from others or of attracting attention to yourself, for that is despicable. But consider in all seriousness what you yourself would rather do and be; then go and do and be it.

Women, don't live in your affections and don't live in the past. There never was a past so good that there was not a still better future.

There is in London an actresses' fencing club which is exceedingly well patronized and which is doing wonders for its members in the way of adding to their strength and gracefulness.

When a miserly old curmudgeon who never lets his wife have a cent of her own falls into a well and the wife lets down the bucket to him and draws him up in safety, she deserves great credit, does she not?

Fashionable ladies burn sandalwood in their rooms to drive away mosquitoes. The pennyroyal our great-grandmothers burned for the same purpose is quite as effective, smells nearly as good and costs next to nothing.

A certain woman in Fayette, Mo., is 100 years old, and she has never been on a railway car, though trains pass her town daily. She is afraid of them. Is it worth while to live a century if one does not know any more than that at the end?

In all the years women have had suffrage in Colorado only one fraudulent voter has ever been found among them. Probably opponents would say women have not sense enough to cheat in voting.

Mrs. Lillian R. Pardee, formerly active in politics in Utah, is now in New York city in charge of a woman's life insurance department connected with one of the leading companies of the country. Mrs. Pardee is an able, conscientious woman, and her prospects for success are bright, even though she has left a state where she could vote for an old fogey one where a wife's earnings still belong to her husband.

In the towns and villages of New York state women taxpayers may now vote on all questions for raising money by a tax levy. They have the same right in Louisiana.

Mrs. Hetty Green believes it is the duty of every woman to manage her own business affairs. She says: "What man has done woman can do. If I had let other people manage my business for me, I most likely wouldn't have any business to do now."

Mrs. Cyrus J. McCormick has given $20,000 to build a girls' dormitory for a Tennessee college. Miss Louise Loeb won the oratorical contest among the students of Wisconsin university, which entitled her to represent that university at the intercollegiate oratorical contest. Society women of Boston are training in athletics. Let the good work go on.

The Greatest Railroad in the World

uses Walker's Soap because it is free from alkali and saves the company thousands of dollars in a year in preserving paint, varnish, and fabrics washed with it. Before the Pennsylvania Railroad used Walker's Soap, newly varnished cars were found to be shabby and need re-varnishing. The cause was a mystery till the company's chemist investigated and found it was the alkali in common soaps that was destroying property. A standard of soap purity was then set up, and now the cars are washed with Many housekeepers find paint and varnish washing off or losing its glossy surface. Blame the soap you use. Get Walker's Soap and be as wise as the Pennsylvania Railroad. Look for the game rooster on the wrapper and you will know you have the genuine.

THE THEATER

It is a foregone conclusion nowadays that any novel which attains extraordinary popularity will find its way to the stage. When "David Harum" was the sensation of the hour, it was announced that the stage rights of the story had been secured by Charles Frohman and that that manager had engaged William H. Crane to star in the piece. There were many misgivings as to the possibility of making a successful play from a story which was so thoroughly a character sketch. Then, too, many there were who, while admiring Mr. Crane as a comedian of the ordinary type, felt convinced that he would make a failure of the role of the bucolic David Harum. But neither thing came to pass. Mr. Crane was generally voted excellent in the part, and the book had made so many friends that "David Harum" was nearly always attended by large crowds who went to the theater determined to be pleased.

Now Irving Bacheller's "Eben Holden," which by many persons has been condemned as a steal from "David Harum," despite the fact that the greater portion of the story was written before Mr. Westcott had ever determined to attempt to create a new fiction character in David Harum, has been dramatized and will be presented next season with E. M. Holland as the star. Mr. Holland is the actor whom nearly every one thought would be selected for David Harum, and there was universal surprise when the choice fell upon Mr. Crane. "Eben Holden" is said to have had a larger sale than "David Harum," and, assuming that the dramatization is even measurably good, there would seem to be no reason why it should not succeed with Mr. Holland in the title role.

with Paul Kester's dramatization of Charles Major's novel, "When Knighthood Was In Flower." Opinions vary as to the precise quality of Miss Marlowe's ability. While for many years she was closely identified with tragedy and won for herself an enviable position in that branch of theatrical effort, there are those who aver that she is even more at home in high comedy. Some of her admirers even go to the length of saying that she is at her best in the light comedy roles of romantic melodrama, of which Mary Tudor in "When Knighthood Was In Flower" is a fair type.

As a fact, Miss Marlowe seems to be equally good in every style of work which she has essayed, and if we eliminate a single name—that of Minnie Maddern Fiske—the statement that Julia Marlowe is the greatest actress in America may be made with no fear of contradiction—not a bad position, when one comes to think of it, to be occupied by a young woman who, starting as a member of a child's "Pinafore" company, has successfully invaded and conquered nearly every field of theatrical effort.

The copartnership or syndicate or whatever you may call it, which is generally spoken of by its enemies as the "trust," is popularly supposed to be composed of exceptionally shrewd individuals. Certain it is that these men have managed to make it next to impossible for an aspiring star to succeed unless he be willing to play those towns which the syndicate considers beneath its contempt. But it is possible that the syndicate does not realize the extent or appreciate the import of the present development of the "summer stock." If it did, it would reflect that to transform a summer stock into a permanent stock nothing more is necessary than the making of new arrangements with the players. Then, too, it should be borne in mind that a company giving a new play each week in broiling weather, when it is simply impossible for the people to put their best into their work, must be a pretty good organization if it succeeds in making a favorable impression upon the townspeople. And when an actor becomes a "local favorite" his or her popularity in that particular "burgh" goes a long way toward making the success of the company.

If the syndicate is ever to be destroyed, it must be through the effect upon its business of these selfsame local stock companies. The efforts, too, of independent people of ability like Mr. and Mrs. Fiske are certain to hasten the disintegration of this flimsy structure, bulged upon sand, which needs but a touch from a brave hand to send it tumbling to the gutter.

Trifling With Charon.
Just as Charon was about to make the ferry slip the ex-distiller nudged him in the ribs.
"If it isn't too much trouble," said the latter, "I wish you would put me with the arrivals from Boston."
"But you are from St. Louis," protested Charon. "Wouldn't you feel out of place among so much culture?"
"No, indeed. I always feel at home in the midst of refined spirits."
Thereupon the ancient ferryman tossed the ex-distiller in the Styx.—Chicago News.

WITH THEIR DINNER PAILS

High School Graduates Applied for Work in a Stone Quarry at Marion, O.

Marion, June 6.—The foreman at the large Norris & Christian stone quarries in this city was surprised Monday morning when 14 well known young men of the city, all graduates of the local high school, made their appearance before him and asked for work in the quarries.

The boys had graduated Friday night of the previous week, and were admonished by the gentleman who made the class address to go to work. They accepted this advice literally and each with a dinner pail in hand and dressed for the rough work of the quarries, made application for positions. An accident at the quarries kept them from obtaining immediate employment.

W. Watson, which gave me immediate relief, and I afterward bought a fifty cent bottle, which I can truthfully say gave me more relief than anything I have ever tried.—R. B. Hurd. Expert on Edison's New Battery. Commenting editorially upon Edison's new storage battery, The Electrical Review says:

"Mr. Edison has produced no invention of broader utility in the electrical field since incandescent lighting was evolved from the busy brain of the same pioneer of industry. It is hard to foresee all the meaning of this improvement, but we may look a little way and see the noiseless city, the suppression of the horse and the automobile a factor of economic importance in general transportation. The perfected battery means the solution of many difficult traction problems, the betterment of electric lighting and the foundation of the new art of electric navigation. Electric tugboats will give new life to our canals and, with electric ferryboats, will revolutionize our harbors. Electric torpedo boats of swiftness and secrecy will make present naval armaments of doubtful protection. The invention gives electricity a new foothold in its career of industrial conquest."

His Accent.

One day Lord Morris was sitting at the Four Courts as lord chief justice of Ireland when a young barrister from the north rose nervously to make his first motion. The judge had declared that no one listening to himself would ever take him for anything but an Irishman, which was perfectly correct. But Galway could not understand Antrim. The lord chief justice leaned over to the associate where the barrister hailed from.

"County Antrim," was the response. Then asked his lordship of the official, "Did ye ever come across such a frightful accent in the course of yer loife?"

Parrots.

Some parrots are very quick in acquiring words and are generally fond of displaying these new acquisitions, but occasionally a bird will be profoundly silent until the teacher despairs of her mastering a certain phrase or word; then all at once and unexpectedly the "scholar" will repeat her lesson.

WOMAN SUPERINTENDENT

Schools of Roscoe Claim to Have the Only One in Ohio.

Coshocton, June 6.—During the coming school year a young woman will preside over the Roscoe schools as superintendent. She takes the place of Prof. Orr, who goes to the seminary at Poland as president.

The fortunate young woman is Miss Myrtle Young, who will graduate in a few weeks from the university at Delaware. She graduated from Wooster university several years ago, and taught one year in Roscoe, where she has many friends. Miss Young's home is in North Lawrence, O., and she is highly educated and cultured. Her course in Delaware covered English literature and philosophy. Roscoe has never before had a lady superintendent, and Miss Young is probably the only one in Ohio.

Mr. Douds and John Blevins were the closest of friends, and the former spent more than an hour in the treasurer's office the night Blevins was killed, but left some time before that official was murdered.

17TH YEAR. NO. 305.

PITTSBURG CAPITALISTS WILL MEET BOARD OF TRADE

Will Be Present at the Meeting Tonight at the City Building.

THEIR VISIT HERE IMPORTANT

Have a Proposition to Submit Which May Mean Much to the City.

For the Purchase of 50 Acres of Land
in the East End for a Site for a Cotton Factory—Massachusetts
Firm May Locate Here.

E. J. Brooks, representing a large cotton industry at Fall River, Mass., was in the city yesterday on a very important business mission, which
may eventually result in another industry for East Liverpool. Although
Mr. Brooks did not close any deal while in the city, it is understood he will make a return visit in the near future.

While here Mr. Brooks entered into negotiations with a number of East End parties for the purchase of 50
acres of land. It is the intention of the company he represents to establish a branch factory in this state, and after having visited Columbus, Cincinnati and several other Ohio cities, Mr.
Brooks came here. It was learned from one of the gentlemen whom he
met here that he was more favorably impressed with East Liverpool than
any city he had visited.

For reasons that are not made known the real consideration of Mr.
Brooks' visit to this city is being kept secret. It is known, however, that he did not close any deal for the land he
is negotiating for, but it is positively asserted that there are good reasons
to believe the purchase will be made.
From an officer of the board of trade it was learned that Mr. Brooks asked no bonus from the city for a site for the contemplated factory. His company expects to not only pay for the land, but to bear the expense of erecting the
necessary buildings.

Secretary Travis, of the board of trade, was asked whether or not there was a proposition from Mr. Brooks to be submitted at the meeting of the board tonight, but he declined to say.
He did state, however, that there would be two Pittsburg capitalists at
the meeting who had a proposition to bring before the board which was of
greater importance than anything Mr.
Brooks had to offer. When asked to state the nature of the proposition, Mr. Travis said he had not been authorized to do so.

The meeting of the board, which will be held at the city hall, is set for 8 o'clock, and it depends solely on the attendance whether or not any further effort will be made by the board
officials to promote the city's interests in the way of inducing the institution of new industries. It is a matter of great importance, and all enterprising citizens should be present.

MISSING FROM HOME

ROCHESTER MAN HAS BEEN AB-SENT FOR SEVEN WEEKS.

Chief Thompson Asked to Assist in Locating Him—Doings at Police Headquarters.

Once again the city jail is vacant.
Lou Hutton, who was fined $25 and
costs for keeping a disorderly house,
succeeded in raising the amount and
was released last evening. Cora Hutton, who was fined $2 and costs for loitering in a disorderly house, also
paid up and was given her liberty.
William Wagner, arrested for drunkenness, also paid his fine of $1 and costs.

Frank Ward, Frank Johnston, Ollie
Jackson, Joseph Deacon, Earl Pinker-
ton and Columbus Brannon, the boys who were arrested yesterday by Officer John Spence for playing ball in the streets in the East End, appearing before Mayor Davidson last even-
ing. They were given a thorough lecturing and fined 95 cents each. They promised to quit using the streets for play grounds.

A communication was received by Chief Thompson this morning from
A. N. Denny, a groceryman of New Brighton, asking the chief to assist him in locating Frank Fisher, who is thought to have come to this city.

seven weeks ago, stating that he was going to East Liverpool to look for work.
Since his departure from home noth-
and several children were left behind
with no means of support, and Denny claims that Fisher owes him $80.
Chief Thompson is looking for the
man. He was employed at the Rochester tumbler works until it burned.
John S. Ritz, chief of police of Wheeling, has offered a reward of $50
to the person who informs him of the present whereabouts of Mrs. Mary Grogan, who is missing from her home at Wheeling. Chief Thompson is in receipt of a card giving a description of the woman. She is 48 years of age.
She left home on April 23 and no trace of her has since been found.

CHAUNCEY HARPER, A MINER, RE-LIEVED OF $93.40.

A Companion Is Suspected And a Warrant Is Issued for His Arrest.

While on his way from Darlington
to Cannelton in company with Robert
and David Pierce, Tuesday evening, Chauncey Harper was robbed of $93.40.

Harper is a coal digger and is employed in a mine near Cannelton,
where he has worked for a long time.
He is an industrious fellow and saved
his money. Tuesday he took a holiday and made the trip to Darlington with
the Pierces, taking his money with him in the hope that he might be able
to purchase a house.

In Darlington he had occasion to
use some of the money, which he carried in his hip pocket, and it was all right at that time. When he reached home the cash was missing.

From the actions of Bob Pierce
during the return trip Harper was inclined to the belief that he had taken the money, but concluded to wait until he had more conclusive
proof. Pierce remained at home Tuesday night and yesterday morning set out on foot for this city. Harper at once informed his uncle, William McCoy, of Pierce's absence and
they secured a rig and followed, arriving here at 10 o'clock this morning.
The men had an interview with Mayor Davidson, who informed them he could do nothing since the offense
was committed in Pennsylvania.

Soon after leaving city hall the two men saw Pierce and a man named Craven on the street, and without losing any time arranged with several
parties to keep them in sight while they went to Smith's Ferry and secured a warrant.

They boarded an East Liverpool car
at the city hall, intending to walk
the remainder of the distance.

Young Harper told a News Review
reporter that the money represented
the earnings of several months, and
he could ill afford to lose it.

His money consisted of four $20
bills, two $5 notes and three $1 bills
and the remainder in small change.
McCoy and Harper are expected to return from Pennsylvania this even-
be taken, as he is aware that he is suspected.

ester. Mr. Heacock is engaged in bus-

SERIOUS SMASH OF FREIGHT CARS

Sudden Application of Brakes Threw Two From the Track
and Wrecked Others.

In the East End Resulted in Damage
to a Dozen Cars—Morning Passenger Trains Delayed Two Hours, Causing Much Inconvenience.

A serious wreck occurred near Ras-ton's crossing at about 5 o'clock this morning.

Freight train No. 89, west bound,
was slowing up for the stop at East Liverpool. The engineer applied the air brake with the result that the two box cars next to the eight cars
affected by the air brakes were thrown clear of the track and dumped
into the hollow below, and about 10 other cars were stoved in, one steel car telescoping a coal car a distance of about six feet.

The box cars will be entirely useless, having been smashed almost in-
to kindling wood and the other cars
damaged will require considerable repairing before they can be used again.

The two box cars thrown off the track were empty and were evidently
very old cars. All the other cars damaged were coal flats, except one new steel car. The train carried about 90 cars and when the wreck occurred
was moving very slowly.

No one was hurt in the accident, and
it is not thought that any fault can
be found with the action of the engineer, as wrecks frequently occur as
a result of the application of air
brakes when the train is unusually large, as was the case here, and especially when going down grade.

The 8 o'clock passenger train, west bound, was delayed about two hours
at the East End, causing a great deal
of inconvenience to the passengers,
especially the traveling salesmen who
were scheduled to cover a certain amount of territory every week. Some inconvenience was also caused also
on account of delaying the mails. The east bound passenger train was also delayed until about 10 o'clock this morning, by which time the last vestige of the wreck had been removed and traffic resumed in full.

A large crowd gathered at the scene of the wreck and watched the crew remove the damaged cars.

Awarded to Frank Ross, Who Sued a Coal Company for $10,000—Lisbon
Merchant Assigns—Other Matters
Before the County Courts.

Lisbon, June 6.—(Special.)—Drunk-ness and neglect were the charges made by two wives against their husbands in court today. Both want divorces. Mrs. Maggie Deakin, of East Liverpool, filed a petition against James Deakin, of that city. They were married in Anchor in May, 1894, and have one daughter. Mrs. Deakin says her husband's drunkenness and
general misconduct have become unendurable and that she has been compelled to leave him and to rely upon
the charity of friends and her own exertions to gain a living for herself
and child. She says Deakin owns lot
paid $200 of her own earnings toward paying for it. She wants reasonable alimony. She also asks the custody of her child and the restoration of her maiden name. Attorney G. Y. Travis
filed the action.

Mrs. Catherine Seker, of Salineville,
filed a petition against Henry C. Se-ker, of Pittsburg. They were married in Pittsburg in February, 1895,
and the wife says she has been neglected almost ever since. She has been compelled to rely upon friends
for her support and she asks to be divorced and have her maiden name restored.

Joseph Hughes, of Salem, claims
that his wife, Kittie, has been leading
an immoral life and he wants the court
to rid him of her. Hughes is a clerk of the American Steel and Wire company, and states that he found her hugging and kissing another man. Kittie denies the charge.

Frank Ross, of Wellsville, got a verdict against the Ohio & Pennsylvania Coal company for $900 for personal injuries received at the company's mines at Salineville. He sued for $10, 000.

The will of the late John Fronk, of Unity township, was admitted to probate today. Mrs. Melissa Fronk is named as executor.

Clement L. Vallandigham, of Lisbon,
and Miss Mattie A. Longbottom, of Washington, have been granted a license and will be married here today by Rev. George Fowler, of the Christian church. Licenses have also been issued to Elmer Stanyard, of Westville, and Laura Weaver, of Salem; Geo. L. Welsh and Martha Det-
chon, of East Fairfield; George Thomas McNish and Ida Myrtle Fox, of East Liverpool.

Stephen Keith, who runs a general store in Lisbon, has filed a deed of assignment in probate court, naming Judge J. G. Moore and W. H. Hepburn as assignees. The property assigned consists of the entire stock in
his store, two lots in Canton and 15 acres of land in Stark county. No estimate has yet been made of assets
and liabilities. It is thought the latter will reach $2,000.

Venture.

Lisbon, June 6.—(Special.)—The
case of Albert W. Corns vs. Wm. T.
Burton, of East Liverpool, is being tried today. The action is most complicated. It involves the adjustment
of business difficulties existing between the two since January, 1895.
At that time Corns claims Burton
induced him to give up a $1,000 position and buy out his one-half interest in the firm of Burton & Williams, manufacturers of door knobs.

Corns agreed to pay $800 and to assume, as part consideration, Burton's share of the indebtedness, which he said was $528.66. By the agreement
he was to receive Burton's interest in $145, in the bank. Corns says he relied on Burton's statements, but found later that the defendant had
falsely and fraudulently deceived him,
as the firm was $1,432.61 in debt and Burton owned only a one third interest in the firm. Burton, he claims, also represented that the knobs manufactured by the firm commanded a higher price than they really did and that the firm had an established trade. He also claims that Burton drew from the bank $72 of the deposit. Corns wants $3,000 damages.

The Veteran's Remains Laid to Rest With Military And Masonic Honors.

The remains of the late Major William Monaghan arrived at Wellsville this morning from Cleveland. They were accompanied by Mrs. Monaghan; William, a son, and three daughters,
all of Cleveland. Captain T. H. Dowling, an old comrade, together with J.
B. Parsons, W. T. Robbins, H. E. Morrison and A. B. Foster, the latter being the Ohio grand commander of the Knights Templar, also accompanied
the body.

At the depot the funeral party was met by Pilgrim commandery, Knights Templar, of East Liverpool, about 30
in number, who led the cortege to the cemetery, the following members of the order acting as pall-bearers: W.
H. Deitrick, H. J. Windram, Frank Alabough, J. H. Simms, John Stam and John Vodrey. Ritualistic services were held at the grave, after which the remains were laid to rest.

General J. W. Riley, of Wellsville,
who was commander of the regiment
in the Civil war in which Major Monaghan served, was present at the grave
to do homage to his departed comrade.

THOROUGHLY ENJOYED

Odd Fellow's Picnic at Rock Springs Was a Success in Every Detail.

The Odd Fellows' picnic at Rock Springs yesterday was largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed by every one present. A large delegation from Smith's Ferry turned out, and
many others from a distance were also in attendance. The day was spent in a manner that was productive of
genuine recreation and enjoyment, and the picnicers left the grounds hoping that they would soon again
have an opportunity of meeting under
the same conditions.

OLD CEMETERY SITE REVIVED

Council Will Be Asked to Donate
the Ground to the Association.

WORK TO COMMENCE AT ONCE

If the Site Is Secured—One Citizen
Will Give $1,000 if the Institution
Is Built There—Association to Meet Tonight.

In all probability the work of erecting a new hospital for East Liverpool
will be commenced within the next few weeks. However, the original plans have been materially changed,
and it is likely that institution will be erected on the old cemetery site instead of the location purchased for
the purpose on Calcutta road.

For several months, in fact ever since the present council took their seats, the old agitation in favor of the cemetery site has been gradually
growing in proportions until it has now reached a point where there seems little doubt that the project
will go through in that way.

It has been learned that the Calcutta road site can be sold at a good profit—no less than $6,000—and with this money and the $2,000 which has been pledged and will fall due this fall, the association would have something vastly more influential than enthusiasm with which to work. In addition to this $8,000 a prominent business man has assured those in charge that he will give $1,000 to the cause provided the hospital is located at the old cemetery. So strongly does he favor this site that
he refuses to contribute to the fund
if the building is located on Calcutta
road. There are doubtless many others who would swell the fund if it was decided to make the change.

Some opposition developed among
the members of the association to disposing of the property recently purchased, the argument being used
that if it was worth $6,000 to the parties who propose to buy it, it was worth that amount to association.

It was also stated that Mr. Croxall,
from whom the land was purchased,
and who donated liberally, would not approve of the sale. The gentleman was interviewed and stated it would not make a particle of difference to
him, as he was sufficiently interested
in the cause to approve of any plans that were deemed best by the association.

The matter is now in the hands of the board of directors, who will
push the project with all possible haste. A committee consisting of Messrs. H. A. Keffer and A. S. Young
will confer with council at its next meeting with reference to securing
the old cemetery, and it is thought
their efforts will be successful.

A meeting of the hospital association will be held tonight.

WITH WAGONS AND ATTACHMENTS AFTER GOODS.

They Did Not Belong to the Delaneys And Two Parties Claimed Them.

Excitement was caused near Columbian park last evening when a furniture dealer, a pawn broker and two constables appeared at the house formerly occupied by James Delaney and family at about the same time. The situation when explained became rather ludicrous. The furniture dealer had learned that Mrs. Delaney had left for the east and had come after his goods.

Before going Mrs. Delaney had turned the furniture over to the pawn broker as security for $25 which she had borrowed from him and he had just come after the goods. Other creditors had learned that the Delaneys had departed, and as a result each constable carried attachment papers and thus claimed the goods. It is stated by the nearby residents that the whole affair resulted in a game of grab, each one taking what he could get his hands on first. The pawn broker and furniture dealer each had wagons and consequently got most of the goods. It was not learned what Constable Powell procured, but it is stated that Constable Miller got hold of a folding chair which he doubled up, and, putting it under his arm, leisurely strolled away, leaving the other claimants to fight the matter out among themselves.

It is thought that Mrs. Delaney has found her husband in New Jersey by this time and that the happy family circle, so recently broken up, will be reunited in the east.

FELL FROM A LADDER

And Cut Her Wrist Breaking Glass. An Artery Severed.

Mrs. Jacob Slaughter fell from a step ladder through a window and sustained a severe injury yesterday afternoon. Her right wrist came in contact with the broken glass, inflicting a wound about three inches long and bone deep. One of the arteries of the wrist was severed and before a doctor arrived Mrs. Slaughter was somewhat weak from the loss of blood.

Dr. W. E. Mowen, who dressed the wound, found it necessary to take five stitches in order to draw the ragged cut together. Mrs. Slaughter is getting along nicely today.

SEVERELY SHOCKED

Smith Got an Overdose of Electricity From an Incandescent Lamp.

George Smith, the gatekeeper at Columbian park, was severely shocked by electricity yesterday afternoon. Something was wrong with one of the lights, and when he tried to turn it on he only twisted the button about half way when he received the shock and the incandescent light burned out, almost setting fire to the shop.

Considerable excitement was caused by the occurrence, but nothing serious resulted.

Entertained Classmates.

Miss Viola Smith entertained her Sunday school classmates in a delightful manner at her home on Pennsylvania avenue yesterday afternoon. The afternoon was passed at various games which were greatly enjoyed by the children, and to add to the pleasures of the occasion a sumptuous repast was served.

UP TO DATE PALESTINE

How Yankee Ingenuity Is Modernizing the Holy Land.

BIG CALL FOR AMERICAN GOODS.

Railways, Trolley Cars, Telephones, Phonographs and Electric Lights Found in the Valley of the Jordan. Plan to Lessen Hardships of the Pilgrimages to Mecca.

Yankee ingenuity and commercial vigor are doing wonderful things in the Holy Land, according to a special dispatch from Washington to the New York Post. Until a few years ago it was said that if one of the prophets had returned to the scenes of his earthly activities he would have had little difficulty in recognizing them except for the change in the character of the population. The hills and valleys of old Judea had otherwise taken little note of the flight of the centuries. But our consuls write to the department of state that times are changing even in Palestine and Syria. The railway from Joppa to Jerusalem, at first an experiment, has been put upon a paying basis, and other lines which will connect it with points of interest up and down the valley of the Jordan have been projected or are actually in course of building. In Jerusalem there are now electric lights, telephones, phonographs, sanitary plumbing, modern stores, houses built with "all modern improvements" and, in short, most of the comforts of civilized life. Trolley lines are talked of to connect Jerusalem with Bethany, Bethlehem, the lake of Galilee, Samaria, Jericho, Nazareth and other places made familiar through Bible history. With the introduction of these insignia of modern activity the Palestine of the past will vanish.

It is related that an American traveling salesman recently went to Jerusalem and Beirut and in one day sold merchandise of an up to date type to the amount of $3,800. Commission houses for the handling of American goods have been opened in nearly every city and town of importance in Palestine and Syria, and in many instances they are conducted by wide awake American business men. In a single month this year one of the houses imported American leather to the value of $700. Another has established a market for American flour and predicts that in a few years the people of the Holy Land will be good consumers of this staple. Cheap American watches are in demand and have been sold to scores of the natives, who regard them with increasing favor.

More than 200 phonographs were recently sent there, one-half going to Damascus and the rest to Jerusalem and nearby places. The best customers for talking machines, it is said, are the Moslems of Beirut, Jerusalem and Damascus, who buy them for their harems. One commission house at Beirut has bought, according to G. Bie Ravndal, the American consul, a $350 windmill from an Illinois firm and will erect it on the Bakaa plain. This firm is confident that there is to be an important market for windmills in Palestine and Syria and for irrigation machinery of all sorts. Rich foreigners are figuring to secure control of some of the once fertile valleys of the country, and should they succeed there will be an attempt to make them again a "land flowing with milk and honey."

Speaking once more of windmills, a 17 horsepower machine has been installed in the interior west of the Jordan, for flour grinding purposes, and another large one, bought in Chicago, is just going up at Yafa. Even American beer has found its way into the country. One firm has sold to date 519 cases of 48 bottles each, and another has recently received 150 cases direct from Milwaukee. The municipality of Beirut has added a $3,300 steam street roller to its public equipment, and this is the only steam roller now in Turkey in Asia, although the way is opening for others.

It would be a long story to tell of all the articles of American make which are now selling in the land of promise, but the latest, according to consular advices, are cotton fabrics, rope, shoes, clocks, paper, carriage leather, bicycles, coal, wire nails, paints, hardware, electrical novelties of all sorts, iron bars, steel beams, well drilling machinery, garden tools, a fine line of agricultural machinery, canned meat, cornmeal, oatmeal, mechanics' tools, etc. Wire nails to the value of almost $5,000 were sold in Syria last year, all coming from the United States.

Thus is ancient Syria giving place to modern Syria, and the work is going forward with a will. Important commercial concessions have been secured from the sultan, who appears to be favorably disposed to the modernizing of this part of his dominions and is watching the experiment with interest. The Turkish authorities have themselves been buyers of American wares. Within the last year they have arranged for the sinking of a large number of wells along the historic pilgrimage route to Mecca and are providing them with windmills. In this way it is believed that the hardships of the annual pilgrimage can be lessened and the pilgrims kept in reasonably good health. The sickness of former years, it is asserted, has been almost entirely due to the impure water along the route.

Long Tour to Test an Auto. Albert R. Shattuck, president, and J. Dunbar Wright, second vice president, of the Automobile Club of America, recently sailed for Paris. They are to make a tour of 4,000 miles in a French automobile to test the endurance of the foreign machine for the purpose of contesting at the Pan-American exposition.

WELLSVILLE

Three men named Murray, Connor and Rooney caused the strike which is holding work on the storm water sewer at a standstill. There seems to be little cause for the strike. The men claim they had an agreement with Irwin Bros. to the effect that the contractors should not work; and when Felix Irwin started to lay brick yesterday they exclaimed in chorus: "If you lay that brick we will go out."

The contractor knew nothing about the agreement, so they say, and so Irwin laid the brick and the men quit. Another complaint was that Irwin Bros. hired too many apprentices. Irwin stated today that he only hired the apprentices until he could get competent men. According to his statement some of the men are drunk all the time while working on the sewer. Efforts are making to settle the trouble today. Fifteen men are reported coming from Steubenville today.

Refused to Leave Jail.

Felix Rooney, a bricklayer, who was arrested yesterday for drunkenness, refused to come out of jail this morning. He said he was not ready to come out yet.

"Nosed Him Out."

In "The Argonauts of California" Mr. C. W. Haskins tells a good story of sauerkraut. In one of the mining districts near Sacramento a storekeeper received a barrel of provisions which seemed to be spoiled, to judge by the smell. Instead of throwing it away, he thrust it into one corner of a shed, where waste and rubbish were piled upon it.

One day a burly, dust covered Dutchman entered the store.

"I wants me some dot," pointing toward the shed.

"What is dot?" inquired the storekeeper.

"I shows you," said the miner. "You shust come mit me." And to the shed they went, where, pointing to the rubbish heap, the Dutchman explained, "Some of dot in dere was vat I wants."

Boxes and barrels were removed, and the condemned barrel was exposed. But when the miner eagerly pointed to it the trader told him it was spoiled meat, not fit to eat.

"I knows better as dot," said the Dutchman. "You bust him in und I shows you."

An ax was brought and the barrel "busted in," when, instead of spoiled meat, there was revealed some good, old fashioned sauerkraut, made in Holland and shipped around Cape Horn.

"I knows it," said the delighted miner. "I nose him out!"

The sauerkraut sold readily at a dollar a pound and was in great demand. The Dutch miners heard of it and walked 10 and 15 miles to get a taste of the dainty.

A Country Lass,

Health in her beaming eyes, health in her glowing cheek, health in her merry laugh. Yet country air and country hours can't save her from the common experience of women—an experience which dulls the eye, pales the cheek, and turns the laugh to a sigh. Womanly ills come to almost all. But for these ills there is help and healing in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the periods, stops unhealthy drains, cures inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"Miss Ella Sapp, of Jamestown, Guilford Co., N. C., writes: 'I had suffered three years or more at monthly periods. It seemed as though I would die with pain in my back and stomach. I could not stand without fainting; had given up all hope of ever being cured, when one of my friends insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. With but little faith I tried it, and before I had taken half a bottle I felt better—had better appetite and slept better. Now I am happy to say I am entirely cured, and all done in two months time, when all other medicines had failed to do any good at all.'"

Biliousness is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

HUMBERT'S ASSASSIN.

Gaetano Bresci's Last Words Told of Tortures.

The first and last words of Gaetano Bresci, the assassin of King Humbert, who committed suicide the other day, to reach the outside world were spoken as he was confined on the Italian cruiser Menaggerso at Spezzia but a few weeks ago, says the New York Evening Journal. A naval officer had a chance to speak to and question the man, who was loaded with chains, the most miserable and abject human being his eyes had ever looked upon.

Bresci told of his torture, how his jailers had done all in their power to drive him to insanity and death.

"You don't want me to complain, do you?" he said.

"No. I decline to give my torturers in the old prison occasion to boast of their job. They did everything they could to drive me insane.

"I understand a private would obtain a corporalship, a corporal a lieutenant, by proving that it was their confounded cruelty that unhinged my mind. Knowing these intentions, I did my utmost to foil them.

"I didn't go crazy, because I refused to lose hope. Hope kept me up—hope of the coming revolution that will sweep over the kingdom like a tornado in the west of America. That revolution will set me free. I am sure that I will be the first prisoner released.

"Torture me all you will now. Let the galley slave boss do his worst. Neither you nor he can escape the movement I represent. I will escape your clutches and maybe will have opportunity for revenge."

TO SURVEY THE RIO GRANDE

Hazardous Expedition of a Boundary Commission Party.

Representatives of the United States and Mexican boundary commissions have just embarked on a voyage down the Rio Grande in three boats to make observations and a more complete survey of the river. P. D. Cunningham, chief engineer of the United States commission, is at the head of the expedition.

The party proposes to follow the course of the river from El Paso to the gulf of Mexico, a distance of nearly 1,300 miles, says the New York Post. It will require three months to make the trip, and for a distance of 600 miles all communication with the outside world will be cut off. The voyage is considered an extremely hazardous one, as in many places the river contains dangerous rapids and but little is known of its windings where it traverses the Grand canyon.

BANQUET TO NEW YORKERS.

Delegates of Chamber of Commerce Entertained by London Chamber.
Lansdowne Touchingly Referred to Illness of Mrs. McKinley.

London, June 6.—The banquet tendered by the London chamber of commerce to the delegates of the New York chamber at Grocers' hall last night was one of the most successful of the kind ever given in a city famed for lavish hospitality. No effort was spared to honor the American guests, but it must be confessed that the latter did not sustain the reputation America has for brilliant after-dinner speaking. Nor did the British speakers do much to relieve the tedium of four hours' speaking. All the speeches, however, teemed with extreme friendliness and faith in the establishment of permanent relations. All the speakers expressed the belief that Great Britain and the United States would rule the destinies of the world and that their unwritten alliance would always work for peace and the benefit of mankind.

Lady Spectators Present.
Around the hall is a gallery, which, as the evening advanced, was filled with ladies, who attended to hear the speeches.

Lord Brassey made a speech, in which he welcomed the delegates. Lord Lansdowne, the foreign secretary, toasted President McKinley, and said in part:

"I imagine," he said, "that this honorable duty has been assigned to me because I am connected with the department of foreign affairs, and because it may be that a toast coming from my lips may seem to denote something more than a mere private expression of admiration and good will. I think I may say that to all the subjects of his majesty it requires an effort to think of our relations with the United States as foreign relations. (Prolonged cheers.)"

"All those who, like myself, are servants of the public feel that they hold an unwritten commission that no pains shall be spared to maintain the most friendly relations."

"With regard to President McKinley, we think of the great office he fills, and, in addition to his public career, we remember the burden of private anxiety he has to bear, and it is the prayer of our whole country that his wife may be restored to health and that he may continue to be to the whole world a potent influence for the good of the human race."

Mr. Jessup, president of the New York chamber of commerce, replied to the address of welcome.

Mr. Jessup was followed by Lord Avebury, A. Foster Higgins and A. Barton Hepburn.

Not Talking Tariff, Said Hepburn.

Mr. Hepburn aroused interest by an intimation that the United States were entering upon the stage of tariff relaxation. "Over two years ago," observed Mr. Hepburn, "President McKinley, in a speech in Boston, said: 'We are not talking about tariff now,' and in his recent trip across the continent he made no allusion to the tariff, but greatly emphasized the necessity of cultivating outside markets, and the chairman of the Republican campaign committee has announced that the tariff will be taken off all so-called trust commodities, and our grown our capacity to consume that the 'open door' is rapidly becoming the shibboleth of America."

The right Hon. William James Pirrie, who followed, admitted the supremacy of the United States in many directions, but asserted Great Britain's supremacy in the matter of ship-building.

Lord Alverstone paid an eloquent tribute to the United States.

Mr. Carnegie, who had the best reception of the evening, then rose. He dwelt upon the importance of the growing friendly relations between the two countries, and continued as follows:

"The horoscope of the future shows that common dangers are likely to draw us closer together, and, if ever have to be unfurled side by side in self-defense against any foe or combination of foes who may attack and disturb the peace, I pity that enemy."

Peace and Good Will Among Men.
"The chambers of commerce of the world carry for their motto, 'Peace and good will among men.' If cabinets should ever fail to preserve peace as a tribunal of last resort, I suggest that the chambers of commerce in London and New York; and not until we fail to meet creditably to both disputants."

Mr. Griscom, whose arrival in time for the banquet created much interest, dwelt upon the expansion of American shipping. "With the consent of our government," he said, "we trust that on the great United States will soon fly side by side with the flags of Great Britain and continental powers."

NOT BURIED AT SEA.

The Humane French Boatman and the Dead Englishman.

A long expected French lugger was seen making for the roadstead, and the Lowestoft free traders were on the alert, anxiously seeking an opportunity for communicating with her crew. While they waited for a lapse of vigilance on the part of the excisemen, a boat was lowered from the lugger and rowed toward the shore. A curious crowd of beach men and excisemen assembled to meet her, and as she came in on the crest of a roller it was observed that she contained a coffin.

The French boatman had a mournful tale to tell. On board the lugger had been an Englishman suffering from an illness which soon proved fatal. In his last moments of consciousness he had begged the captain not to bury him at sea, but to keep his body until a resting place could be found for it under the green turf of a churchyard in his native land. Sympathy with his sad fate and the knowledge that the lugger was not far from the English coast had induced the captain to consent, and now he had sent the body ashore for burial. In spite of his broken English, the Frenchmen's spokesman told his tale well.

Both excisemen and beach men—especially the latter—loudly expressed their admiration of the captain's conduct. A parson was summoned, and in a little while a mournful procession made its way from the beach to the churchyard. Even the chief officer of the excisemen was present and is said to have shed tears.

That night the local "resurrectionists" were busy, and at dawn the churchyard contained a desecrated grave. A little way inland, however, in the midst of the marshes, a smuggler's store received the addition of a coffin filled with silks and lace—"Highways and Byways in East Anglia," W. A. Dutt.

ANTIQUE FIENDS.

Women Who Spend Their Time and Money Unearthing Old Relics.

The antique craze is like a malignant fever—when it seizes a woman, she rarely gets over it. There are three stages—the first when she simply admires the collections of her friends, the second when she begins to haunt auctions and "read up," the third when she spares neither time nor money to obtain some broken down treasure and when if fair means fail she will not hesitate even at foul ones. This sounds dreadful, I know, but I have in mind a perfectly respectable woman of my acquaintance who was so fascinated by a brass knocker on the door of an unoccupied farmhouse that she crept there in the dead of night and—well, there is no other word for it—stole it.

Women in the second stage fall easy victims to the so called antique dealers. The profits of these people must be enormous, for certainly the expenses of the trade are not great. It does not cost much to bury modern colonial furniture until the worms and the mold have done their artistic work; neither are ovens or acids particularly expensive when you can sell a plate which cost you a quarter for $7 or $8. Nowadays I hear the path of the antique dealer is made even more easy. There are factories which turn out real fourteenth century Nuremberg chests (with

SHE HAUNTS AUCTIONS. the wormholes in them) and real colonial spinning wheels (with histories attached to them, if desired). But, of course, the woman relic hunter knows nothing of these things.

She goes on paying her good money for rusty and rickety furniture, broken plates and hangings falling to pieces. She bids against herself at auctions and makes up by cheating unsuspecting country people. When she visits at some old house, she goes about slyly nicking the paint off the furniture in search of possible inlaying or rummaging in the attic for forgotten treasures. She is a pest and a bore, and people are afraid to let her into their houses, but what would you? It's her way of enjoying life, and just now it's a way very much in style.

CHILDISH GOSSIPS.

The Dreaded Scandal Monger Begins Her Career in the Nursery.

The child is the father of the man, so the proverb runs, but altered to "the girl is the mother of the woman" it would be even more true. The other day I came home from an afternoon tea thoroughly disgusted. The entire conversation had been gossip and fault finding—servants, neighbors, husbands, it was all the same thing. I could not bring away one single improving thought, one wise or witty saying.

Just as I was about to enter the nursery I heard my small daughter's voice raised in an eager whisper, "It's a secret, Margie, and you must promise you won't tell." I could hear Margery gasp with excitement, "Hope I'll die if I do!" she muttered in the same stage whisper. "Well, then," cried the small informer "what d'you think? Judy cheated dis morning! I sawed her!"

At this moment I entered the room. The whole episode reminded me unpleasantly of Mrs. Binks' confidences at the house I had just left. These confidences involved the reputation of a neighbor. "But of course this is strictly confidential, my dear," she whispered, and of course she had told the same thing to 20 others, and before nightfall every one in town would know.

I took one of the small sinners on each knee and spoke long and earnestly on the subject of talking about people behind their backs. "It is like stabbing them in the dark!" I explained, and I think they both understood.

Oh, these secrets, these confidences, these "don't tells!" What misery they make in the world—from the small tot whose dearest chum "goes back on her" to the grown woman whose trust is betrayed and whose life is ruined by one careless word! Isn't it better never to say anything about our friends that we wouldn't repeat to their faces? Isn't it better not to have that sort of secret at all?

OPENING FOREIGN EYES.

Young New Hampshire Girl Surprising Europe With Her Paintings.

Not only is American trade making serious inroads on the peace of Europe, but American art as well. Yankee painters and sculptors are yearly asking and receiving greater space in the exhibits. The latest American to open the eyes of Europeans to the latent artistic possibilities of America is Miss Katherine Kimball, who is creating a sensation on the continent with her paintings.

Miss Kimball is 22 years of age and a native of New Hampshire. She studied led for some time in New York and went to Paris, where she is now living, a little more than a year ago. Miss Kimball's paintings are said to rival those of Whistler, the most famous of American painters in France. Her pen and ink sketches are also remarkably good. She is a very bright and interesting American girl and has become a great favorite among the Americans residing in the French city.

A FITTING TRIBUTE

A Citizen of East Liverpool Pays a Well Earned Tribute.

The following public statement of a respectable citizen adds one more emphatic endorsement of merit to the scores that have appeared before:

Mr. H. Thompson, of 306 Fourth street, presser at the D. E. McNicol pottery, and resident of East Liverpool for the past 45 years, says: "During my campaign experiences between the years of '61 and '64 I contracted a weakness of the kidneys, and at intervals I had an aching pain across the small of my back and was subject to attacks of muscular rheumatism, especially in damp weather. I was frequently so bad that I could scarcely get up when down, and, in fact, could hardly get around at all. I tried many remedies endeavoring to get rid of the trouble, but found nothing until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy. They filled the bill exactly, giving me almost immediate relief and warding off the last attack."

Why They Were Selected.

It has been recorded that General Henry Knox, in 1783, was the "greatest" of 11 distinguished officers of the army, weighing 280 pounds. Noah Brooks, in his book entitled "Henry Knox," gives the following incident relating to the general's full habit:

With a Captain Sargent, he was selected to present the hard case of the starving and naked men at Valley Forge to the attention of a committee of congress. One of the congressmen, wishing to show his wit and sarcasm, said that he had never seen a fatter man than General Knox nor a better dressed man than his associate.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. USEFUL CLUBS FOR WOMEN

HE members of the clubs I have in mind never quarrel, so far as they have been heard from, and they are almost the only clubwomen of whom this can be said. The reason is they are working for the helping of their fellow citizens and the beautifying and improving of the localities in which they live and not to get themselves elected presidents.

The clubs I mean are the rural improvement societies among women. The old style rustic village and railway station were blisters on the face of the earth. The horror of them comes over me now as I sit and write this. I see still the piles of ashes, the foul remnants of the tobacco habit, the desolate, weed grown grounds, the vacant lots covered with things unspeakable. It was a credit to the young women and men of such a town that they got away from it as soon as they could. In that old style town children ran riot, and brutal drivers beat horses at will.

These are the things the women's village improvement societies are changing. Let us take one, as an example, in an eastern state. Here are some of the things that club has done:

It has brought about that vacant lots are no longer to be used as dumping grounds for rubbish and disease breeding debris. It has made the railway station in particular as clean and pretty as a private house with a flower and shade tree lawn about it. It has attended to the beautifying of public parks and walks, to the cleaning and paving of the streets and the drainage and general sanitation of the whole place. Wherever in the vicinity there was natural scenery of an attractive character those women had it preserved and cared for. They divided themselves into committees, each one taking a particular work to itself and attending to that. The farms about the village have caught the impetus and are cutting away the weeds from their fence lines and removing the pigsties from their front door vistas. The earth is becoming a thing of beauty for miles around where these blessed women live. They have created a public sentiment for better things.

There is a women's improvement club in the far south, at Lake Charles, near New Orleans. Here 18 ladies took on themselves the task of redeeming the rural aspects. They planted splendid live oak trees along driveways; they placed flowering shrubs along park walks. Attached to their village, as there is to most country places, was an abandoned cemetery, with its rank weeds, sunken graves and broken tombstones, a dank, nightmare spot, suggestive of suicide and ghost riding. The women had a hard task with that—one which tried all their powers—but they reconstructed the frightful old place, and they see that it is kept in order.

They turned their attention to the schoolhouses. They cleared up the grounds about them, planted trees and made the grass grow and taught the young ones to take pride in having a beautiful lawn around the building outside and artistic wall and other decorations inside. Besides that they obtained by subscriptions some valuable books for the public school libraries.

It is well usually to have men as members of these village improvement societies, to assist with their experience and money. But the business work of the organizations must be nearly every case be done by women, because men cannot spare the time for it.

Whether farm life and village life shall be made attractive depends on the country women. If they do what is in their power, they can so improve and beautify the landscape as to raise the price of real estate in their neighborhoods. What is more, they can prevent to some extent the deplorable exodus of young people from the country to the cities.

The announcements that a number of propositions from representatives of industrial establishments seeking a location for new plants are to be submitted to the board of trade tonight should have the effect of making the meeting big and business-like. As the News Review has pointed out repeatedly, the city has no greater need than that an earnest, active and energetic board of trade be established and maintained, for just such occasions as the present.

There is already a board of trade which is well adapted to serve as a nucleus for the greater organization which we hope to see launched upon a career of usefulness. But we cannot have a board of trade that can accomplish anything for the good of the city if citizens show supreme indifference toward it and remain away from its meetings, careless whether new industries which are knocking at our doors are rejected or turned away.

The board of trade must have the co-operation, assistance and support of the public. Well-known business men are interested in it, and men of excellent ability are its officers. It needs only the approval and encouragement of business men generally to make it an institution of the highest value to the city. Other towns are all the time looking out for new manufacturing establishments and encouraging them to locate with them. Even one manufactory, employing a few hundred persons regularly, will add materially to the prosperity of the town, and every sort of business will be benefited in some measure. We can get not only one but several if we will work for them. But others will surely get them away if we wait idly while vigilant neighbors put forth strenuous efforts.

East Liverpool has the reputation of being a live, hustling city. It can and should maintain that reputation. We trust that every citizen with the interests of the city at heart will prove by his presence at the board of trade meeting tonight that he wants the city to go ahead and not to stand still. Let us get together and work for a greater East Liverpool.

MONEY IN APPLES.

A fact that will be surprising to many is that the apple crop of the United States is worth nearly 50 per cent more than the wheat crop. The value of the apple crop in 1900 was $430,000,000, while that of the wheat crop was little more than $300,000,000. The country about East Liverpool is especially adapted to orchards, and from the days when "Johnny Appleseed" scattered seed along the Ohio valley, perpetuating his name and the memory of his good deeds, up to the present time, apples have been produced in increasing abundance each year.

The outlook for orchardists is improving all the time. American apples as an article of export are recognized as of superior excellence. They bring $2 to $4 per barrel abroad, and the demand for them is increasing. The present export is about 3,000,000 barrels a year, but, as is pointed out by an authority on the subject, there is no reason why the export of the fruit should not be 100,000,000 barrels annually in the course of a very few years. There is money in orcharding, but the business is one that requires brains and attention. Fruit trees, after they are planted, need to be cared for, just like other things that grow on the farm. The trees may produce apples, if left to themselves, but they will not produce the best, unless they are nurtured and fed and cultivated. Thousands of acres of land are lying uncultivated which, if planted to apple trees, would in a few years repay the expense of fencing and cultivation many times over.

THE MILK QUESTION.

The report that adulterated milk is being sold in the city is one that the health authorities should investigate thoroughly. If they find that the people who are paying a good round price for what is supposed to be pure milk are being supplied with chalk and water or milk containing chemicals or other deleterious matter, there is ample law to punish the offenders, and the more vigorously the law is enforced the more satisfactory it will be to the public.

It is stated that the local health board is not in a position to make proper tests of milk, owing to not being supplied with the necessary instruments. If this be the case, council should take an early opportunity of seeing that the board gets what it needs. It is absurd to expect the health officer to make tests and to look after the public health as he should without tools to work with. Milk cannot be tested by looking at it. The instruments needed are few in number and of small cost, and they should be furnished at once. Every dairyman who does a fair and honest business will welcome tests of the milk he furnishes. Those who do not furnish a pure article should either be compelled to do so or be driven out of the business. Bad milk is one of the most prolific causes of disease. Give the health authorities means to deal with the evil and see that they do their duty.

In New York, a movement which was based on philanthropy and charity at the start has proved a paying business investment. Under its sway hundreds of dreary, ramshackle tenements, that were breeding places of disease and immorality have disappeared and been replaced by up-to-date tenements, which are clean, well-lighted, and provided with abundant water and improved sanitary appliances. The model tenements, as they are called, are paying a fair rate of interest on a $2,000,000 investment. The people who live in tenements appreciate improved surroundings and the districts once famed for disorder are becoming models of good behavior.

Keeping everlasting at it is the secret of success. We want a board of trade that will keep at it, and we can have it if business men generally will enroll themselves in its ranks. Tonight's meeting should be a rouser. Don't stay away, whether you have much or little influence. It will all count, and it is all needed.

The board of trade can and will help the town if citizens give their aid and co-operation.

INCENSED CITIZENS

Caused the Arrest of Alliance Saloonkeepers—Hired "Spotters" to Do the Work.

Alliance, June 6.—The Alliance saloonkeepers who were arrested Monday for selling liquor on Sunday, have been informed by the city solicitor, D. E. Rogers, that the work of securing the necessary evidence was done by Cincinnati detectives. Their services were secured by citizens who felt outraged by the flagrant violations of the law practiced by so many Alliance saloonists. A fund had been contributed entirely by these citizens to pay for the prosecutions.

It is rumored that some of the law-abiding saloon men furnished at least a part of the money used to prosecute the violators of the Sunday laws.

One hundred and sixteen votes were required to nominate. Washington and Morgan voted solidly for Rose on the last ballot. The other candidate was Bright.

GLEANINGS OF A DAY

In and About

THE LOCAL POTTERIES

Rev. J. M. Huston, of Pasadena, Cal., formerly pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in East Liverpool, made a request of East Liverpool friends that they send him dishes sufficient to serve 200 persons. In reply he received a letter from F. A. Sebring, according to the request, and saying that he (Mr. Sebring), would furnish half of the ware and Mr. Patterson the rest. Mr. Huston publishes a card in the Pasadena Daily Star, in which he speaks of the two gentlemen as proprietors of large establishments and personal friends, who with others did magnificently in helping the First church of this city while he was pastor.

A number of improvements will be made at the Steubenville pottery during the next few weeks. A new first kiln is now in course of erection, and it is the intention of the company to replace the engine now in use at the pottery with a more modern one. This will cause an expenditure of much money and will add greatly to the value of the plant. The purpose of the new kiln is to burn the fret before it is placed in the glaze in the glost kiln.

The old Burdy & Baird pottery on Depot street, Salem, which has been idle for nearly two years, was started in operation on Monday by its present owner, Charles Walters. Mr. Walters said yesterday that drain tile would probably be made. The pottery starts up with four employees, among whom are C. Ross Boone and Emanuel Weiss. Mr. Weiss has been an employee of the pottery for the past 15 years, and is quite an experienced hand.

All the minor details necessary to begin work at the plant of the Louthan Supply works have been completed, and it was intended to start the plant in operation yesterday, but the engineer did not arrive and it will not be started until tomorrow. A full force will not be put on for some time as it will be necessary to handle the new machinery slowly for a time in order to avoid accidents and get things in best working shape.

At a recent meeting of local union No. 20, Brotherhood of Operative Potters, of Steubenville, John Wilkinson and William Button were elected delegates to the national convention of operative potters at East Liverpool July 8. W. N. Fleming and H. J. Goodman were elected alternates.

It is probable the workmen at the Steubenville pottery will stop work July 8 to attend the annual picnic and outing of the National Brotherhood of

SYMPATHY FOR LABOR.

Reformed Presbyterian Synod Tabled Report Denouncing Labor Organizations and Secret Societies.

Pittsburg, June 6.—The Reformed Presbyterian synod yesterday adjourned to meet in Syracuse, N. Y., May 28, 1902. The report of the committee on secret societies was tabled. It dealt especially with labor and trade organizations, condemning their secret society features and denouncing their habits of holding meetings on Sunday. Regarding other secret societies the report declared them "enslaving in their nature, pernicious in their tendency and perilous to the liberties of both church and state." The resolutions expressed the sympathy of the synod for the laborer in his struggle for the betterment of his condition, but said that some of the rulings of labor organizations are arbitrary and a violation of the rights of labor, and declared their Sunday meetings destructive of spiritual life.

MRS. EDDY WON.

Verdict for Defense Ordered in Mrs. Woodbury's Case.

Boston, June 6.—In the superior court Judge Charles U. Bell brought to a sudden and unexpected end the famous $150,000 libel suit brought by Mrs. Josephine Curtis Woodbury, of Boston, against the Rev. Mary Baker Eddy, of Concord, N. H., the founder and present head of the Christian Science church, by ordering the jury to find for the defendant, which it accordingly did in the usual form.

The judge said the libel was not absolutely clear enough to apply to the plaintiff.

Counsel for Mrs. Woodbury filed exceptions on all the questions passed upon. They have not yet decided upon a definite course of action, but authorized it to be stated that they expect to carry the case to the supreme court.

Inopportune.

"I just saw the young Widow Weeds. She looked just charming in her mourning," said the pretty woman.

"I suppose," remarked her crotchety husband, "that you wouldn't mind being a widow yourself."

"Oh, it's hateful of you to talk that way, when you know I've got a blue silk waist that I haven't worn yet,"—Philadelphia Press.

Operative Potters, which will be held at Rock Springs park on that date. A special train will be run from that city to the park.

The girls employed in the decorating shop of the Sevres China company tendered a farewell reception to the Misses Annie and Maude Fortune yesterday afternoon. The ladies will leave tonight for a visit with friends at Detroit, Mich.

Plans for the reception and entertainment of the visiting delegates to the coming convention were discussed and an especial effort will be made to have this feature of the meeting taken care of an acceptable manner.

Ray Young, a printer at the Steubenville pottery, who has been ill for several months, has left for Asheville, S. C. He expects to return to Steubenville within the next six weeks.

Otto Dike, employed in the warehouse at Burford's, is off duty owing to a broken finger. The accident occurred while he was playing ball a few days ago.

Ed Greene returned to work at the National plant this morning after laying off two weeks on account of two broken ribs received in a fall some time ago.

George Cox, employed as a kilnhand at the Sevres China company, has resigned his position and accepted a similar one at Knowles, Taylor & Knowles.

Ed Fitzgerald, employed in the warehouse at Laughlin No. 2, will quit Saturday, and will take a similar position at the Sevres pottery on Monday.

The entertainment committee composed of two members from each of the Brotherhood locals in the city held a meeting last evening.

John Bowers, so the Burford pottery employees say, is tired of single blessedness. His friends are looking for wedding cards any day.

R. Rutledge, employed in the warehouse at the Sevres plant, will leave the employ of the company Saturday.

Joseph Winters, a biscuit kilnhand at the Sevres pottery, has resigned his position and has gone to Knowles.

Bricklaying at the new pottery at Lisbon has commenced.

RAISED A DISTURBANCE

Caused Trouble on a Street Car And the Conductor Had Them Arrested.

Two young men were arrested by Constable Powell yesterday afternoon at Wellsville. One was charged with using profane language and the other with the same offense, together with that of assault.

The arrest of the young men was brought about by D. W. Brown, a conductor employed by the East Liverpool Street Railway company. Tuesday evening the fellows boarded Brown's car in this city and started for Wellsville. Both had been drinking and were somewhat inclined to be boisterous. When the car reached Walker's one of the young men produced a bottle of beer from his pocket and insisted on taking a drink in the car. The conductor expostulated, but in spite of his efforts to induce the fellows to put the bottle away they ignored his authority and drained the contents of the bottle.

Brown stopped his car and ordered the men off. They refused to go and swore at the conductor, who with the assistance of the motorman succeeded in ejecting the fellows. Just as he was being dragged down over the steps, one man struck Brown, but did not injure him to any extent.

They admitted they had done wrong, but said they had not intended to harm anyone. Justice McCarron was inclined to believe them, but reprimanded them in caustic terms. He imposed small fines saying he felt disposed to make the fines light, as it was the first case of the kind that had been brought before him, but he warned the offenders if they ever repeated the conduct they would be given the heaviest sentence possible.

Will Be Published in This Paper

It is a story of Revolutionary times and recounts the thrilling adventures of a brave young American cavalrman who took as his prisoner a venturesome and handsome English girl, the daughter of a British officer.

Their enforced association as prisoner and captor under trying circumstances showed to each the worth of the other, and in the end both became prisoners each to the other. The tale is most cleverly told and is full of life.

THE CLOSING WAS WEAK.

Sensational Upward Movement in Rock Island—Some Other Features.

New York, June 6.—The strength of the stock market, which was quite marked at one time during the day, diminished decidedly after a while Wednesday. When the check was first decisively established there was a notable falling away in the volume of dealings, but there was a resumption of activity before the close, this time on the selling side, and the closing was decidedly weak, with some wide breeches effected in prices.

The most sensational upward movement was in Rock Island. The late spurt in that stock to 175 1/4 had a momentary influence in stiffening the list after it had touched the low points of the day to that time, but as soon as it was perceived that the Rock Island movement was without effect the selling was renewed with redoubled force. The admission of new interests to the directory of Rock Island was pretty clearly foreshadowed, but the extra stock issue was an entire surprise to the street. The movement in Atchison was more gradual and on larger dealings. Rumors of a lease to Union Pacific persisted and the admission to the directory of a member of the banking firm which represented the northern lines of Pacific railroads was regarded as significant of the progress being made toward community of interest in that territory as a result of adjustment of the Northern Pacific quarrel. Atchison's extreme rise was 4 1/4. The story of Missouri Pacific's control of Southern Pacific and a rumor of the exchange of Missouri Pacific stock for the Denver and Rio Grande stock were an influence in the group of railroads. Pennsylvania was affected by the published opinion of an executive officer lately returned from Europe of good prospects for the coal export trade. Executive changes in the Erie were taken as foreshadowing improvements in operation. The strength of Illinois Central was based on comparison of its low price with other railroad stocks in the same category. Amalgamated Copper suffered from the granting of a new injunction against its proposed absorptions. Advances of from 1 to 4 points in a number of low priced railroads and industrials were unexplained by any news. The advance in Canadian Pacific and its affiliated lines was designed to lift the stock in proportion to the advances of other stocks of Northwestern Pacific lines.

The bond market was irregular in sympathy with stocks. Total sales, par value, $3,515,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

LIBERAL PROPOSITION

An Enterprising House to Give Patrons a Vacation Trip Free.

It is not often that a business concern displays energy and push sufficient to cause them to enter into a proposition benefiting and entertaining their patrons to the extent of a sacrifice on the part of the firm.

Nevertheless that is precisely what is proposed by the Surprise Clothing house, the foremost and by far the most enterprising establishment of its kind in East Liverpool.

In order to maintain their already brilliant record as an up-to-date concern they have hit upon a novel and very liberal proposition which, when carried out, will enable at least two patrons of the establishment to take a trip to either Atlantic City or the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo. The transportation will be furnished absolutely free, and the holders of the lucky numbers are permitted to go either by rail or by the lake route, as they may elect.

This is certainly the most liberal and praiseworthy enterprise ever entered into by any firm in this section, and places the Surprise Clothing house head and shoulders over the best of them in the matter of enterprising.

The tickets will be issued any day on July after the 15th, and will entitle the holder to spend 10 days at one or the other of the popular resorts.

The plan is this: Beginning at once, every purchaser will be given a coupon containing a number, any one of which may be the lucky one. Two numbers will be advertised in the daily papers of July 16, and the par-

A GREAT SUCCESS

The Big Lot Sale at Newell Which Is in Progress Today.

The lot sale advertised to take place today at Newell was a complete success, the result being most gratifying to the owners of the new plat.

All day long the new steam ferry conveyed large crowds of prospective lot buyers to the West Virginia side of the river, the boat leaving the Market street wharf every 30 minutes.

No distinction was made between sightseers and those who were bent upon investing in the new territory, and all were treated the same. This plan of lots is destined to become very popular among East Liverpool people, mainly on account of the pleasant location and surroundings. The lots have all been numbered and staked off, so that no time is lost in displaying their advantages.

NO MARKED CHANGE.

MRS. MCKINLEY WAS REPORTED SLIGHTLY BETTER.

Even Though Gain Was Slight the President Expressed His Pleasure Last Night.

Washington, June 6.—Dr. Rixey made his usual nightly visit to the white house shortly after 9 o'clock last night and remained about an hour and a half. On leaving he said: "Mrs. McKinley is resting very comfortably now. She has gained a little this evening, but there is no marked change. She is doing very well."

While the improvement in Mrs. McKinley's condition is slight, the fact that there had been no setback during the day, but on the contrary very little gain, was very gratifying to the white house household and the president expressed his pleasure several times during the evening. In view, however, of the gravity of the condition of the stricken mistress of the white house, too much significance is not attached to the slight improvement shown.

President McKinley is spending a large part of his time at his wife's bedside. He was out driving for about an hour, however, just before supper, with Mr. L. L. Miller, of Canton, O., and returned refreshed. With the exception of the time spent in the early evening with a few callers and a short time in the cabinet room about 11 o'clock, most of the evening was spent within call of his wife.

WM. L. WILSON PRAISED.

President McKinley Wrote Article on Late Statesman.

Washington, June 6.—President McKinley has written the following for The Calyx, an annual published by the students of Washington and Lee university, Lexington, Va., regarding the late William L. Wilson, who was president of that institution:

"William L. Wilson was devoted to lofty ideas. Although a man of great learning and of pronounced literary tastes, he actively participated in public affairs and gave to his country his best service. Those who were associated with him learned to respect him for the purity of his motives and the sincerity of his nature, while his advocacy of measures of legislation was so able as to win for him the fullest hearing from their opponents."

B. & O. Officers on Tour.

Pittsburg, June 6.—New officers of the Baltimore and Ohio and a number of the old officers arrived in this city last evening in a train of three private cars, which the party are using in their tour of inspection just started. Williams, superintendent of stores; George M. Schryber, secretary to President Loree; R. C. House, traveling passenger agent; L. G. Haas, assistant to General Manager Porter, and a number of others.

An Altoona Hermit Killed.

Altoona, Pa., June 6.—Thomas Cox, aged 78, an old soldier, and well known character here, was run down by a shifting engine a short distance west of the city and killed. For some time past Cox has been living the life of a hermit on the outskirts of the city.

A DRUNKEN FIEND'S CRIMES.

Killed His Little Daughter, Fatally Shot His Wife and Wounded Other Relatives.

Coleman, Mich., June 6.—Will Arnell, proprietor of a hotel and saloon in Beaverton, who had been drinking for several days, entered the house and went upstairs to where his daughter was hiding from him under a bed and killed her. He then came down and fatally shot his wife, and fired at his invalid mother, who was sitting in a chair, shooting her through the hand. Mrs. Samuel Dopp and Arnell's sister were attracted by the shooting, and as they approached Arnell walked out to the street and opened fire on them, wounding his sister slightly.

At this juncture Arnell's brother and Mrs. Dopp's husband came on the scene and Arnell shot his brother through the arm. Dopp was armed with a shotgun and opened fire, wounding Arnell, who was then captured and taken to the county jail. His wound is not fatal.

READY FOR GOVERNOR.

Railway Bills Passed Pennsylvania Senate and Signed by President Pro Tem and Speaker.

Harrisburg, June 6.—The senate chamber was crowded with spectators last night to witness the final legislative move of the Focht and Emery bills, which had passed the house during the day with amendments. The bills came before the senate for its concurrence in the amendments inserted by the house.

Both measures were taken up shortly after the senate was convened and the amendments were concurred in without discussion. The vote on each bill was 31 yeas to 5 nays.

The bills having already been transcribed, they were immediately signed by President Pro Tem Snyder and were sent to the house for Speaker Marshall's signature. They then were to go to the governor.

CORBETT'S LICENSE REVOKED.

Accusations by a Minister and Excise Agent.

New York, June 6.—The liquor tax certificate held by James J. Corbett, the pugilist, was revoked by Justice Freedman, of the supreme court, on considering the report of Alfred Page as referee in a proceeding brought for the revocation of the license by the Rev. J. Q. A. Henry, superintendent of the New York Anti-Saloon league.

The testimony showed that Charles P. Sanford, a special agent of the excise commissioner, and others visited Corbett's saloon in Broadway on Sunday, May 6, 1900, and were served with whisky and cigars. There were other men drinking in the place. The Rev. Norman Plass, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league for Greater New York, with two companions, called at Corbett's place early in the morning of May 2, 1900, and bought whisky. These allegations were denied by Corbett, who contended that his premises were closed at the proper hour.

It was also contended by Rev. Mr. Henry that Corbett violated the law in not having his screens down, so that the inside of his premises could be seen from the street.

Suit will now be brought by the excise commissioner to recover double the amount of the bond given by Corbett for the proper conduct of his business.

DEATH WIND ROARED.

Caught Up a Crowded Circus Tent During Performance at Zanesville, Ohio.

FATAL LIGHTNING FLASHED.

Zanesville, June 6.—As the result of a terrific storm which passed over this section two persons are dead, two fatally injured and a dozen others more or less seriously hurt.

The performance of Buckskin Bill's Wild West show had just got under way when a heavy wind and electrical storm broke over the city. The show tents were lifted from the ground and carried many yards away. The show tent was crowded at the time the storm arose, and when the people saw the tent lifted a wild scramble followed. Men, women and children were knocked off their feet and trampled.

Mrs. Henry Butler and William Case were running for a place of safety when a large pole, which had been released by the flight of the tent, fell on their heads. Mrs. Butler lived several hours. James Case was caught by a flying rope and suspended in the air in such a manner that he was choked into insensibility before he could be rescued. The performers made a desperate effort to quiet the people, but did not succeed until a dozen or more were injured.

Near the circus grounds stood the handsome residence of George R. Fox. It was struck by lightning and damaged to the extent of $1,000. At Rose Farm, a new house on which five men were at work was struck by lightning and the building was completely wrecked. Daniel Giles was killed outright and Jacob Ross fatally injured. The other three men were rendered unconscious by the shock, but it is thought that they will recover. The Crooksville Baptist church was also struck by lightning and badly damaged.

MORGAN AND THE PENNSY.

Believed They Will Pool Issues in the Atchison.

New York, June 6.—The Mail and Express yesterday afternoon said of Mr. Steele's election to the Atchison directorate:

"The election of Mr. Steele means that in the future Mr. Morgan is to be one of the ruling factors in that company. It also brings to light some exceedingly interesting facts in regard to the western railroad situation, which thus far has been kept secret. Nobody supposed that Mr. Morgan wanted to get a foothold in the Atchison, but it has been known for some time that the Pennsylvania railroad had bought a large block of the stock and would in due time be given a representation in the board of directors. Representative of the Pennsylvania will be chosen shortly. "Most of the Pennsylvania purchases of Atchison were made months ago at materially lower prices than prevail today. The Burlington incident and Northern Pacific 'corner,' however, brought great financial powers into opposition and changed the program which had been outlined only a short time before. "With the possibility that the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific might be used to the great disadvantage of some of the eastern railroads, such as the Pennsylvania, Vanderbilt and Southern railway systems, it became essential that sufficient interest in the Atchison should be acquired to enable Messrs. Morgan, Cassatt and their associates to reach far western points which are not accessible by the Northern transcontinental lines. "According to a man identified with Atchison interests, Mr. Morgan and those whom he represents, including perhaps the Pennsylvania, now hold a majority of the common stock, of which $192,000,000 is outstanding. It is believed that Mr. Morgan is acting in harmony with the Pennsylvania interests and that they will pool their stock."

JUSTICE BREWER MARRIED. United to Miss Emma Mott, at Burlington, Vt.

Burlington, Vt., June 6.—The Hon. David J. Brewer, associate justice of the United States supreme court, was married to Miss Emma Minor Mott, of Washington, D. C. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Naval Cadet Dismissed For Hazing. Washington, June 6.—Following the example set at West Point, the superintendent of the naval academy has caused a cadet to be dismissed for hazing. In this case, however, that of Calvin Joy Cressey, of the fourth class, of California, the accused was tried by court martial and regularly convicted.

New Pastor Is Called. Pittsburg, June 6.—The Bellevue Presbyterian church last night extended a call to Rev. William R. Roulston, of the Wharton Street church, Philadelphia, to become its pastor.

The perfumers of Rome lived in a special quarter set apart for their use, and whole streets were filled with their shops, which were lounging places for wealthy young nobles.

A Convenient Kitchen

"A"ND the kitchen?" I asked. My friend had been showing me all over her house. "The kitchen? Oh, well, it's just like all other kitchens—uninteresting," she answered. And that is where she made a great mistake. The kitchen should not be uninteresting. It is not so to the good housekeeper. She takes more pride in its perfect appointments than she does in those of any other room in the house. Two results are inevitable—one, well cooked meals; the other, a contented servant, and, as a contented servant stays years in the same family, this is a result worth striving for. No servant likes to work in a place where nothing is convenient. "Deed I's done hustle from mawning till night, and dis ole place, hit jes' won't stay fixed!" my old colored servant complained after we had moved into our new house. I was astonished because the new kitchen is much larger than the old. Upon investigating, however, I found that no definite place had been provided for anything and that the cupboard and chest of drawers had been placed where they were most inconvenient to reach.

I first turned my attention to the sink. The space under it had been utilized for a closet, which was filled with a motley collection of old rags, blacking bottles, etc. I had the entire wooden structure torn away, leaving an open space where the sunlight and air could penetrate freely. The pipes were then success. Yet it lapsed. Women went on just as before. Absolutely silk culture will pay well. Cannot some woman who has a little time and can afford to spend a few dollars take this matter in hand for the benefit of herself and woman's home industry?

AMERICAN SILK COCOONS.

Women Can Produce Them Profitably All Over This Country.

Why is it that women in country homes in the United States have never followed up the silkworm industry that began so promisingly among us at the time of the World's fair in 1893? The mulberry and mock orange, on which the worms thrive, grow all over the Union. A Japanese expert who examined some of the raw silk reeled from American grown cocoons pronounced it superior to much of that raised abroad. The rearing of the cocoons costs practically nothing but a moderate amount of time on the part of women and girls at home, yet here are still American silk manufacturers paying annually a million of money to foreign countries when it could be and ought to be paid to American women and girls. During our World's fair

Miss Ellen A. Ford of The Irish World, New York, who was one of the women commissioners, investigated this matter of silk culture thoroughly, and there was exhibited from Utah a rare collection of home grown raw silk and cocoons, so that all who saw marveled and were convinced that the industry here would be a magnificent success. Yet it lapsed. Women went on just as before. Absolutely silk culture will pay well. Cannot some woman who has a little time and can afford to spend a few dollars take this matter in hand for the benefit of herself and woman's home industry?

ORGANIZED FARM WOMEN. Agricultural Union Among Colored Women of the South.

The saying that in union is strength is as old as the world, but the world has been a long time finding out how true it is. Among those in whom the genius of co-operation and united effort at length begins to move and thrill are the colored women of the south. This for them is the brightest sign of the future.

Some time ago negro farmers of Texas founded an improvement society, designed to foster thrift and scientific agriculture among their own people. Immediately the women of their race organized what is called the "Barnyard Auxiliary" of the Farmers' Improvement society. The object of the Barnyarders is distinctly and definitely to develop the live stock industry among colored women of the south. These earnest, brainy negro women finally understand and know that industrial training in the things they are doing, the business immediately under their noses, is what they need even more than literary and professional education.

Accordingly they will devote themselves to bee culture and to the rearing for market of poultry and domestic animals. Swine breeding will be included in their list, likewise dairying. First of all, they will make these industries pay—industries of which every one can be conducted at home. There the women will stay, not fooling after things they cannot reach, but cleaning up their barnyards, studying the science and art of poultry and pig raising, of beekeeping and dairying. They will bring the best products in these lines to market and then shrewdly claim the best price. The negro men will attend to the mules and crops. The homekeeping women will rear and improve the small live stock and put on sale choice butter and milk. Already this noble union of women has a membership of 2,500. They have bought 50,000 acres of land in different places and possess a united capital of $700,000.

Grilled haddock is a very tasty dish, but spoiled unless the fire is perfectly clear. First split a haddock open so that it will lie flat, wipe it thoroughly dry, smooth the flesh with a broad bladed knife, brush it over with oil and dredge dry flour over it. Broil upon a well greased gridiron, putting the skin side first to the fire; broil both sides, dish on a napkin.

COW IS A NUISANCE

A cow owned by Mrs. Gothman, who resides on Calcutta road, a short distance above the Horn switch, has been causing much complaint on the part of the residents of the neighborhood, who insist that the animal is not properly cared for.

Humane Officer Miller made an investigation a few days ago, but was unable to find any cause for complaint. The cow is continually bawling, much to the annoyance of everybody in the community, and the mayor has been appealed to. Mrs. Gothman states that she proposes to dispose of the animal, and thus abate the nuisance.

A Kindly Joke.

Judge Braxfield, famous in England for his love for hanging criminals, when on circuit always put up near Perth with a crony who was devoted to chess. The laird had rather the better of his lordship at the game. In the revolution of the circuits Braxfield found himself trying his hospitable friend, who had got awkwardly mixed up in some abduction of cattle. The evidence was clear, the panel was convicted and the judge passed the solemn sentence of death. Then, bending down, he chuckled to the unfortunate prisoner—the accommodation in the provincial courts was cramped—"And now, Donald, my friend, I think I've checkmated you for once." But Braxfield delighted in a kindly joke.

Commencement Exercises of
at Washington.

$900,000 TRUST FUNDS.

So Rt. Rev. Mgr. Conaty Announced.
One of the Gifts of the Year Was $50,000 From Michael Cudahy.
Martinelli Presented Diplomas.

Washington, June 6.—The commencement exercises of the Catholic University of America were held, with Cardinal Martinelli, the German and Mexican ambassadors and the Japanese minister among the large and distinguished gathering present.
In his address the rector of the university, Rt. Rev. Monsignor Conaty, announced that the trust funds of the institution amounted to $900,000 and were safely invested. One of the gifts of the year was $50,000 from Michael Cudahy, of Chicago, who placed this sum in the hands of the rector for general university purposes. Deeds given by the late Monsignor McMahon will yield the university from $25,000 to $30,000. Besides these amounts, three scholarships of $5,000 each were established. Cardinal Martinelli presented the diplomas to the large class of graduates and later the Cardinal and other notables held a reception.

AMERICAN GIRL RECEIVED.

Baroness Von Ketteler Responded to Emperor William's Invitation—Accompanied by Mother-in-Law.

Berlin, June 6.—The correspondent of the Associated Press learns that Emperor William's reception of Baroness von Ketteler, who was accompanied by her mother-in-law, was kind. His majesty listened with interest to the recital of the widow's sorrowful experiences during the siege of Pekin, also to her account of Baron von Ketteler's death. The empress, who was present at the audience, often interrupted with questions, evincing the highest regard for the widow's courage and subsequent nursing of the sick and wounded. Her majesty, at the emperor's request, pinned the insignia of the highest class of the Louise order to the widow's breast.

In the evening the two baronesses dined with the emperor and empress. The baronesses are the guests of Emperor William. They will dine to-day probably with the Duchess of Albany and may return to the Ketteler estates near Munster, Westphalia, tomorrow, whence soon afterwards they will go to a watering place. The widow has not yet recovered from the attack of nervous prostration from which she has been suffering. Both ladies arrived at Potsdam without anybody, even the officials of the United States embassy, being informed of their visit. They will leave the new palace direct for home without stopping in Berlin. Emperor William's invitation to the two baronesses was contained in a letter couched in the most sympathetic language.

The widow was formerly Miss Maud Ledyard, of Detroit, Mich.

Birmingham Chamber of Commerce
Said Government Should Look Into Matter.

Birmingham, June 6.—The chamber of commerce devoted a special meeting to a discussion of American trusts and adopted, after a long debate, a resolution declaring that the earnest attention of the government should be given without delay to the best means of guarding British trade and commerce against injury from American trusts, both from a national and commercial aspect.

R. P. Yates, in proposing the resolution, emphasized the menace to Great Britain in the efforts of the United States to command the carrying trade of the world.

Imperial protection was advocated by some of those present as a remedy.

CHANCE FOR TILLMAN.

McLaurin Offers to Resign If Tillman
Will Unconditionally.

Columbia, S. C., June 6.—With the governor's last "word" at Senator Tillman and the withdrawal of the senator's resignation all would seem to be over, but last night Senator McLaurin, after speaking very bitterly of the senior senator, made the declaration that if Tillman will now tender to the governor the unconditional surrender of his office he (McLaurin) would consider this a direct challenge to him and would likewise resign and enter into the contest for Tillman's place.

Senator Tillman, protesting against the governor's right to reject the senatorial resignations, last night withdrew his resignation. Governor McSwain, in his letter, told Tillman that he would resign unconditionally he would accept it.

A FIRE AT PEKIN.

Three Buildings Burned—Provincial Rain Saved Forbidden City.

Peking, June 6.—Lightning struck a building inside the gate of the American legation, causing a fire. Three buildings were burned, did all possible to prevent a spread of the flames.
A heavy rain saved the forbidden city. One of the buildings burned was a library, containing many valuable manuscripts and numerous historical records of the dynasty.

The NEW WOMAN

By Eliza Archard
Conner.

JUST now Mrs. Ann Hamilton is struggling to fathom the meaning, if not the meanness, of life. She was a widow when she married Hamilton, he a bachelor. She was keeping boarders and laying up money, Hamilton being one of her lodgers. He had scarcely enough to pay his board and was laying up not a cent. He was a good sort of man, however, and so soon as she was his wife and he had her to plan for him and furnish capital for him to do business on he became successful. They were quite happy and harmonious. She was ambitious that they should be well to do in their old age. So she generously told Hamilton he need not even pay her any more board after they were married, but should put his money into "the business," she supporting him and herself and giving him more capital from her lodging house enterprise. So it went on 17 years. By that time Hamilton was worth $25,000, all made from capital his wife had earned and furnished to him. But he put it into his own name, take notice, with that chivalrous generosity characteristic of the masculine sex. Then, having finished things, he lay down and died. He left no will, only a scrap of paper saying he owed his wife a 17 years' board bill. That was not worth a spring poem in the court. When Mrs. Hamilton went to claim her money, some relatives whom she had never seen came and took it from her, and the court decided it was theirs. Next time she marries she will know what not to do.

It is for the development of the individual soul that we are born into this world. If the individual character is not developed in a woman, she is no better off than a horse or a cow. Consider carefully and earnestly what are your own particular talents, your own convictions of right and justice, and do what you think best. If you are wrong, you will suffer for it and learn thereby. If you are right, you will have grown and cultivated a new flower for eternity. Do not take up a faded merely for the sake of posing or seeming different from others or of attracting attention to yourself, for that is despicable. But consider in all seriousness what you yourself would rather do and be; then go and do and be it.

Women, don't live in your affections and don't live in the past. There never was a past so good that there was not a still better future.

There is in London an actresses' fencing club which is exceedingly well patronized and which is doing wonders for its members in the way of adding to their strength and gracefulness.

When a miserly old curmudgeon who never lets his wife have a cent of her own falls into a well and the wife lets down the bucket to him and draws him up in safety, she deserves great credit, does she not?

Fashionable ladies burn sandalwood in their rooms to drive away mosquitoes. The pennyroyal our great-grandmothers burned for the same purpose is quite as effective, smells nearly as good and costs next to nothing.

A certain woman in Fayette, Mo., is 100 years old, and she has never been on a railway car, though trains pass her town daily. She is afraid of them. It is worth while to live a century if one does not know any more than that at the end?

In all the years women have had suffrage in Colorado only one fraudulent voter has ever been found among them. Probably opponents would say women have not sense enough to cheat in voting.

Mrs. Lillian R. Pardee, formerly active in politics in Utah, is now in New York city in charge of a woman's life insurance department connected with one of the leading companies of the country. Mrs. Pardee is an able, conscientious woman, and her prospects for success are bright, even though she has left a state where she could vote for an old foggy one where a wife's earnings still belong to her husband.

In the towns and villages of New York state women taxpayers may now vote on all questions for raising money by a tax levy. They have the same right in Louisiana.

Mrs. Hetty Green believes it is the duty of every woman to manage her own business affairs. She says: "What man has done woman can do. If I had let other people manage my business for me, I most likely wouldn't have any business to do now."

Mrs. Cyrus J. McCormick has given $20,000 to build a girls' dormitory for a Tennessee college. Miss Louise Loeb won the oratorical contest among the students of Wisconsin university, which entitled her to represent that university at the intercollegiate oratorical contest. Society women of Boston are training in athletics. Let the good work go on.

uses Walker's Soap because it is free from alkali and saves the company thousands of dollars in a year in preserving paint, varnish, and fabrics washed with it. Before the Pennsylvania Railroad used Walker's Soap, newly varnished cars were found to be shabby and need re-varnishing. The cause was a mystery till the company's chemist investigated and found it was the alkali in common soaps that was destroying property. A standard of soap purity was then set up, and now the cars are washed with

It is a foregone conclusion nowadays that any novel which attains extraordinary popularity will find its way to the stage. When "David Harum" was the sensation of the hour, it was announced that the stage rights of the story had been secured by Charles Frohman and that that manager had engaged William H. Crane to star in the piece. There were many misgivings as to the possibility of making a successful play from a story which was so thoroughly a character sketch. Then, too, many there were who, while admiring Mr. Crane as a comedian of the ordinary type, felt convinced that he would make a failure of the role of the bucolic David Harum. But neither thing came to pass. Mr. Crane was generally voted excellent in the part, and the book had made so many friends that "David Harum" was nearly always attended by large crowds who went to the theater determined to be pleased.

Now Irving Bachelier's "Eben Holden," which by many persons has been condemned as a steal from "David Harum," despite the fact that the greater portion of the story was written before Mr. Westcott had ever determined to attempt to create a new fiction character in David Harum, has been dramatized and will be presented next season with E. M. Holland as the star. Mr. Holland is the actor whom nearly every one thought would be selected for David Harum, and there was universal surprise when the choice fell upon Mr. Crane. "Eben Holden" is said to have had a larger sale than "David Harum," and, assuming that the dramatization is even measurably good, there would seem to be no reason why it should not succeed with Mr. Holland in the title role.

Julia Marlowe bids fair to make the season's record at the Criterion theater

with Paul Kester's dramatization of Charles Major's novel, "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

Opinions vary as to the precise quality of Miss Marlowe's ability. While for many years she was closely identified with tragedy and won for herself an enviable position in that branch of theatrical effort, there are those who aver that she is even more at home in high comedy. Some of her admirers even go to the length of saying that she is at her best in the light comedy roles of romantic melodrama, of which Mary Tudor in "When Knighthood Was in Flower" is a fair type.

As a fact, Miss Marlowe seems to be equally good in every style of work which she has essayed, and if we eliminate a single name—that of Minnie Maddern Fiske—the statement that Julia Marlowe is the greatest actress in America may be made with no fear of contradiction—not a bad position, when one comes to think of it, to be occupied by a young woman who, starting as a member of a child's "Pinafore" company, has successively invaded and conquered nearly every field of theatrical effort.

The copartnership or syndicate or whatever you may call it, which is generally spoken of by its enemies as the "trust," is popularly supposed to be composed of exceptionally shrewd individuals. Certain it is that these men have managed to make it next to impossible for an aspiring star to succeed unless he is willing to play those towns which the syndicate considers beneath its contempt. But it is possible that the syndicate does not realize the extent or appreciate the import of the present development of the "summer stock." If it did, it would reflect that to transform a summer stock into a permanent stock nothing more is necessary than the making of new arrangements with the players. Then, too, it should be borne in mind that a company giving a new play each week in broiling weather, when it is simply impossible for the people to put their best into their work, must be a pretty good organization if it succeeds in making a favorable impression upon the townspeople. And when an actor becomes a "local favorite" his or her popularity in that particular "burgh" goes a long way toward making the success of the company.

If the syndicate is ever to be destroyed, it must be through the effect upon its business of these selfsame local stock companies. The efforts, too, of independent people of ability like Mr. and Mrs. Fiske are certain to hasten the disintegration of this flimsy structure, built upon sand, which needs but a touch from a brave hand to send it tumbling to the gutter.

Trifling With Charon.

Just as Charon was about to make the ferry slip the ex-distiller nudged him in the ribs.

"If it isn't too much trouble," said the latter, "I wish you would put me with the arrivals from Boston."

"But you are from St. Louis," protested Charon. "Wouldn't you feel out of place among so much culture?"

"No, indeed. I always feel at home in the midst of refined spirits."

Thereupon the ancient ferryman tossed the ex-distiller in the Styx.—Chicago News.

WITH THEIR DINNER PAILS

High School Graduates Applied for Work in a Stone Quarry at Marion, O.

Marion, June 6.—The foreman at the large Norris & Christian stone quarries in this city was surprised Monday morning when 14 well known young men of the city, all graduates of the local high school, made their appearance before him and asked for work in the quarries.

The boys had graduated Friday night of the previous week, and were admonished by the gentleman who made the class address to go to work. They accepted this advice literally and each with a dinner pail in hand and dressed for the rough work of the quarries, made application for positions. An accident at the quarries kept them from obtaining immediate employment.

Schools of Roscoe Claim to Have the Only One in Ohio.

Coshocton, June 6.—During the coming school year a young woman will preside over the Roscoe schools as superintendent. She takes the place of Prof. Orr, who goes to the seminary at Poland as president.

The fortunate young woman is Miss Myrtle Young, who will graduate in a few weeks from the university at Delaware. She graduated from Wooster university several years ago, and taught one year in Roscoe, where she has many friends. Miss Young's home is in North Lawrence, O., and she is highly educated and cultured. Her course in Delaware covered English literature and philosophy. Roscoe has never before had a lady superintendent, and Miss Young is probably the only one in Ohio.

Expert on Edison's New Battery. Commenting editorially upon Edison's new storage battery, The Electrical Review says:

"Mr. Edison has produced no invention of broader utility in the electrical field since incandescent lighting was evolved from the busy brain of the same pioneer of industry. It is hard to foresee all the meaning of this improvement, but we may look a little way and see the noiseless city, the suppression of the horse and the automobile a factor of economic importance in general transportation. The perfected battery means the solution of many difficult traction problems, the betterment of electric lighting and the foundation of the new art of electric navigation. Electric tugboats will give new life to our canals and, with electric ferryboats, will revolutionize our harbors. Electric torpedo boats of swiftness and secrecy will make present naval armaments of doubtful protection. The invention gives electricity a new foothold in its career of industrial conquest."

His Accent.

One day Lord Morris was sitting at the Four Courts as lord chief justice of Ireland when a young barrister from the north rose nervously to make his first motion. The judge had declared that no one listening to himself would ever take him for anything but an Irishman, which was perfectly correct. But Galway could not understand Antrim. The lord chief justice leaned over to ask the associate where the barrister hailed from.

"County Antrim," was the response. Then asked his lordship of the official, "Did ye iver come across sich a frightful accent in the course of yer loife?"

Parrots.

Some parrots are very quick in acquiring words and are generally fond of displaying these new acquisitions, but occasionally a bird will be profoundly silent until the teacher desponds of her mastering a certain phrase or word; then all at once and unexpectedly the "scholar" will repeat her lesson.
